From Goldfish Bowl to Ocean Zoe McIntosh,2011-06-14 DescriptionZoe McIntosh s book is based around sixteen recorded conversations with people who have volunteered to open up about their experiences with serious mental health problems Their accounts illustrate the varying ways that people cope with mental illness Zoe hopes that through writing this book people with mental illnesses will feel that they are not alone Uniquely she offers an insight into people's lives which challenges the more traditional perspective of the medical profession. In this way the book is able to tackle the stigma which surrounds mental health issues today.

About the Author: Zoe McIntosh is a mental health worker and writer. She was born in London in 1975 and spent her childhood years in Holland. She has lived in Oxford for the past ten years and is due to begin studying for an MA in World History in September at Sussex University. Since ancient times philosophers have taught that a power outside of our control determines the course of our lives. Zoe, the heroine of this story, rejects this premise even though she spent her early childhood in abusive child care facilities and later grieved the deaths of cherished family members. Zoe is the story of the life of Zoe nee Genevieve Stamos Angelos, a first generation American woman of Greek Irish heritage. The main setting is Chicago, Illinois, in the years 1906-2000. Throughout the novel, the author weaves a rich tapestry of ethnic and historical events, including the great plague of 1918 and World War II. Spanning Zoe's life from age seven to ninety, the story explores the complexity of father-daughter relationships, overcoming grief, a woman's struggles to succeed against all odds, and the choices women of different generations make when defying convention in order to find love.
