Case studies of agrifood systems technologies and innovations for climate action at country level FAO, 2024-12-30 Climate change is having a devastating effect on many of the world s agrifood systems and the communities that rely on them for their livelihoods This compendium contains summaries of forty case studies from a total of over two hundred submitted to FAO for the Science and Innovation Forum 2023 that describe innovative efforts that have been made to address some of the challenges arising from climate change The cases described are from low and middle income countries but climate change affects agriculture in its broadest sense irrespective of the region where it is practised

Case studies were received from all regions and selection for inclusion was based on several important criteria equity adversity innovativeness and the extent to which a case addressed problems experienced by women and youth

Organizational and Institutional Issues in Climate Change Adaptation and Risk Management Catherine Ragasa, Yan Sun, Elizabeth Bryan, Caroline Abate, Atlaw Alemu, Mahamadou Namori Keita, 2013-07-17 Climate change places demand on existing governance structures to reform and work more effectively than in the past In response greater attention to and funding for climate change adaptation including the efforts of National Adaptation Programmes of Action NAPAs the Least Developed Country Fund the Special Climate Change Fund the Adaptation Fund and the E U Global Climate Change Alliance provide an opportunity for institutional organizational and human capacity strengthening This study was conducted to explore the challenges and opportunities for building human organizational and institutional capacity for more effective climate change adaptation in developing countries It is part of a larger research project titled Enhancing Women s Assets to Manage Risk under Climate Change Potential for Group Based Approaches which is being conducted to help organizations better understand ways in which development projects can assist rural households in adapting to and managing the effects of climate change This report provides some reflections and insights on the level of awareness practices and organizational and institutional issues being faced by countries as they adapt to climate change based on interviews with 87 practitioners working in government agencies local organizations international organizations and think tanks reporting involvement in climate change adaptation Data were collected in Bangladesh Ethiopia Kenya and Mali using both an e survey platform and face to face interviews Responses reveal active work within these organizations on climate change adaptation and emphasize their important role in the countries efforts to address and adapt to climate change Responses also reveal strong awareness among these organizations of different aspects of climate change adaptation along the different stages in a climate change adaptation project cycle which may be a reflection of the active discussions and awareness campaigns during NAPA development in these countries However despite the awareness and presence of national strategies and action plans there seem to be no explicit and clearly defined policy and strategy within these organizations outlining their role in and contribution to the national and collective efforts and more importantly no explicit and measurable targets and monitoring and evaluation M E system to track progress and outcomes over time Reported capacity gaps can be grouped into two categories training needs and institutional challenges In many organizations there is limited awareness of and emphasis on the need for participation of target groups and beneficiaries during design and planning of climate change adaptation projects In addition many respondents reported a need for greater attention to issues related to profitability financial sustainability and market access from climate change project design to M E Finally respondents emphasized that climate change projects should pay greater attention to gender social political and cultural issues in their design and implementation Reflections of respondents also highlighted the need for organizational capacity strengthening for those local organizations working in and providing services to rural communities and for promoting a culture of impact and M E within these organizations in addition to the reported training needs in climate change management and in gender and social analysis While this report provides some insights further empirical analyses are needed to discover more details on strategies that could help trigger mind set and organizational culture change and to capture the complexity of organizational and institutional issues hindering climate change adaptation efforts that aim at reducing vulnerability and contributing to development outcomes

Uganda Journal of Agricultural Sciences ,2004 Integrating Indigenous and Scientific Knowledge for Sustainable Food Systems in Africa Saa Dittoh,Anna Bon,Hans Akkermans,2025-04-25 This open access book presents a novel approach to food security research SDG 2 Zero Hunger by integrating indigenous and scientific knowledge Through extensive field based research in Burkina Faso Ghana Kenya Mali and South Africa it explores the impact of merging traditional practices and local knowledge with scientific methods Through field studies the book shows the value of local knowledge and community led innovations in combating hunger achieving food security and enhancing nutrition sustainably and food sovereignty Drawing on decades of research in rural Africa the authors introduce the Plug In Principle a theory for integrating indigenous and modern knowledge systems to foster sustainable agricultural practices and enriched food ecosystems in Africa The Plug In Principle advocates that advancements in science and technology should enhance rather than replace existing indigenous knowledge This principle emerged from the failures of many development interventions where attempts at replacement often led to challenges and failures In agriculture for instance interventions in mechanization soil amendments seed and breed improvements and extension services have seldom succeeded due to a lack of integration with existing practices The Plug In Principle emphasizes that effective knowledge integration hinges on a deep understanding and appreciation of prevailing systems By designing interventions that seamlessly plug in to existing technologies we can ensure the co creation of effective solutions to the challenges we face This book is a testament to the potential of collaborative innovation in fostering sustainable development Development workers policymakers researchers students and donor agencies in agriculture and other development areas will find this volume invaluable Additionally scholars focused on decolonization and indigenous knowledge in the Global South will uncover insightful case studies and analyses
