Always Afternoon:

Days in the Open (Illustrations) Lathan A. Crandall, 2014-11-17 Example in this ebook I THE BOY AND THE BROOK MA may I go fishing That the boy should use the homely Ma rather than Mamma makes it clear that he is not of our generation although his generous crop of freckles looks familiar and his blue jumper coming down to the knees and that battered straw hat are sometimes duplicated in our own day It is fifty years across which we look even if he does stand out so clearly The question is one that he asks daily if not oftener from the time when the pussy willows begin to swell in the spring time to the season for comforters and woollen mittens in the late fall Hark Do you hear the voice that is calling the boy It comes distinctly across the long stretch of years and is as sweet and compelling now as when it pulled at the heart of the lad on that long ago summer day It is the voice of the brook It gurgles and laughs and pleads It says Ha ha ha Isn't this a beautiful world and this the finest day ever Come on little boy and play in my ripples I've some nice peppermint growing on my banks and all sorts of pretty pebbles that I have washed for you Look sharp now Do you see that trout lying at the head of the riffle Do you know that I counted thirty seven as big as he is between the bridge and the Deer Pond Come and catch em That brook was a part and a large one of the first permanent impressions made upon the boy's mind It had its rise in a little pond concerning which there was the usual dark legend that it had no bottom Just what held up the water was a mystery but the boy never doubted the legend It was fed by numerous springs Vigorous and noisy from the moment when it broke forth from its source the brook was ten miles of silvery laughter If you'll not go out of sight of the house you may go for an hour says the mother for she too has ears to hear the call of the brook and can understand its charm for her lad Just up in the pasture lot above the bridge calls back the boy and starts off with his pole and a supply of angleworms wrapped up in paper Take special notice of that pole for it is the joy of the boy's heart He had thought that a cedar sapling peeled and thoroughly dried made an ideal outfit until a friend gave him a straight cane pole painted a brilliant blue In after years he owned not a few jointed rods made by hand of split bamboo but the tide of joy and pride has never risen higher in his heart than on the day when he became the possessor of the blue cane pole There is a place in the pasture lot where the brook stretches itself out in a long reach of still water Above and below are rippling shallows Wary as is his approach the boy sees the shy trout darting from the riffles into the darker water Patiently he dangles his baited hook by the side of a sunken log and trails it temptingly back and forth before the coverts where the cunning fish lie hidden but all in vain They have learned by experience that the presence of a blue jumper and a blue pole spells out danger for them and refuse to take any risks Is this like so many other fishing trips to end in failure Watch the boy Laying the blue pole carefully on the ground he rolls his sleeves to his shoulders and lying on his stomach on the bank of the brook thrusts one hand very gently into the water With the utmost caution he feels here and there under the overhanging sods until at last his fingers touch something that sends an electric thrill tingling through the length of his little body He feels a trout and strangely enough it does not stir The little fingers gently tickle the belly of the trout as they work their way towards its head and when they have encircled the body at the gills they suddenly contract and the fish is thrown far back upon the grass To be continue in this ebook

Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend Dr Donna Coates,2023-11-01 War is traditionally considered a male experience By extension the genre of war literature is a male dominated field and the tale of the battlefield remains the privileged and only canonised war story In Australia although women have written extensively about their wartime experiences their voices have been distinctively silenced Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend calls for a re definition of war literature to include the numerous voices of women writers and further recommends a re reading of Australian national literatures with women s war writing foregrounded to break the hold of a male dominated literary tradition and pass on a vital but unexplored women s tradition Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend examines the rich body of World Wars I and II and Vietnam War literature by Australian women providing the critical attention and treatment that they deserve Donna Coates records the reaction of Australian women writers to these conflicts illuminating the complex role of gender in the interpretation of war and in the cultural history of twentieth century Australia By visiting an astonishing number of unfamiliar non canonical texts Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend profoundly alters our understanding of how Australian women writers have interpreted war especially in a nation where the experience of colonising a frontier has spawned enduring myths of identity and statehood

McClellan's Own Story George Brinton McClellan,2014-11-20 Beloved by the soldiers of the Army of the Potomac insubordinate to his commander in chief a master at preparing for war but cautious about engaging General George Brinton McClellan is one of the most controversial figures of the American Civil War Criticized throughout the remainder of his life he never publicly defended his actions as commander of the Union army Here however his posthumously published memoir provides his answers to the critics Using a combination of military documents his own field records and letters to his beloved wife Nelly McClellan does not attempt a full autobiography but instead focuses on his short time as general in chief of the army McClellan s legacy as commander is still in contention by some historians The value of this book is its view into the mind of George McClellan during the bitter early days of the Civil War No study of this important figure is complete without this volume The editor of this work William Cowper Prime was an American journalist art historian numismatist and travel writer and close friend of McClellan's. He was instrumental in getting Princeton University to establish a department of art history to which he donated his extensive collection of ceramic art. The novel exemplifies sensation fiction in featuring a beautiful criminal heroine, an amateur detective, blackmail, arson, violence, and plenty of suspenseful action. To its contemporary readers, it also offered the thrill of uncovering blackmail and criminal violence within the homes of the upper class. The novel makes trenchant critiques of Victorian gender roles and social stereotypes and it creates significant sympathy for the heroine despite her criminal acts as she suffers from the injustices of the marriage market and rebels against them. This Broadview edition includes a critical introduction and a broad selection of primary source material including reproductions of the twenty two woodcut illustrations from the London Journal serialization of the novel, extracts from two Victorian dramatizations of the work, satirical commentaries, and contemporary reviews. Queer Kinship after Wilde Kristin Mahoney, 2022-10-06 Focuses on figures who saw themselves as part of a Decadent tradition as they revised the concept of the family in the early 20th century. Arthur C. The Book of Khalid Ameen Rihani, 2018-05-15 Reproduction of the original The Book of Khalid by Ameen Rihani. Distant Archipelagos Peter Moss, 2004-08 He dropped money bags from low flying biplanes on remote rubber plantations and tin mines, spent nights in deep jungle longhouses, aboard fishing kelongs manned by aborigines far out at sea, in mosquito infested swamps collecting malarial parasites, and on beaches where giant leatherback turtles came to lay their eggs. He accompanied commonwealth troops hunting for terrorists on the Thai-Malaysian border, flew reconnaissance patrols seeking guerilla camps, and escorted Field Marshal Templer on his return visit to the country he had liberated from communist insurrection. He met Lady Edwina Mountbatten, wife of the architect of India's independence, interviewed actors Orson Welles and Sir Donald Wolfit, and was conversing with the French Ambassador when a ghost walked into the room. He worked with William Holden, Susannah York, and Capucine on a film in which nearly everyone ended up miscast. He helped conceal an escaped prisoner in a hilarious fake jail break, trailed the Sultan of Pahang on a regal progress through Malaysia's largest state, and befriended one of President Soekarno's infamous red beret parachutists sent on a sabotage mission during the height of Indonesian confrontation. Mostly, he loved the land and its people so much that he shunned the cocktail circuit and the city life for the simple pleasures of the kampong and the open road, learning the language and feeling his way towards what French author Henry Fauconnier had called the Soul of Malaya. With Distant Archipelagos, Peter Moss follows up his account of an Anglo-Indian childhood in Bye Bye Blackbird by painting a vivid portrait of another vanished world. Intimate Frontiers Felipe Martínez-Pinzón, Javier Uriarte, 2019-05-24 Intimate Frontiers: A Literary Geography of the
