

The Constitution Made Easy

Article 6

Section 1

All debts that have been incurred, and all agreements that have been made, before this Constitution becomes effective, will be just as binding upon the United States under this Constitution, as they were under the Confederation.⁵⁶

Section 2

This Constitution will be the supreme Law of the land. So are the Laws of the United States which are made that conform with it. So are all treaties made by the authority of the United States in the past, and in the future. Judges in every State will be bound by them. Nothing in any State Law or State Constitution which is different may stand against them.

Section 3

All Senators and Representatives, and every member of every State legislature, and all executive and judicial officers of the United States, and of every State, will be bound by Oath or Affirmation, to support this Constitution. But no religious test may ever be required as a qualification for any official position under the United States.

Article 7

Approval by the Conventions of nine States will be enough for establishing this Constitution between the States that approve it.

This has been done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the States who are present, on September 17th, in the Year of our Lord 1787, which is also the twelfth year of the Independence of the United States of America. As witnesses of this we have signed our Names as follows:

George Washington--President and deputy from Virginia

Attest William Jackson Secretary

Delaware: Geo: Read, Gunning Bedford jun, John Dickinson,
Richard Bassett Jaco: Broom
