Art And Intimacy How The Arts Began:

Art and Intimacy Ellen Dissanayake, 2000 Humans actually need the arts Art and Intimacy : how the Arts Began Ellen Dissanayake, 2000 Architecture and Embodiment Harry Francis Mallgrave, 2013-06-26 In recent years we have seen a number of dramatic discoveries within the biological and related sciences Traditional arguments such as nature versus nurture are rapidly disappearing because of the realization that just as we are affecting our environments so too do these altered environments restructure our cognitive abilities and outlooks If the biological and technological breakthroughs are promising benefits such as extended life expectancies these same discoveries also have the potential to improve in significant ways the quality of our built environments This poses a compelling challenge to conventional architectural theory This is the first book to consider these new scientific and humanistic models in architectural terms Constructed as a series of five essays around the themes of beauty culture emotion the experience of architecture and artistic play this book draws upon a broad range of discussions taking place in philosophy psychology biology neuroscience and anthropology and in doing so questions what implications these discussions hold for architectural design Drawing upon a wealth of research Mallgrave argues that we should turn our focus away from the objectification of architecture treating design as the creation of objects and redirect it back to those for whom we design the people inhabiting our built environments Evolution, Literature, and Film Brian Boyd, Joseph Carroll, Jonathan Gottschall, 2010 Jonathan Gottschall teaches English at Washington and Jefferson College Book Jacket The Saturated World Beverly Gordon, 2006 Explores the way middle class American women in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries added meaning to their lives through their domestic amusements leisure pursuits that took place in and were largely focused on the home Women elaborated on their everyday tasks and responsibilities with these amusements thus cultivating a heightened aesthetically charged saturated state and created self contained enchanted worlds Enterprise Innovation Driven by Design Thinking and Artistic Interventions Under ESG Management Strategies Jing LIU, 2024-09-11 This study examines the management strategies of representative companies in each country to gain insight into the value of ESG management strategies for corporate innovation and how design thinking and artistic interventions can foster creativity both internally and externally to drive corporate innovation It compares the current state of design and or art driven innovation strategies in Korean and Chinese companies under ESG frameworks and then discusses the challenges of corporate innovation in these countries Based on the results of the comparison the study suggests the future of corporate innovation in China Music and Manipulation Steven Brown, Ulrik Volgsten, 2006 Since the beginning of human civilization music has been used as a device to control social behavior where it has operated as much to promote solidarity within groups as hostility between competing groups Music is an emotive manipulator that influences attitude motivation and behavior at many levels and in many contexts This volume is the first to address the social ramifications of music s behaviorally manipulative effects its morally questionable uses and control mechanisms and its economic and artistic regulation through commercialization thus highlighting not only music's diverse uses at the social level but also the ever fragile relationship between aesthetics and morality

Food Preferences and Taste Helen M. Macbeth, 1997 An international team of contributors present cross disciplinary perspectives on food preferences and tastes showing the common themes of these fundamentals of human existence A comprehensive introduction outlines the themes and the links between them

A Brief Introduction to A Philosophy of Music and Music Education as Social Praxis Thomas A. Regelski, 2015-12-07 Music and Music Education as Social Praxis is a brief introduction to a praxial theory of music education defined by author It is grounded in an interdisciplinary approach for undergraduate and graduate students in music education Drawing upon scholarship from a range of disciplines including philosophy and sociology the book emphasizes and highlights thinking of music as an active social practice and offers an alternative to existing approaches to music education This text advocates for an alternative approach to teaching music rooted in the social practice of music and will supplement Foundations or Methods courses in the Music Education curriculum

The Oxford Handbook of Music Education, Volume 1 Gary E. McPherson, Graham F. Welch, 2012-09-13 The two volumes of The Oxford Handbook of Music Education offer a comprehensive overview of the many facets of musical experience behavior and development in relation to the diverse variety of educational contexts in which they occur In these volumes an international list of contributors update and redefine the discipline through fresh and innovative principles and approaches to music learning and teaching

Dialogic Formations Marie-Cécile Bertau, Miguel M. Gonçalves, Peter T. F. Raggatt, 2013-01-01 This volume understands itself as an invitation to follow a fundamental shift in perspective away from the self contained I of Western conventions and towards a relational self where development and change are contingent on otherness In the framework of Dialogical Self Theory Hermans Hermans Gieser 2012 it is precisely the forms of interaction and exchange with others and with the world that determine the course of the self's development The volume hence addresses dialogical processes in human interaction from a psychological perspective bringing together previously separate theoretical traditions about the self and about dialogue within the innovative framework of Dialogical Self Theory The book is devoted to developmental questions and so broaches one of the more difficult and challenging topics for models of a pluralist self the question of how the dynamics of multiplicity emerge and change over time This question is explored by addressing ontogenetic questions directed at the emergence of the dialogical self in early infancy as well as microgenetic questions addressed to later developmental dynamics in adulthood Additionally development and change in a range of culture specific settings and practices is also examined including the practices of mothering of migration and cross cultural assimilation and of doing psychotherapy

Music Learning and Teaching in Infancy, Childhood, and Adolescence Gary McPherson, Graham F. Hill, 2010-01-01 What makes one Anglo Saxon poem better than another Why does Beowulf still have the power to move us after so many centuries What might have been aesthetically pleasing to Old English readers and writers of poetry While there is an apparent consensus by scholars on a core of poems considered to be exceptional literary achievements Beowulf Judith the Vercelli book there has been little systematic investigation of the basis for these appraisals With new essays on rhetoric wordplay meter structure irony form psychology ethos and reader response the contributors to this collection aim to find objective aesthetic qualities in Anglo Saxon poetry Posing questions of quality and beauty as discoverable in artefacts On the Aesthetics of Beowulf and Other Old English Poems significantly advances our understanding not only of aesthetics and Old English poetry but also of Old English attitudes towards literature as an art form Understanding the Under 3s and the Implications for Education Sylvie Rayna, Ferre Laevers, 2016-04-08 This book originated from an awareness of the persistent lack of knowledge supporting a more respectful reception and approach to the youngest in our changing societies It follows initiatives of networks of researchers from several countries sharing insights from current studies carried out in their different cultures Introduced by a state of art review like chapter on birth to 3 literature the book which can be pictured as a composition begins with a journey inside the creativity of these young persons and a picture of a companionable learning It deals with the role of the spatial and physical dimensions of the setting and pictures how the educator can create meaningful participation and launch early exercises in democracy with respect for diversities It provides a deeper understanding of a pedagogical accompaniment based on participatory alliance and of the development of communication and language The text will be a useful addition to researchers practitioners and other stakeholders This book was originally published as a special issue of the European Early Childhood Education Research Journal Mind in Architecture Sarah Robinson, Juhani Pallasmaa, 2017-03-03 Leading neuroscientists and architects explore how the built environment affects our behavior thoughts emotions and well being

Although we spend more than ninety percent of our lives inside buildings we understand very little about how the built environment affects our behavior thoughts emotions and well being We are biological beings whose senses and neural systems have developed over millions of years it stands to reason that research in the life sciences particularly neuroscience can offer compelling insights into the ways our buildings shape our interactions with the world This expanded understanding can help architects design buildings that support both mind and body In Mind in Architecture leading thinkers from architecture and other disciplines including neuroscience cognitive science psychiatry and philosophy explore what architecture and neuroscience can learn from each other They offer historical context examine the implications for current architectural practice and education and imagine a neuroscientifically informed architecture of the future Architecture is late in discovering the richness of neuroscientific research As scientists were finding evidence for the bodily basis of mind and meaning architecture was caught up in convoluted cerebral games that denied emotional and bodily reality altogether This volume maps the extraordinary opportunity that engagement with cutting edge neuroscience offers present day architects Contributors Thomas D Albright Michael Arbib John Paul Eberhard Melissa Farling Vittorio Gallese Alessandro Gattara Mark L Johnson Harry Francis Mallgrave Iain McGilchrist Juhani Pallasmaa Alberto Perez Gomez Sarah Robinson
