Dress And Ethnicity Change Across Space And Time:

Dress and Ethnicity Joanne Bubolz Eicher,1995 From African American women s headwraps to beauty pageants in Swaziland this absorbing book explores ethnicity through the frequently noticed but less often analyzed human phenomenon of dress The authors ethnographers folklorists and textile scholars present case studies from around the world to illustrate their different theoretical frameworks and assumptions In considering how the body is modified and supplemented they discuss not only garments and accessories but also hairstyles and cosmetics

Dress and Globalisation Margaret Maynard,2004-09-04 This work surveys dress and identity of cultures around the world It draws on issues of consumption ethnicity gender and the body as well as anthropological accounts and studies of representation

Tertullian the African David E. Wilhite,2011-06-24 Who was Tertullian and what can we know about him This work explores his social identities focusing on his North African milieu Theories from the discipline of social cultural anthropology including kinship class and ethnicity are accommodated and applied to selections of Tertullian s writings In light of postcolonial concerns this study utilizes the categories of Roman colonizers indigenous Africans and new elites The third category new elites is actually intended to destabilize the other two denying any essential Roman or African identity Thereafter samples from Tertullian s writings serve to illustrate comparisons of his own identities and the identities of his rhetorical opponents The overall study finds Tertullian s identities to be manifold complex and discursive Additionally his writings are understood to reflect antagonism toward Romans including Christian Romans which is significant for his so called Montanism and Romanized Africans While Tertullian accommodates much from Graeco Roman literature laws and customs he nevertheless retains a strongly stated non Roman ness and an African ity which is highlighted in the present monograph

 MARIANNE VEDELER ANNA ZANCHI Moroccan Fashion M. Angela Jansen, 2016-05-19 This title presents a detailed ethnographic study of Moroccan fashion Drawing on interviews with three generations of designers and the lifestyle press the author provides an in depth analysis of the development of urban dress which reveals how traditional dress has not been threatened but rather produced and consumed in different ways The King of Drinks Dmitri van den Bersselaar, 2007-10-30 Imported schnapps gin has a remarkable history in West Africa Gin was imported in great quantities between 1880 and World War I when its consumption showed access to the modern international world Subsequently schnapps was transformed into a good that signified traditional local culture Today imported schnapps has high status because of its importance for African ritual and as symbol of the status of chiefs and elders but actual consumption is limited This book explores this unexpected trajectory of commoditisation to investigate how imported goods acquire specific local meanings This analysis of consumption and marketing of gin contributes to our understanding of patterns of consumption rejection and appropriation within processes of identity formation elite formation and the redefinition of community in colonial and postcolonial West Africa Doing Research in Fashion and Dress Yuniya Kawamura, 2011-03-15 Provides readers with a guided introduction to the key qualitative methodological approaches and shows students how to do research by combining theoretical and practical perspectives Value Construction in the Creative Economy Rachel Granger, 2020-03-27 The book provides a critical and integrative analysis of value as it pertains to different aspects of creative and cultural industries The notion of value a frequently used but rarely considered term is deconstructed and considered as a spatial and structural impact an active resource and process and as soft institutions and embodied forms which collectively create a space through which value is constructed and negotiated This book consists of three main sections normative valuation value and transformation from interactions and process and embodied value Together the contributions assess what value means in the creative and cultural industries how it is constructed and added through process and the way in which it is embodied in people and shaped through and by social space Especially relevant for postgraduate study and research in the creative and cultural industries where critical studies are key this book is also relevant for multiple disciplines which occupy the creative and cultural fields The Dream Fields of Florida Ella Schmidt, 2009-01-01 Using ethnographic data from several immigrant farmworker communities in Florida Schmidt unravels the embedded structural inequalities of U S society and the ideological discourses that mask them This book is a timely and increasingly necessary look at one of the most invisible populations in the U S one that has been systematically ignored and continuously misrepresented Archiv 61-62 Weltmuseum Wien Friends, The Enigma of Ethnicity Wilbur Zelinsky, 2001-04 In The Enigma of Ethnicity Wilbur Zelinsky draws upon more than half a century of exploring the cultural and social geography of an ever changing North America to become both biographer and critic of the recent concept of ethnicity In this ambitious and encyclopedic work he examines ethnicity's definition, evolution, significance, implications, and entanglements with other phenomena, as well as the mysteries of ethnic identity and performance. Zelinsky begins by examining the ways in which ethnic groups and ethnicity have been defined; his own definitions then become the basis for the rest of his study. He next focuses on the concepts of heterolocalism, the possibility that an ethnic community can exist without being physically merged, and personal identity, the relatively recent idea that one can concoct one's own identity. In his final chapter, which is also his most provocative, he concentrates on the multifaceted phenomenon of multiculturalism and its relationship to ethnicity. Throughout, he includes a close look at African Americans, Hispanics, and Jews, as well as such less studied groups as suburbanized Japanese Cubans in Washington, Koreans, Lithuanian immigrants in Chicago, Estonians in New Jersey, Danish Americans in Seattle, and Finns. Reasonable, nonpolemical, and straightforward, Zelinsky's text is invaluable for readers wanting an in-depth overview of the literature on ethnicity in the United States, as well as a well-thought-out understanding of the meanings and dynamics of ethnic groups, ethnicity, and multiculturalism.

The Fabric of American Literary Realism
Babak Elahi, 2014-01-10 This critical study traces the connections between the rising economic importance of the garment industry and the advent of a powerful movement towards literary realism in American fiction. Examining the works of Henry James, Theodore Dreiser, Abraham Cahan, Anzia Yezierska, and Willa Cather, and the shifting of the American ideal from the homespun to the ready-made, it explains how that cultural and psychological change appeared in the new literature of the nation.

Intimacies, Critical Consumption and Diverse Economies
Yvette Taylor, Emma Casey, 2015-10-21 This collection explores the relationships between the emotional and material, engaging with and developing the debates surrounding the emotional and material labour involved in producing and reproducing domestic and intimate spaces. The contributions examine the geographies and spaces of consumption in international and local/global spheres.

Establishing Dress History
Lou Taylor, 2004-05-07 Establishing Dress History will appeal not only to students and academics but all those with an interest in the history of dress and fashion. The title fuses together two areas of current academic interest: dress design and history, and current museum studies approaches.

Kingdom of the Mind
Peter E. Rider, 2006-04-05 Many Canadians with a Scottish background still feel the pull of their Gaelic origins. During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, Scots dominated Montreal and, by extension, the rest of the country. Their habits and attitudes influenced business, education, science, and medicine, the military, and even the way Canadians imagined themselves.
