China has experienced an unprecedented boom in architecture and has become the most dynamic and active region in the world. The complex fusion of both Chinese and Western influences has given its architecture a unique style. This comprehensive wide ranging book showcases the most exciting projects of recent years with extensive imagery together with clear line drawings. It covers buildings all over China and of every type and scale: houses, schools, universities, offices, retail spaces, galleries and museums. Across its 480 pages this book provides the most complete survey of contemporary Chinese architecture to date and will be indispensable for architects, students and all those with an interest in architecture.

Behind contemporary Chinese architecture H. Y. K. Cheung, 1979

New Architecture in China Bernard Chan, 2005. This book brings together more than one hundred outstanding projects from around China, none of them completed earlier than 2000 and some still under construction or being planned. It includes all building types from private residences to colleges, shops and offices and from opera houses, theatres and museums to exhibition halls, hotels and airport terminals. It also features winning competition schemes for the Beijing Olympic Games in 2008. The work of local practices is represented alongside that of larger, well established architects and all projects are accompanied by plans and colour illustrations. An informative introduction traces the development of modern Chinese architecture and considers the contributions of renowned foreign architects and China's own leading talents such as Yung Ho Chang, Liu Jiakun and Qingyun Ma. This book will appeal to anyone interested in China's future at the forefront of contemporary architecture.

BOOK JACKET

Chinese Architecture and the Beaux-Arts Jeffrey W. Cody, Nancy Shatzman Steinhardt, Tony Atkin, 2011-01-31. In the early twentieth century Chinese traditional architecture and the French derived methods of the cole des Beaux Arts converged in the United States when Chinese students were given scholarships to train as architects at American universities whose design curricula were dominated by Beaux Arts methods. Upon their return home in the 1920s and 1930s these graduates began to practice architecture and create China's first architectural schools, often transferring a version of what they had learned in the U.S. to Chinese situations. The resulting complex series of design related transplantations had major implications for China between 1911 and 1949 as it simultaneously underwent cataclysmic social, economic and political changes. After 1949 and the founding of the People's Republic, China experienced a radically different wave of influence from the Beaux Arts through advisors from the Soviet Union who first under Stalin and later Khrushchev brought Beaux Arts ideals in the guise of socialist progress. In the early twenty first century China is still feeling the effects of these events. Chinese Architecture and the Beaux Arts examines the coalescing of the two major architectural systems, placing significant shifts in architectural theory and practice in China within relevant contemporary cultural and educational contexts. Fifteen major scholars from around the world analyze and synthesize these crucial events to shed light on the dramatic architectural and urban changes occurring in China today, many of which have global ramifications. This stimulating and generously illustrated work is divided into three sections framed by an introduction and a postscript. The first focuses on the convergence of Chinese architecture and the cole

des Beaux Arts outlining the salient aspects of each and suggesting how and why the two met in the U S The second section centers on the question of how Chinese architects were influenced by the Beaux Arts and how Chinese architecture was changed as a result The third takes an even closer look at the Beaux Arts influence addressing how innovative practices new schools of architecture and buildings whose designs were linked to Beaux Arts assumptions led to distinctive new paradigms that were rooted in a changing China By virtue of its scope scale and scholarship this volume promises to become a classic in the fields of Chinese and Western architectural history Contributors Tony Atkin Peter J Carroll Yung Ho Chang Jeffrey W Cody Kerry Sizheng Fan Fu Chao Ching Gu Daqing Seng Kuan Delin Lai Xing Ruan Joseph Rykwert Nancy S Steinhardt David VanZanten Rudolf Wagner Zhang Jie Zhao Chen

Style: In Defence Of... Chinese architecture Sylvia Chan, 2017-01-04

This series is about style Philosopher Georg Lukacs described the style of a piece of work as the attempt to reproduce one's view of the world within it Looked at in this way he says style ceases to be a formalistic category but rather it is rooted in content it is the specific form of a specific content After all style is not technique but ought to convey an intention Sociologist Georg Simmel said that style is the aesthetic attempt to provide a unifying encompassing context This series is about the content and context of style Undoubtedly it will irritate and enthuse but it is intended to be a fillip for our contemporary era in which style is often equated with fashion where style can be dismissed in order to avoid dealing with its essence Therefore these essays are not style over substance but the very substance of style The De Stijl manifesto of 1918 argued that the liberal arts should engage in a dialogue to create a new wisdom of life The robustness of these essays suggests that such an ambition still resonates Such an exchange can still appear vital and captivating Each Style In Defence Of confronts us with new ideas for contemplation and critique We hope that minds might be open to critically engage with each of these polemical bulletins In so doing we might reasonably formulate what we stand for
