Drowning By Numbers:

Drowning by Numbers, 1988 Drowning by Numbers Michael Nyman Band, 1988 The Films of Peter Greenaway Amy Lawrence, 1997-10-13 An in depth study of Peter Greenaway's films Drowning by Numbers, 2009

The Music of Michael Nyman Pwyll ap Siôn, 2017-07-05 Nyman's rise to international prominence during the last three decades has made him one of the world's most successful living composers. His music has nevertheless been criticized for its parasitic borrowing of other composers' ideas and for its relentless self-borrowing. In this first book-length study in English Pwyll ap Siôn places Nyman's writings within the general context of Anglo-American experimentalism, minimalism, and post-minimalism and provides a series of useful contexts from which controversial aspects of Nyman's musical language can be more clearly understood and appreciated. Drawing upon terms informed by intertextual theory, in general, appropriation and borrowing are first introduced within the context of twentieth-century art music and theory. Intertextual concepts are explained and their terms defined before Nyman's musical language is considered in relation to a series of intertextual classifications and types. These types then form the basis of a more in-depth study of his works during the second half of the book, ranging from opera and chamber music to film. Rather than restricting style and technique, Nyman's intertextual approach, on the contrary, is shown to provide his music with an almost infinite amount of variety, flexibility, and diversity, and this has been used to illustrate a wide range of technical, aesthetic, and expressive forms. He composes with his ear towards the past as if it were a rich quarry to mine, working like a musical archaeologist uncovering artefacts and chiselling fresh and vibrant sonic edifices out of them.

The Films of Peter Greenaway Douglas Keesey, 2015-01-09 British filmmaker Peter Greenaway says life offers only two subjects. One is sex and the other is death. Greenaway uses both and romanticizes neither; indeed, his goal is the antithesis of the sanitary and sentimental portrayal of humanity. Although his films have met with outrage from some viewers, cult audiences praise them for insightful messages that people are detached from violence because they fail to see others' bodies as identical to their own, that predatory capitalism has caused humans to lose sight of our shared physicality and mortality, and that taboos are simply a system allowing people to exercise power over others. This book examines nine of Greenaway's feature films, dedicating a chapter to each: The Draughtsman's Contract, A Zed and Two Noughts, The Belly of an Architect, Drowning by Numbers, The Cook, the Thief, His Wife and Her Lover, Prospero's Books, The Baby of Macon, The Pillow Book, and 8 1/2 Women. The author examines the characters and plot, studies the structure and elements of the story, explores Greenaway's motives and reactions, and reveals audience reactions, including comments from viewers. A filmography lists films written and directed by Peter Greenaway from 1962 to 2004.
