Gender in Scottish History Since 1700 Lynn Abrams,2006-01-25 Scottish history is undergoing a renaissance Everyone agrees that an understanding of our nation s history is integral to our experience of its present and the shaping of the future But the story of Scotland s past is being told with little reference to gendered identities Not only are women largely missing from these grand narratives but men s experience has tended to be sublimated in intellectual political and economic agendas Neither femininities nor masculinities have been given much of a place in Scotland s past or in the process of nation making Gender in Scottish History offers a new perspective on Scotland s past since around 1700 viewing some of the main themes with a gendered perspective It starts from the assumption that gender is integral to our understanding of the ways in which societies in the past were organised and that national histories have a tendency to be gender blind Each chapter engages with one key theme from Scottish historiography asking what happens when women are added to the story and how the story changes when the meanings of gendered understandings and assumptions are probed Addressing politics culture religion science education work the family and identity Gender in Scottish History proposes an alternative reading of the Scottish past which is both inclusive and recognisable

From Word to Canvas V.G. Julie Rajan,2009-03-26 From Word to Canvas Appropriations of Myth in Women s Aesthetic Production is an innovative collection of essays on female aesthetic production and myth examining the ways in which women artists and writers utilize myth to negotiate their perceptions of feminine identity and feminine representation in an increasingly complex and culturally hybrid world The featured essays and artistic contributions address a variety of contemporary female productions including literature performance and visual art in a markedly global scope Representing a wide range of cultures languages geographic locales and social contexts from Jewish Hindu and Kenyan German through Irish Italian American to Vietnamese folktales this diversified selection underscores the agency of the feminine gaze across a historical and geopolitical span a gaze through which myths from various cultures and different cultural amalgams speak to us with force and with significance The potency of this gaze is linked to the potential of myth simultaneously to encompass and compress history and to offer the result as a backdrop against which the move from word to canvas or from a mythic tale to its aesthetic appropriation is performed in female aesthetic production
