Social Practices of Rule-making in World Politics Mark Raymond (Professor of international relations), 2019 This book seeks to explain how political actors know how to change interpret and apply the rules that comprise rule based global order It argues that actors in world politics are simultaneously engaged in an ongoing social practice of rule making interpretation and application Constructing International Relations: The Next Generation Karin M. Fierke, Knud Erik

Jorgensen, 2015-06-01 The constructivist approach is the most important new school in the field of postcold war international relations Constructivists assume that interstate and interorganizational relations are always at some level linguistic contexts Thus they bridge IR theory and social theory This book explores the constructivist approach in IR as it has been developing in the larger context of social science worldwide with younger IR scholars building anew on the tradition of Wittgenstein Habermas Luhman Foucault and others The contributors include Friedrich Kratochwil Harald Muller Matthias Albert Jennifer Milliken Birgit Locher Dodge and Elisabeth Prugl Ben Rosamond Nicholas Onuf Audie Klotz Lars Lose and the editors

The Politics of Constructing the International Criminal Court M. Struett, 2008-05-12 This book examines the political process that led to the establishment of the International Criminal Court in 2002 It accounts for the main features of the court including its strong independent prosecutor by analyzing the discourse surrounding the ICC negotiations and particularly highlights the role of human rights NGOs Constructing Post-Soviet Geopolitics in Estonia Pami

Aalto, 2013-09-13 This work examines the construction of post Soviet political space geopolitical discourses and boundaries in Estonia Making use of innovative methodological solutions such as Q methodology its analysis includes in depth interviews that elucidate a variety of issues through human experience and subjective perception such as Estonian Russian border disputes of the 1990s inter ethnic issues and national integration and security As Estonia is one of the frontline EU accession countries and is queuing for membership of NATO the book raises broad questions of post Soviet geopolitics in the Baltic region and across Europe Indeed Pami Aalto argues that small states such as Estonia should be understood as active participants in post Soviet and European geopolitics and not simply pawns in a superpower environment Raimo

Väyrynen: A Pioneer in International Relations, Scholarship and Policy-Making Raimo Väyrynen, 2023-01-03 This book provides a broad overview of Professor Raimo Väyrynen s academic work his role in international research organizations and his contributions to policy debates It offers an interesting review of important political issues during the time span of half a century from disarmament in Europe to the changing relationship between state sovereignty and transnational forces V

Yrynen has dealt with the changing agenda of peace and international relations security and the arms race and the world economy This book provides comprehensive analyses of the regional and systemic structure of international relations with the emphasis on conflicts and warfare between nations It argues that while states even smaller ones still matter transnational issues are increasingly important Taking a historical perspective the articles suggest that large scale violence and arms races have been recurrent and cyclical phenomena in international relations These events reflect the deep seated inequalities in the political and economic systems which moreover vary considerably between regions The publication is important reading for any researcher as well as students policy makers and the science oriented public at large Traces the changing agenda of international relations from disarmament and the world economy to the changing relationship between state sovereignty and transnational forces Provides analyses of the regional and systemic structure in international relations with the emphasis on conflicts and warfare Argues that large scale violence and the arms race have been recurrent and cyclical phenomena in international relations Reviews important political issues from peace and conflict in Europe to the changing power relationship in the world

Making The European Polity Erik Oddvar Eriksen, 2007-04-11 Today s

Europe is marked by an amazing pace of integration. The European Union now consists of twenty five member states however there is confusion and disagreement about its future design. Making The European Polity investigates how the European Union should develop and organize itself and offers a reflexive approach to integration based on the theory of communicative action. It conceives of the EU as a law based supranational polity lacking the identity of a people as well as the coercive means of a state and argues that it is a polity with an organized capacity to act but no sole apex of authority. Making an important contribution to the theoretical discussions on the EU these contributors explore a range of issues including legitimacy post national democracy and integration and provide in depth analyses of social and tax policy foreign policy identity formation the reform process and the constitutional effects of enlargement. This book will appeal to all political scientists and particularly to students and researchers of European Politics. US Taiwan Policy Øystein Tunsjø, 2008-02-18

The relationship between the United States and China is one of the most important issues in the twenty first century and is ultimately hostage to conditions across the Taiwan Strait. This book is the first to attempt to trace the historical origin of what is known as the Taiwan issue in US China relations from a constructivist perspective. The European Union and Asia, 2015-06-29

This volume represents the first in depth inter disciplinary analysis of the past present and future of the European Union's relations with countries non state actors and other partners across the Asia Pacific region. The book is situated in the developing interdisciplinary discourse of EU foreign policy towards countries and regions across Asia and it offers a research led critique of the construction and the elements of the EU Asia political space. Written by an international team of experts from both Asia and Europe the volume investigates the historical and cultural background as well as diverse representations and imaginations in regard to the Asia Europe inter continental dialogue. The book examines the varied patterns policies and priorities of the contemporary political economic and cultural relations linking the EU with its interlocutors in Asia. Moreover this collection throws light on a selected number of issues pertinent to current EU Asia interaction such as human rights promotion learning and educational exchange and the role of the mass media in the construction of Asia Europe relations. The twelve chapters in this book cover a wide scope of subjects including the EU's Relations with the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN the summitry of the Asia Europe Meetings ASEM EU foreign policy choices in Asia and EU contacts with Central Asia Australia and New Zealand. This text is of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students lecturers the business community decision makers and practitioners in Politics European Studies Asia Pacific Studies International Relations Law Human Rights and Business Studies. Constructing Europe's Identity Lars-Erik Cederman, 2001

The authors assess not only the benefits but also the costs of attempts to assert a European identity. Referring to debates about the respective merits of deepening and widening they address the equally important associated tradeoffs between exclusion and dilution they point to the risks on the one hand of a Europe that excludes foreign goods immigrants and entire countries and on the other of an unfocused definition of Europe that may dilute the very values that a European identity is intended to protect      Routledge Handbook of American Foreign Policy Steven W. Hook, Christopher M. Jones, 2012-04-23 The Routledge Handbook of American Foreign Policy brings together leading experts in the field to examine current trends in the way scholars study the history and theories of American conduct in the world analysis of state and non state actors and their tools in conducting policy and the dynamics of a variety of pressing transnational challenges facing the United States      Before Colonization Charles R. Butcher, Ryan D. Griffiths, 2025-07-08 Prior to European colonization the world was thickly populated with hundreds of independent states and vibrant regional state systems Yet these states are typically excluded from traditional international relations scholarship which has mostly focused on the European experience This book provides a groundbreaking comparative analysis of non Western states and state systems in the nineteenth century Using an original data set on independent states during this period Charles R Butcher and Ryan D Griffiths answer fundamental questions such as how many states there were when they arose and when they died documenting the large number of states that were extinguished as a consequence of European colonialism They explore the structure of nineteenth century state systems in East Asia South Asia maritime Southeast Asia and West Africa examining the effects of war trade and interaction capacity Through these case studies Butcher and Griffiths provide novel perspectives on longstanding debates over state centralization and the choice between indirect and direct forms of rule Shedding new light on the dynamics of non Western interstate relations during the nineteenth century Before Colonization reveals striking similarities between state systems across diverse historical settings      Cyberspaces and Global Affairs Sean S. Costigan, Jake Perry, 2016-05-13 From the Facebook revolutions in the Arab world to the use of social networking in the aftermath of disasters in Japan and Haiti to the spread of mobile telephony throughout the developing world all of these developments are part of how information and communication technologies are altering global affairs With the rise of the social web and applications like Facebook YouTube and Twitter scholars and practitioners of international affairs are adapting to this new information space across a wide scale of issue areas In conflict resolution dialogues and communication are taking the form of open social networks while in the legal realm where cyberspace is largely lawless space states are stepping up policing efforts to combat online criminality and hackers are finding new ways around increasingly sophisticated censorship Militaries are moving to deeply incorporate information technologies into their doctrines and protesters are developing innovative uses of technology to keep one step ahead of the authorities The essays and topical cases in this book explore such issues as networks and networked thinking information ownership censorship neutrality cyberwars humanitarian needs terrorism privacy and rebellion giving a comprehensive overview of the core issues in the field complemented by real world examples      China in the UN Security Council Decision-making on Iraq Suzanne Xiao Yang, 2013 With the rupture of the UN Security Council in March 2003 over the US spearheaded intervention in Iraq the attempts made to subject the use of force to the rule of law had failed Widespread Europe US disagreement of the role of the

UNSC has hindered more effective decisions for China and its European and American counterparts in the Security Council Iraq China and the UN Security Council examines the role of China's policy behaviour in relation to the Iraq intervention in order to develop a better understanding of this fast rising power within the UN It looks at key questions such as What consequences may arise if China's actions are based on a set of values and national interests far removed from those of the major Western powers Could China's attitude disrupt the traditional working and normative practice of the United Nations The book will be of interest to scholars and students of international relations and Chinese Politics

Building Regions
Luk Van Langenhove, 2016-04-08 Regions How they emerge and how they are dramatically changing the appearance of the present world of states and its related forms of governance from local to global levels is analysed in this monograph But what are regions Regions can be small or huge They can be part of a single state be composed out of different states or stretched out across borders They can be important recognized economic social or cultural entities or they can be largely ignored by the people who live on a region's territory They can be well defined with clear cut boundaries as is the case in so called constitutional regions or they can be fuzzy as for instance in cross border regions In sum they are not a natural kind and defining regions is not a simple task Luk Van Langenhove advances the concept of region building as an alternative to the construction of regions with three issues of region building being explored Why are regions built in a world of states How do region building processes take place How are regions transforming the present world order Crossing disciplinary boundaries this book is an exercise in theorizing regions and brings together under one conceptual framework different processes and concepts such as regional integration devolution federalism and separatism and refines the social constructionist view on regions

Towards a Global Polity Richard Higgott, Morten Ougaard, 2002-06-27 The role of law networks and civil society are examined and key theoretical and meta theoretical questions on how to analyse and theorise the global polity what drives it forward and whether it can be democratised are discussed
