virtually or physically embodied are autonomous agents that are able to perceive an environment including people or other agents reason decide how to interact and express attitudes such as emotions engagement or empathy They are capable of interacting with people and one another in a socially intelligent manner using multimodal communicative behaviors with the goal to support humans in various domains Written by international experts in their respective fields the book summarizes research in the many important research communities pertinent for SIAs while discussing current challenges and future directions The handbook provides easy access to modeling and studying SIAs for researchers and students and aims at further bridging the gap between the research communities involved In two volumes the book clearly structures the vast body of research The first volume starts by introducing what is involved in SIAs research in particular research methodologies and ethical implications of developing SIAs It further examines research on appearance and behavior focusing on multimodality Finally social cognition for SIAs is investigated using different theoretical models and phenomena such as theory of mind or pro sociality The second volume starts with perspectives on interaction examined from different angles such as interaction in social space group interaction or long term interaction It also includes an extensive overview summarizing research and systems of human agent platforms and of some of the major application areas of SIAs such as education aging support autism and games

Negotiating Agreement and Disagreement in Japanese Junko

Mori,1999-01-01 On the basis of the meticulous transcription observation process of Conversation Analysis this book observes recurrent patterns in sequences where Japanese speakers negotiate agreement and disagreement It contributes to the growing body of research on interaction and grammar by examining how linguistic resources are utilized for constructing turns and anticipating the upcoming course of interaction More specifically it focuses on the recurrent use of two structurally different types of connective expressions clause initial connectives and clause final connective particles The study examines the occurrences of these causal and contrastive markers with reference to their sequential environment and the resulting interaction While the introductory chapters situate this approach in the current literature the main analytical chapters investigate the ways in which delivery of agreement delivery of disagreement and pursuit for agreement are performed with the use of the different types of connective expressions As one of the earliest conversation analytic studies of Japanese this book also addresses methodological issues concerning cross linguistic cross cultural studies of human interaction

The Consequentiality of Communication Stuart J. Sigman,2013-11-05 In a bold attempt to redirect the ways theories of communication are conceived and research on communication processes are conducted this volume questions prevailing communication scholarship that emphasizes the cultural psychological and sociological variables that impact on and or are impacted by communication Instead of focusing on the consequences of communication this books urges readers to examine the consequentiality of communication what it is about the communication process that enables it to play a defining role in our lives Communication is not a neutral conveyor of meanings derived from culture cognition or social structure and is not explained by correlations with external variables Meaning emerges from the communication process itself it is dependent upon what transpires during the real time moments of communicators behaving with each other To properly study this new paradigm a new vocabulary for thinking about the consequentiality of communication is needed and proposed Four theoretical orientations are used to stake out this new territory coordinated management of meaning neo rhetorical theory conversation analysis and social communication theory While there are points of agreement and overlap on the need to study communication as inherently consequential there are also differences across the four theories in the value of rules as an explanatory concept on the relationship between structure and process and on the very constitution of a theory Thus this book has the benefit of articulating a new paradigm for communication scholarship without losing sight of the discipline s rich diversity

Stance-Taking in Embodied and Virtual Interaction Geert Brône, Kurt Feyaerts, Elisabeth Zima, Silva H. Ladewig, 2025-08-28 A fundamental property of human language is its ability to simultaneously represent subjects objects or events and express the speaker s stance towards these representations The notion of stance taking involves a positioning along three different axes epistemic the distribution of knowledge e g by expressing certainty or uncertainty affective the expression of attitudes and feelings and deontic the expression of desirability or necessity of an action Psycho linguistics and neighboring fields have a long track record in the study of stance taking as a socially contextualized and recognized interpersonal phenomenon focusing on the lexical and grammatical resources that language users have at their disposal to communicate stance but also on the cognitive processes underlying this positioning In addition the phenomenon has been studied extensively in different communicative settings from spontaneous face to face communication to institutional and mediated forms of interaction from different disciplinary angles Interactional Linguistics Ethnomethodology Cognitive Psychology HCI Research etc and using different empirical methods from controlled experiments to qualitative and quantitative corpus analysis
