Consumption Globalization And Development:

Consumption, Globalization and Development J. James, 2000-04-19 This volume is concerned with the complexities of the relationship between globalization and different groups of consumers in developing countries Globalization it is argued can yield frustration and disappointment as well as welfare gains for consumers it may but does not necessarily displace local products and via the rapid recent expansion of the mass media it offers policy makers new opportunities to deal with acute social problems

Economic Development: Global & Regional Studies Halil İbrahim Aydın, Magdalena Ziolo, Aniela Bălăcescu, 2017-04-14 The phenomenon of globalization can be described as a gradual increase in the process and dependency level that combines people society and countries from different economic social and political aspects of the world Development which is a multidimensional concept such as globalization is a concept that includes human values as well as economic social cultural demographic and political dimensions With the globalization process a turn to use knowledge as a factor of production has been passed and investing in people who use knowledge in production has become important Investment in human capital leads to the importance of development concept The relationship of the development process with the different fields pioneered the preparation of scientific works in the context of globalization and regional studies In this book Economic Development Global and Regional Studies there are academicians who work in different universities of Turkey and the World and work in the field of development The scientific ethics and responsibility of the works in the book belong to the authors writers who own the department of course and we believe that the necessary sensitivity is shown in this issue This book in your hand is made up of 15 chapters and development in each chapter is analyzed from different angles We believe that the detailed content will contribute to economic development literature We would like to thank all the authors whose paper published on this book Our hope is to provide some ideas which can inspire academicians and students not only to understand different problems that the world is facing but some solution as well

The Routledge Handbook of Urbanization and Global Environmental Change Karen Seto, William Solecki, Corrie Griffith, 2015-12-22 This volume provides a comprehensive overview of the interactions and feedbacks between urbanization and global environmental change A key focus is the examination of how urbanization influences global environmental change and how global environmental change in turn influences urbanization processes It has four thematic foci Theme 1 addresses the pathways through which urbanization drives global environmental change Theme 2 addresses the pathways through which global environmental change affects the urban system Theme 3 addresses the interactions and responses within the urban system in response to global environmental change Theme 4 centers on critical emerging research

Globalisation and Sustainable Development Vladimir F. Krapivin, 2007-07-05 A characteristic of the present global ecological situation is increasing instability or put another way a crisis in the civilization system the global scale of which is expressed through a deterioration of human and animal habitats The most substantial features of global ecodynamics of the late 20th and early 21st centuries include the rapid increase in world population mainly in developing countries increase in the size of the urban population considerable growth in the number of megalopolises and increase in the scales of such dangerous diseases as HIV AIDS hepatitis tuberculosis etc With growing population size the problems of providing people with food and improving their living conditions in many regions will not only not be resolved but will become even more urgent Any possible benefit from decrease in per capita consumption as a result of increased efficiency of technologies will be outweighed by the impact of such a growth in population size Despite the predominant increase of population in developing countries their contribution to the impact on the environment will not necessarily exceed that of developed countries Key to ensuring sustainable development of the nature society system NSS is the relationship between production and consumption as mentioned at the World Summit on Sustainable Development in Johannesburg 2002 As civilization has developed so the problem of predicting the scale of expected climate change and associated change in human habitats has become more urgent Community Climate Justice and Sustainable Development Roy, Parimal Kumar, Hamidi, Mashitah Binti, Wahab, Haris Abd, 2025-03-26 Climate justice is a crucial issue particularly for Indigenous communities that are disproportionately affected by environmental changes despite contributing the least to global emissions Achieving sustainability and social justice requires an inclusive approach that considers diverse policies cultural perspectives and methodological interventions As globalization deepens interconnectivity addressing climate justice through equitable policies climate finance and community driven solutions becomes essential for ensuring a just and sustainable future Examining both policy gaps and actionable solutions can help create frameworks that protect vulnerable populations while advancing global sustainability goals Community Climate Justice and Sustainable Development explores the intersection of climate justice Indigenous rights and sustainable development highlighting the policies and actions needed to achieve social and environmental equity By analyzing case studies policy frameworks and financial mechanisms it provides a comprehensive discussion on bridging the gap between climate commitments and real world impact Covering topics such as climate migrants tribal rights and indigenous knowledge this book is an excellent resource for social justice advocates environmentalists policymakers professionals researcher scholars academicians and more Low-Carbon Economy and Sustainable Development: Driving Force, Synergistic Mechanism, and Implementation Path Zhen Liu, Wang Pei, Jing Lan, Jingchao Zhang, 2024-11-25 In recent years with global economic development and population growth environmental issues have become increasingly prominent Climate change and energy crisis have become global problems that restrict human development and so need to be solved urgently As a comprehensive economic development model the low carbon economy can greatly reduce energy and resource consumption mitigate and adapt to climate change promote economic development and thus achieve the goal of sustainable development Therefore exploring efficient paths toward sustainable development through carbon reduction is an urgent and challenging research topic currently This Research Topic aims to conduct scientific research and exchange from the perspectives of clarifying the drivers behind carbon reduction investigating the synergistic mechanism between the low carbon economy and sustainable development and then exploring the pathways to low carbon development Through comprehensive research and comparative analysis of the relationship between low carbon economy and sustainable development we will verify the feasibility of innovations and updates of carbon reduction applications for sustainable development provide scientific strategies in terms of low carbon economy for sustainable development design technical routes and propose corresponding policy recommendations

Economic Growth and Environmental Quality in a Post-Pandemic World Muhammad Shahbaz, Daniel Balsalobre Lorente, Rajesh Sharma, 2023-07-28 In response to the damage caused by a growth led global economy researchers across the world started investigating the association between environmental pollution and its possible determinants using different models and techniques Most famously the environmental Kuznets curve hypothesizes an inverted U shaped association between environmental quality and gross domestic product GDP This book explores the latest literature on the environmental Kuznets curve including developments in the methodology the impacts of the pandemic and other recent findings Researchers have recently broadened the range of the list of drivers of environmental pollution under consideration which now includes variables such as foreign direct investment trade expansion financial development human activities population growth and renewable and nonrenewable energy resources all of which vary across different countries and times And in addition to CO₂ emissions other proxies for environmental quality such as water land and ecological footprints have been used in recent studies This book also incorporates analysis of the relationship between economic growth and the environment during the COVID 19 crisis presenting new empirical work on the impact of the pandemic on energy use the financial sector trade and tourism Collectively these developments have improved the direction and extent of the environmental Kuznets curve hypothesis and broadened the basket of dependent and independent variables which may be incorporated This book will be invaluable reading for researchers in environmental economics and econometrics

Export Product Quality, Renewable Energy, and Sustainable Production Umer Shahzad, Gagan Deep Sharma, Lianbiao Cui, John Mendy, 2023-09-12 Economic development has long been acknowledged for its beneficial effects on human well being In the context of economic globalization and vertical specialization increasing the quality of export products is more critical and necessary to export success and sustainable development The product s quality is inextricably linked to its manufacture and production which need various types of energy and raw materials Meanwhile the adoption of more environmentally friendly and cleaner energy sources contributes to the achievement of sustainable production Therefore product quality may provide a new perspective from which to investigate the systematic relationship between greener and renewable energy sources sustainable production and environmental regulations as well as the nature of export competitiveness Generally export product quality has referred to the quality of manufactured products within the product lines Quality refers to the relative price of a country s varieties within their respective product lines Product sophistication assesses the composition of the aggregate exports Different varieties of same product as per quality level are being produced by several developing and emerging economies Within any given product line quality converges both conditionally and unconditionally to the world s benchmark increases in institutional quality and human capital are associated with faster quality upgrading In turn faster growth in quality is associated with more rapid output growth

Economic Trends and Sustainable Environmental Assessment Andrew Adewale Alola, Festus Victor Bekun, Uju Violet Alola, 2024-08-30 The book Economic Trends and Sustainable Environmental Assessment attempts to x ray the economic and socioeconomic activities and cultural or behavioural aspects from the concept of sustainability by employing several related research scenarios spanning the micro meso and macro level approaches Given the increasing awareness of the importance of social economic environmental and even now human sustainability aspects to a sustainable global present future the relevance of the dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals SDGs need to be consistently examined For instance decades of climate related disasters which have increasingly endangered humans are the reason for ongoing advanced advocacy policy and research towards achieving an environmentally sustainable or net zero emission NZE future Thus considering the illustration of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the connectedness of the economic and socioeconomic aspects with environmental dimensions this book should hugely benefit students researchers and policymakers to further understand and solve some of the world s lingering challenges

Corporate Environmental Management, Climate Change and Sustainable Development Khaldoon Albitar,Zhenghui Li,Mohamed Chakib Kolsi,Ghassan H. Mardini,2023-10-09 The United Nations action plan for sustainable development named Transforming Our World The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development represents an international governance arrangement in response to the recent environmental challenges and social inequalities. Importantly, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) framework sets a purpose to protect human rights, end poverty, reduce inequality, protect the planet and its natural resources, and enhance sustainable economic growth. Recently, due to the deterioration in global environmental conditions, increasing stakeholder demands, and stricter regulations and law all over the world, firms have realized the importance of integrating Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) into their strategic orientations in order to enhance their environmental social performances and keep sustainable development.

Nexus Between Innovations, Environmental Challenges and Labor Mobility Irfan Ullah, Ashfaq Ahmad Shah, Bilal, Rocky J. Dwyer, 2024-01-15. Theoretical arguments associate labor migration and regional innovation capacity are based on technological innovation and knowledge diffusion that stimulate productivity increase in firms, institutions, and regions. Labor mobility may contribute efficiently in the knowledge spillover and diffusion, and because migrants can utilize the knowledge and skill they gain from parental institutions which exploit in the host country. The migrated skill worker increases the knowledge accumulation and spillover, which leads to increase the productivity of firm, institutions, and region. Human capital migration is essential for knowledge diffusion because it enables the transfer of tacit information between businesses or institutions, enhancing productivity. In this context of externalities, generation-skilled labor mobility is an important mechanism for the interregional transfer of technological knowledge diffusion.

Effects of Financial Globalization on Developing Countries Mr. Ayhan Kose, Mr. Kenneth Rogoff, Mr. Eswar Prasad, Shang-Jin Wei, 2003-09-03. This study provides a candid systematic and critical review of recent evidence on this complex subject. Based on a review of the literature and some new empirical evidence, it finds that 1) in spite of an apparently strong theoretical presumption, it is difficult to detect a strong and robust causal relationship between financial integration and economic growth; 2) contrary to theoretical predictions, financial integration appears to be associated with increases in consumption volatility both in absolute terms and relative to income volatility in many developing countries; and 3) there appear to be threshold effects in both of these relationships which may be related to absorptive capacity. Some recent evidence suggests that sound macroeconomic frameworks and, in particular, good governance are both quantitatively and qualitatively important in affecting developing countries' experiences with financial globalization.
