Woodson-Boulton, 2012-03-21 Why did British industrial cities build art museums By exploring the histories of the municipal art museums in Birmingham Liverpool and Manchester Transformative Beauty examines the underlying logic of the Victorian art museum movement These museums attempted to create a space free from the moral and physical ugliness of industrial capitalism Deeply engaged with the social criticism of John Ruskin reformers created a new prominent urban institution a domesticated public space that not only aimed to provide refuge from the corrosive effects of industrial society but also provided a remarkably unified secular alternative to traditional religion Woodson Boulton raises provocative questions about the meaning and use of art in relation to artistic practice urban development social justice education and class In today's context of global austerity and shrinking government support of public cultural institutions this book is a timely consideration of arts policy and purposes in modern society
