Conservative Constraints North Carolina And The New Deal:

The New Deal and Beyond Elna C. Green, 2003 This collection of ten original studies covers a wide range of issues related to the regional distinctiveness of welfare provision in the South and the development of the larger federal welfare state The studies examine New Deal and Great Society programs from the Works Progress Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps to Social Security and Medicare In addition they draw attention to such private sector organizations as the Salvation Army and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Some essays look at the degree of federal responsiveness to or actual engagement with recipients of assistance One such study examines the dynamics between the New Deal bureaucracy poor women who worked in WPA organized sewing rooms in Atlanta and local political activists concerned about the women's working conditions The power of race and racism to shape the delivery of social services in the region as well as the strong connections between social welfare and civil rights is a concern common to many studies One study shows how linking the availability of federal Medicare funds to racial equality helped end segregation in southern hospitals Others focus on topics ranging from the pioneering North Carolina Fund a state program that shaped Great Society initiatives to the public health nurses and home economists of the Farm Security Administration to Georgia governor Eugene Talmadge's maneuverings against the Federal Emergency Relief Administration The New Deal and Beyond is filled with many new insights into initiating and maintaining social programs in the South a region whose welfare history is key to understanding the larger story of the American welfare state

Building New Deal Liberalism Jason Scott Smith, 2006 Providing the first historical study of New Deal public works programs and their role in transforming the American economy landscape and political system during the twentieth century Reconstructing the story of how reformers used public authority to reshape the nation Jason Scott Smith argues that the New Deal produced a revolution in state sponsored economic development The scale and scope of this dramatic federal investment in infrastructure laid crucial foundations sometimes literally for postwar growth presaging the national highways and the military industrial complex This impressive and exhaustively researched analysis underscores the importance of the New Deal in comprehending political and economic change in modern America by placing political economy at the center of the new political history Drawing on a remarkable range of sources Smith provides a groundbreaking reinterpretation of the relationship between the New Deal's welfare state and American liberalism

Leloudis,2011-01-20 When Governor Terry Sanford established the North Carolina Fund in 1963 he saw it as a way to provide a better life for the tens of thousands whose family income is so low that daily subsistence is always in doubt Illustrated with evocative photographs by Billy Barnes To Right These Wrongs offers a lively account of this pioneering effort in America s War on Poverty Robert Korstad and James Leloudis describe how the Fund s initial successes grew out of its reliance on private philanthropy and federal dollars and its commitment to the democratic mobilization of the poor Both were calculated tactics designed to outflank conservative state lawmakers and entrenched local interests that nourished Jim Crow perpetuated one party politics and protected an economy built on cheap labor By late 1968 when the Fund closed its doors a resurgent politics of race had gained the advantage led by a Republican Party that had reorganized itself around opposition to civil rights and aid to the poor The North Carolina Fund came up short in its battle against poverty but its story continues to be a source of inspiration and instruction for new generations of Americans Franklin D Roosevelt Congress , Senator Sam Ervin, Last of the Founding Fathers (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Large Bold Edition) , Choice and Coercion Johanna Schoen,2009-10 In August 2003 North Carolina became the first U S state to offer restitution to victims of state ordered sterilizations carried out by its eugenics program between 1929 and 1975 The decision was prompted by newspaper stories based on the research of Johanna Schoen who was granted unique access to summaries of 7 500 case histories and the pa The American South William James Cooper (Jr.),Thomas E. southerners and shored up white supremacy Galvanized by the emergence of the CIO African Americans took the lead in a campaign that saw a strong labor movement and the reenfranchisement of the southern poor as keys to reforming the South and a reformed South as central to the survival and expansion of the New Deal In the window of opportunity opened by World War II they blurred the boundaries between home and work as they linked civil rights and labor rights in a bid for justice at work and in the public sphere But civil rights unionism foundered in the maelstrom of the Cold War Its defeat undermined later efforts by civil rights activists to raise issues of economic equality to the moral high ground occupied by the fight against legalized segregation and Korstad contends constrains the prospects for justice and democracy today The New Southern University Charles J. A Golden Weed Drew A. Swanson, 2014-08-12 Drew A Swanson has written an environmental history about a crop of great historical and economic significance American tobacco A preferred agricultural product for much of the South the tobacco plant would ultimately degrade the land that nurtured it but as the author provocatively argues the choice of crop initially made perfect agrarian as well as financial sense for southern planters Swanson who brings to his narrative the experience of having grown up on a working Virginia tobacco farm explores how one attempt at agricultural permanence went seriously awry He weaves together social agricultural and cultural history of the Piedmont region and illustrates how ideas about race and landscape management became entangled under slavery and afterward Challenging long held perceptions this innovative study examines not only the material relationships that connected crop land and people but also the justifications that encouraged tobacco farming in the region

A New Deal for Blacks Harvard Sitkoff, 2009 Now with a new prologue and updated bibliography this classic edition of Harvard Sitkoff's A New Deal for Blacks is a comprehensive account of the emergence of civil rights as a national issue within the U S The New Deal years are a turning point in race relations trends They constitute a watershed of developments whose outgrowth was a broad based social movement aimed at bringing about a fuller participation of blacks in American society This text covers a wide variety of factors influencing civil rights and race relations in this period It describes political and top down influences but also spends time on ideas and culture and mass mobilization The book provides an opportunity to talk about the different types of factors that influence social change and the relationship between them Finally the scholarship is still accurate and solid and the book is well written avoiding jargon

Everybody's Problem Karen M. Hawkins, 2017-12-10 Through her case study of Craven Operation Progress Karen Hawkins challenges a number of assumptions regarding the Community Action Agencies CAAs central among them being that middle class whites on CAA boards were either uninterested or unable to meet the needs of poor citizens and that biracial agreement and cooperation was essentially impossible Drawing from untapped primary sources Hawkins finds some successes in interracial cooperation Hawkins contends that it was not only liberal action that led to economic and social change in Eastern North Carolina but also moderate compromise and open mindedness
