Cancer Handbook Of Epidemiology And Prognosis:

Cancer Handbook of Epidemiology and Prognosis John A. H. Waterhouse, 1974 Management of Oesophageal Carcinoma Raymond L. Hurt, 2012-12-06 Both the investigation and treatment of cancer of the oesophagus are comprehensively presented in Management of Oesophageal Carcinoma. This information is otherwise not easily available in one source. The chapters are written by experts in the fields of anatomy, cancer research, radiology and thoracic surgery and give up to date information on this difficult disease. All aspects are covered: anatomy, epidemiology, endoscopic and radiologic diagnosis, pathology, surgical treatment, radiotherapy, palliative and laser therapy and the management of complications. Surgeons will be especially interested in the discussion of the recent technique of oesophagectomy without formal thoracotomy and the use of stapling devices. This complete reference is ideal for all clinics and medical centers specializing in thoracic surgery or treatment of oesophageal carcinoma.

Environmental Health Perspectives, 1993 Basic and Clinical Aspects of Malignant Melanoma Larry Nathanson, 2012-12-06 Where do you begin to look for a recent authoritative article on the diagnosis or management of particular malignancy? The few general oncology textbooks are generally out of date. Single papers in specialized journals are informative but seldom comprehensive; these are more often preliminary reports on a very limited number of patients. Certain general journals frequently publish good in depth reviews of cancer topics and published symposium lectures are often the best overviews available. Unfortunately these reviews and supplements appear sporadically and the reader can never be sure when a topic of special interest will be covered. Cancer Treatment and Research is a series of authoritative volumes which aim to meet this need. It is an attempt to establish a critical mass of oncology literature covering virtually all oncology topics, revised frequently to keep the coverage up to date, easily available on a single library shelf or by a single personal subscription. We have approached the problem in the following fashion: First by dividing the oncology literature into specific subdivisions such as lung cancer, genitourinary cancer, pediatric oncology etc. Second by asking eminent authorities in each of these areas to edit a volume on the specific topic on an annual or biannual basis. Each topic and tumor type is covered in a volume appearing frequently and predictably discussing current diagnosis, staging, markers, all forms of treatment, modalities, basic biology and more.

For the new edition there is a greater focus on survivorship, drawing on recent developments in the area. Alazraki,Mark J. Shumate,David A. Kooby,2007 Posterior Fossa Tumors Anthony J. Raimondi,Maurice Choux,Concezio DiRocco,2012-12-06 It is estimated that the functionally significant body of knowledge for a given medical specialty changes radically every 8 years New specialties and sub specialization are occurring at approximately an equal rate Historically established journals have not been able either to absorb this increase in publishable material or to extend their readership to the new specialists International and national meetings symposia and seminars workshops and newsletters successfully bring to the attention of physicians within developing specialties what is occurring but generally only in demonstration form without providing historical perspective pathoanatomical correlates or extensive discussion Page and time limitations oblige the authors to present only the essence of their material Pediatric neurosurgery is an example of a specialty that has developed during the past 15 years Over this period neurosurgeons have obtained special training in pediatric neurosurgery and then dedicated themselves primarily to its practice Centers Chairs and educational programs have been established as groups of neuro in different countries throughout the world organized surgeons themselves respectively into national and international societies for pediatric neurosurgery These events were both preceded and followed by specialized courses national and international journals and ever increasing clinical and investigative studies into all aspects of surgically treatable diseases of the child s nervous system
