Contemporary Industrialization F. E. Ian Hamilton, 1978     Industrialization and Development in the Third World
Rajesh Chandra, 2003-09-02 Developing countries have undergone significant industrialization in the last three decades Yet industrial growth reveals marked spatial inequalities in terms of both country and location The Newly Industrialised Countries have achieved spectacular growth in sharp contrast to many other countries of the South Industrial structure has changed moving away from labour intensive industries to more technologically advanced manufacturing Developing countries have had considerable success in penetrating developed country markets but they are now encountering more market restrictions The role of the government in the development of the economy is also changing Increasingly countries are turning towards export orientated industrialization strategies and privatization whilst their governments are emphasising their facilitative role     Spatial Analysis, Industry and the Industrial Environment F. E. Ian Hamilton, G. J. R. Linge, 1983     Spatial Analysis, Industry, and the Industrial Environment Progress in Research and Applications F. E. Ian Hamilton, G. J. R. Coffey, James John McRae, 1989 This document presents a broad empirical picture of the national regional and urban structure of the Canadian economy It identifies the factors which may be causing the relative shift towards employment in service industries and occupations and shows that the lack of actual data on interregional flows of service outputs effectively precludes the empirical testing of regional general equilibrium models involving service industries It concludes by bringing forth the regional policy implications embedded in the conceptual and empirical work on service industries     Rural America and the Changing Structure of Manufacturing, 1993     ERS Staff Report, 1993     Spatial Analysis, Industry, and the Industrial Environment: Industrial systems F. Walmsley, G.J. Lewis, 2014-09-19 First published in 1994 This book comprises a second edition of Human Geography behavioural approaches first published in 1984 The first edition attempted to synthesize the massive volume of geographical literature to have appeared mainly since 1960 concerned with both how people come to know the environment in which they live and with the way in which such knowledge influences subsequent spatial behaviour As with the first edition the rationale for advantages of and shortcomings with behavioural approaches are explored at length in both substantive chapters and in a number of detailed examinations of particular aspects of life in advanced Western society     Service
