Marketing Issues in Transitional Economies Rajeev Batra,2012-12-06 As the markets in transitional economies open and grow major challenges and opportunities arise for multinational firms entering these markets local firms facing these new competitors and policymakers seeking to increase the ability of all firms to compete fairly and efficiently Yet despite the important questions transition economies pose for policymakers and companies seeking to enter and compete in these new markets there has been a relative absence of systematic research on these concerns This book seeks to fill a gap in the existing literature by offering a pioneering and comprehensive examination of issues that have developed as markets in transitional economies become more deregulated and open The countries discussed include China the Czech Republic Hungary India Poland Romania Russia South Africa and South Korea The topics covered are divided into five main sections and the individual chapters are written by some of the world's leading academic experts on these issues Most of the authors draw from freshly collected data in new studies of consumers and or firms in transitional economies After an opening section which discusses the marketing issues and challenges multinational and local firms face in transitional economies the next three sections offer detailed treatments of changing consumer behavior measuring and improving the marketing orientation of firms and implementing and managing distribution channels The fifth and final section is devoted to firm strategies and tactics examined variously from the perspective of multinational firms entering these new markets from the viewpoint of existing local firms facing new competitive challenges from global entrants and from the perspective of local firms seeking to establish themselves in foreign markets where they have not previously competed Most of the individual chapters are revised versions of papers originally presented at a conference sponsored by the William Davidson Institute which focuses on research related to emerging and transitional economies and have not previously appeared in published form Thus the book is a unique collection of cutting edge scholarship on the various aspects of marketing in transitional economies It will prove valuable reading to academics policymakers and international business strategists

Handbook of Services Marketing and Management Teresa Swartz, Dawn Iacobucci, 2000 What a rarity to see a who's who of thought leaders on any subject create original material for an anthology It's a real collegial tribute to Teresa A Swartz and Dawn Iacobucci that they have been able to assemble such a treasure of original material including some of the last from our late friend and colleague Eric Langeard on topics important to services marketing and management James Heskett Harvard Business School The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management provides an excellent introduction to the topics and issues that define service marketing today Editors Swartz and Iacobucci have recruited many of the leading names in service research to write the chapters in the book ensuring that the Handbook will be a valuable reference for years to come Roland T Rust Journal of Service Research This Handbook contains an impressive collection of cutting edge contributions that should be of keen interest to service researchers and practitioners It represents some of the best and most recent thinking on a wide range of service topics A Parasuraman University of Miami FL Service business today constitute the largest sector in advanced economies This new Handbook provides a wealth of stimulating ideas and guidelines for improving the quality and effectiveness of service offerings Philip Kotler S C Johnson Son Distinguished Professor of International Marketing

Northwestern University Services because of their intangibility variability and perishability call for management and marketing skills of a high order This new Handbook belongs in the working library of managers charged with managing and marketing the service offerings of hotels restaurant chains airlines telecommunications companies entertainment companies professional services firms and countless other services industries Philip Kotler S C Johnson Son Distinguished Professor of International Marketing Northwestern University Despite the growth in services research and the dominance of services in the world economy no one book has emerged as a comprehensive guide for researchers and professionals until now The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management presents state of the art perspectives in the foundations of services while simultaneously challenging and expanding current services practices Editors Teresa A Swartz and Dawn Iacobucci invited the world's leading experts on services marketing and management to author individual chapters The result is an experienced international eclectic and cross disciplinary mix of authors all contributing cutting edge material on the frontiers of service research This handbook includes a unique mix of both in depth chapters as well as shorter more focused mini chapters which treat emerging issues in the field of services This structure makes the Handbook the most thorough reference possible The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management should have a place on the bookshelves of every academic graduate student and professional in the critical area of services
