Thomas, LeShawndra N. Price, 2016-09-01 This volume examines trajectories of drug use among ethnic minority youth in the United States with a focus on African Americans and Hispanics It also highlights what research designs have been employed to address these differences as well as suggests strategies for moving this discourse forward by identifying potential targets for prevention and intervention with minority youth This book features essays by leading experts in the field who have grappled with this issue for decades Inside readers will find an insightful dialogue that addresses such questions as Why are African American and Hispanic youth more likely than their White peers to abstain from drug use during adolescence but are more likely to become problem users later in life What impact does the stress caused by discrimination have on potential drug use To what extent does religiosity protect minority youth from drug use as past research suggests that it protects White youth What is the influence of neighborhood context on exposure to and use of substances among urban African American children Taken together the essays in this book identify underexplored risk and protective factors and gaps in the current state of knowledge that can be used to develop effective culturally specific drug abuse prevention strategies This book is for anyone with an interest in the initiation and escalation of drug use among African Americans and Hispanics Latinos and factors that influence these patterns over the life course It will also be an ideal resource for those interested in better understanding the mechanisms by which risk and protective factors are related to the development of drug use and addiction particularly the ways in which such factors contribute to health differences and have disproportionately more negative consequences for ethnic minorities

National Household Survey on Drug Abuse, 1998 National Household Survey on Drug Abuse Angela Brittingham, 1998-12 Presents results from the 1996 National Household Survey on Drug Abuse including a comprehensive description of the NHSDA methodology and reporting of findings Survey results address trends in drug use 1979 to 1996 marijuana cocaine inhalants hallucinogens and heroin nonmedical use of psychotherapeutic drugs alcohol cigarettes and smokeless tobacco problems associated with marijuana cocaine alcohol and cigarettes drug use patterns mental health problems and syndromes and more Includes sample answer sheets from the 1996 survey Over 100 tables Handbook of Drug Abuse Prevention Zili Sloboda, William J. Bukoski, 2007-08-06 There are a number of reasons why this book is important First there is no one source that summarizes what we know about the prevention of substance abuse from the research field so the book serves as a repository of accumulated knowledge on prevention theory intervention design and development and prevention research methodology Second as an evolving field prevention science has only begun to assert itself in both the arenas of practice and policy The formation of the Society for Prevention Research in 1991 was the first recognition that a science of prevention existed and required a separate forum to present the rapidly growing content of the field for discussion and review Finally there is a need to establish a baseline a reference point against which progress in the field of prevention science can be assessed This book serves all of these purposes The idea for this book grew from the observation in the early 1990s that after decades of attempts to develop effective interventions to prevent drug use among children and adolescents in the United States that we were finally having success particularly in addressing the initiation of use These successes are the result of research that has provided a better understanding of the factors and processes associated with the onset of substance use

Tobacco Use Among U. S. Racial/Ethnic Minority Groups David Satcher, 1999-04 Tobacco Use Among United States Racial/ethnic Minority Groups United States. Department of Health and Human Services, 1998 This Surgeon General's report on tobacco use summarizes current information on risk factors and patterns related to tobacco use among members of four major racial and ethnic minority groups in the United States African Americans American Indians and Alaska Natives Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and Hispanics In addition this report presents information on national and regional efforts to curtail consumption of tobacco products among members of these four groups Previous Surgeon General's reports on smoking and health have briefly summarized findings related to one or more of the racial ethnic groups covered in this report but this is the first Surgeon General's report to concentrate specifically on the four major racial ethnic groups in the United States Several factors prompted the development of this report First the information in this report has never before been compiled in one source Consequently policymakers community leaders researchers and public health workers have had difficulty determining the extent of the problem identifying gaps in information regarding tobacco use among members of the four groups or being aware of existing tobacco control programs that have demonstrated effectiveness Thus incorporating such information into the design and implementation of culturally appropriate services has been difficult Second the four racial ethnic groups currently constitute about one fourth of the population of this country and the Bureau of the Census projects that by 2050 the non Hispanic white population in the United States will total only 53 percent Day 1996 Preventing health problems related to tobacco use among the individuals in racial and ethnic groups will be integral to achieving U S public health objectives such as those proposed in Healthy People 2000 National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives U S Department of Health and Human Services USDHHS 1991 1995 National Center for Health Statistics NCHS 1994 This report contributes essential knowledge that must be incorporated into efforts to accomplish the Healthy People 2000 objectives

Drug Abuse Among Racial/ethnic Groups
 Andrea N. Kopstein, Patrice T. Roth, National Institute on Drug Abuse, 1993

Drugs and Drug Policy Clayton J. Mosher, Scott Akins, 2007 Drugs and Drug Policy The Control of Consciousness Alteration provides a cross national perspective on the regulation of drug use by examining and critiquing drug policies in the United States and abroad in terms of their scope goals and effectiveness In this engaging text authors Clayton J Mosher and Scott Akins discuss the physiological psychological and behavioral effects of legal and illicit drugs the patterns and correlates of use and theories of the causes of drug use

Key Features Offers more coverage of drug policy issues than competitive books This book addresses the number of significant developments over the last few decades that suggest the dynamics of drug use and policies to deal with drug use are at a critical juncture The book also considers the issue of American exceptionalism with respect to drug policies through a detailed analysis of emerging drug policies in other Western nations Makes explicit comparisons between legal and illegal drugs Due to their prevalence of use this book devotes considerable attention to the use and regulation of legal drugs in society The book illustrates that commonly prescribed medications are similar to drugs that are among the most feared and harshly punished in society and that drug related problems do not necessarily result from particular drugs but from how drugs are used Includes many pedagogical tools With chapter opening photos and more photos throughout this text presents material in a student friendly fashion Highlight boxes provide interesting examples for readers encourage further emphasis on issues and serve as important topics for in class writing exercises In addition Internet exercises and review questions reinforce key points made in the chapter and prompt classroom discussion

Intended Audience This core textbook is designed for any advanced undergraduate or graduate course examining drug use abuse and policy in the departments of Sociology Criminal Justice Political Science Social Work Psychology and Public Health It is also an excellent supplemental text in Political Science and Public Administration courses focusing on public policy as well as a perfect resource for anyone interested in policy issues and drugs in particular
