Drug Studies In The Elderly Methodological Concerns:

Drug Studies in the Elderly N.R. Cutler,P.K. Narang,2013-11-11 Clinical trials are the most definitive tool for evaluation of the applicability of clinical investigations The main objective of clinical investigations is to assess the potential value of a therapeutic entity in the treatment or prophylaxis of a disease or a condition It is also deemed necessary at this stage to obtain information regarding the undesirable side effects associated risks and their interrelationship with clinical assessments Most of these clinical investigations conform in some form or fashion to the guidelines adopted by the Food and Drug Administration FDA for a given class of compounds Clinical investigations in the past have not included specific studies in special or subpopulations e.g the elderly Because of an ever increasing elderly population newer policies for clinical investigations are now being debated with the recognition of enhanced drug sensitivity in this special population This key research activity can lead not only to improved health care in the elderly but also to control of its costs Current Bibliographies in Medicine ,1988 Aging Research - Methodological Issues Carmen García-Peña,Luis Miguel Gutiérrez-Robledo,Mario Ulises Pérez-Zepeda,2018-09-25 This is the second edition of a well received book that reviews classical epidemiological and clinical research designs with a specific focus on aging Chapters cover basic topics like the scientific method ethics and the consequences of certain exclusion criteria The work also includes a look at clinical concepts like multimorbidity frailty and functionality New material includes chapters such as geroscience health systems research big data and data mining financing and future of aging research The authors reveal the issues and challenges for researchers of age and aging and also consider from basic to clinical and from clinical to public policies of social and health care The focus on aging is what gives this book its valuable perspective on research methodology All authors have considerable experience in aging geriatrics or gerontology and each chapter includes both a theoretical framework and practical examples of studies in aging Readers will discover study designs that are reviewed for basic structure main flaws and advantages and are analyzed for specific conditions and variables regarding aging This text is suited to both health care professionals caring for older adults and researchers who are new to research in aging It is relevant across the disciplines including medicine psychology social sciences and dentistry and it supports learning with graphs and figures Handbook of Clinical Trials P. Brouwers,E. Mohr,1991-01-01 Behavior is an aspect of clinical trials that has been somewhat neglected and the problems associated with behavioral assessment and control in clinical trials are complex These contributions deal with the selection and application of assessment techniques in different patient populations the scr Clinical Pharmacology in the Elderly Hans-Peter Breuel,2012-12-06 The appropriate and rational use of drugs by the elderly is a matter of growing medical and social concern Persons aged 65 years and older constitute about 12% 15% of the population in the Western world and the total number of the elderly will increase significantly in the coming years This population accounts for 30% of all the prescription drugs used Aging specifically the transition from middle to old age is a complex process From the perspective of clinical pharmacology these pathophysiological changes may reasonably be expected to alter responsiveness to drugs The age related differences in response to drugs can arise from alterations in pharmacokinetics or pharmacodynamics This makes it mandatory that clinical pharmacological studies be carried out in the elderly during extended phase I studies The older the population likely to use the drug the more important it is to include the very old It is also important not to exclude necessarily patients with concomitant illnesses it is only by observing such patients that drug disease interactions can be detected Reports from surveillance systems have greatly increased our awareness of problems associated with drug therapy in old age

Clinical Trials in Older Adults Antonio Cherubini, Roberto Bernabei, Luigi Ferrucci, Niccolò Marchionni, Stephanie Studenski, Bruno Vellas, 2015-09-28 Clinical Trials in Older Adults is the first book to consider the methodological issues underlying the evaluation of new treatments in older people Provides information on the methodology monitoring and regulations for those planning to conduct a clinical trials involving older adults Contains examples of ongoing trials involving older adults and presents the main characteristics of many recently published Depicts how the issues regarding older adults in clinical trials could be properly addressed with the appropriate study design and conduct Identifies key issues in performing clinical trials in older patients with common geriatric conditions i e Alzheimer s dementia depression low muscle mass cancer Issues in Mental Health and Aging, 1979 Modern Pharmaceutics, Volume 2 Alexander T.

Interactions in the Elderly and Special Issues in Elderly African-American Populations Committee on Pharmacokinetics and Drug Interaction in the Elderly, Institute of Medicine, 1997-09-08 Reports in the popular press about the increasing longevity of Americans and the aging of the baby boom generation are constant reminders that the American population is becoming older Consequently an issue of growing medical health policy and social concern is the appropriate and rational use of medications by the elderly Although becoming older does not necessarily correlate with increasing illness aging is associated with anatomical and physiological changes that affect how medications are metabolized by the body Furthermore aging is often related to an increased frequency of chronic illness often combined with multiple health problems and an increased use of medications Thus a better understanding of the absorption distribution metabolism and excretion of drugs of the physiologic responses to those medications as well as of the interactions among multiple medications is crucial for improving the health of older people Brocklehurst's Textbook of Geriatric Medicine and Gerontology E-Book Howard

David Shinar,2017-06-22 This comprehensive 2nd edition covers the key issues that relate human behavior to traffic safety In particular it covers the increasing roles that pedestrians and cyclists have in the traffic system the role of infotainment in driver distraction and the increasing role of driver assistance systems in changing the driver vehicle interaction Medical Education and Ethics: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources,2016-09-27 As the healthcare industry continues to expand a higher volume of new professionals must be integrated into the field Providing these professionals with a quality education will likewise ensure the further progress and advancements in the medical field Medical Education and Ethics Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications presents a compendium of contemporary research on the educational practices and ethical considerations in the medical industry This multi volume work contains pedagogical frameworks emerging trends case studies and technological innovations essential for optimizing medical education initiatives This comprehensive publication is a pivotal resource for medical professionals upper level students researchers and practitioners HIV and Aging M. Brennan-Ing,R. F. DeMarco,2016-11-22 Despite decades of attention on building a global HIV research and programming agenda HIV in older populations has generally been neglected until recently This new book focuses on HIV and aging in the context of ageism with regard to prevention treatment guidelines funding and the engagement of communities and health and social service organizations The lack of perceived HIV risk in late adulthood among older people themselves as well on the part of providers and society in general has led to a lack of investment in education testing and programmatic responses Ageism perpetuates the invisibility of older adults and in turn renders current medical and social service systems unprepared to respond to patients needs While ageism may lead to some advantages discounts for services for example it is the negative aspects that must be addressed when determining the appropriate community level response to the epidemic
