Restavec Jean-Robert Cadet, 2009-09-15 This inspiring memoir recounts a man s harrowing journey from unpaid child labor in Haiti to a successful life in the United States African slaves in Haiti emancipated themselves from French rule in 1804 and created the first independent black republic in the Western Hemisphere But they reinstituted slavery for the most vulnerable members of Haitian society the children of the poor by using them as unpaid servants to the wealthy These children were and still are restavecs a French term whose literal meaning of staying with disguises the unrelenting labor abuse and denial of education that characterizes the children s lives In this memoir Jean Robert Cadet recounts the harrowing story of his youth as a restavec as well as his inspiring climb to middle class American life He vividly describes what it was like to be an unwanted illegitimate child staying with a well to do family whose physical and emotional abuse was sanctioned by Haitian society He also details his subsequent life in the United States where despite American racism he put himself through college and found success in the Army in business and finally in teaching

Forever Take My Hand Iris Therese Smith Reid, 2018-01-24 Iris Therese Smith Reid was born in Grimsby in 1938 and she gives a vivid account of what it was like to be a child growing up during the war. It was a time of great hardship and sometimes terror as Grimsby was ravaged by German bombing raids during the Blitz, but Iris recalls many lighter moments too: the games she played among the bomb sites and the memorable characters she knew. The second part of this biography covers Iris's working family life, most of which was spent in and around Grimsby. Now in her late seventies, Iris has spent the last sixteen years looking after her husband Francis, who has vascular dementia. Part three relates how she and Francis have struggled with his illness together and how they continue to get the most out of life. Tracker Alexis Wright, 2025-09-02 A breathtaking monumental work of collective memoir from the master Alexis Wright. How do you tell an impossible story, one that is almost too big to contain in a single book? In Tracker, Alexis Wright tells the story of charismatic Aboriginal Australian leader Tracker Tilmouth, who died in Darwin in 2015 at the age of 62. Taken from his family as a child and brought up in a mission on Croker Island, Tracker worked tirelessly for Aboriginal self-determination, creating opportunities for land use and economic development in his many roles, including Director of the Central Land Council of the Northern Territory. Tracker was a visionary and a strategist, renowned for his irreverent humour and his determination to tell things the way he saw them. Having known him for many years, Alexis Wright interviewed Tracker along with family, friends, colleagues, and the politicians he influenced, weaving their stories together in a manner reminiscent of Nobel Prize winner Svetlana Alexievich's Secondhand Time. The book is as much a testament to the powerful role played by storytelling in contemporary Aboriginal life as it is to the legacy of an extraordinary man. STRANGE BUT TRUE Tom Callahan, 2021-06-18 These stories are of real life experiences and events that really can't be easily explained with our understanding of how things are or what they may actually be. As I like to say, I'm just a witness of these strange things and events, who thinks these such stories should be written for the general reader alike in time to maybe think about, also possibly have some thought and ponder on what these as I like to say, outer worldly things could actually be. Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office United States Patent Office, 1917 The Cornhill Magazine, 1889 The Cornhill Magazine, 1889
