Utopian Bodies and the Politics of Transgression Lucy Sargisson, 2002-01-22 What do we want What do we believe to be wrong with the world How can we best change it How should we live Given the world as it is how can we best achieve our dreams and desires Utopian Bodies is quite simply a new approach to thinking about theory Using the dominant themes of green and feminist politics this fascinating and original text creates a new notion of utopian thought and life transgressive utopianism This new concept is not a blueprint for an ideal polity instead it demonstrates an approach to the world that is both idealistic and pragmatic focussing on bodies of thought in relation to bodies of people communities Also spanning philosophy political theory and deconstruction this book is especially relevant today as the millennium marks a time of resurgence in utopian studies

Notes on Nowhere Jennifer Burwell, 1997 Notes on Nowhere was first published in 1997 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions The term utopia implies both good place and nowhere Since Sir Thomas More wrote Utopia in 1516 debates about utopian models of society have sought to understand the implications of these somewhat contradictory definitions In Notes on Nowhere author Jennifer Burwell uses a cross section of contemporary feminist science fiction to examine the political and literary meaning of utopian writing and utopian thought Burwell provides close readings of the science fiction novels of five feminist writers Marge Piercy Sally Gearhart Joanna Russ Octavia Butler and Monique Wittig and poses questions central to utopian writing Do these texts promote a tradition in which narratives of the ideal society have been used to hide rather than reveal violence oppression and social divisions Can a feminist critical utopia offer a departure from this tradition by using utopian narratives to expose contradiction and struggle as central aspects of the utopian impulse What implications do these questions have for those who wish to retain the utopian impulse for emancipatory political uses As one way of answering these questions Burwell compares two figures that inform utopian writing and social theory The first is the traditional abstract revolutionary subject who contradicts existing conditions and who points us to the ideal body politic The second resistant subject is partial concrete and produced by conditions rather than operating outside of them In analyzing contemporary changes in the subject's relationship to social space Burwell draws from and revises standpoint approaches that tie visions of social transformation to a group's position within existing conditions By exploring the dilemmas antagonisms and resolutions within the critical literary feminist utopia Burwell creates connections to a similar set of problems and resolutions characterizing nonliterary discourses of social transformation such as feminism gay and lesbian studies and Marxism Notes on Nowhere makes an original significant and persuasive contribution to our understanding of the political and literary dimensions of the utopian impulse in literature and social theory Jennifer Burwell teaches in the Department of English at Wesleyan University in Connecticut Feminist

Utopianism & Education Christine Forde, 2007-01-01 This book looks to feminist utopian thinking to seek alternative conceptualisations of the issue of gender and education We are currently faced with a situation where the issue of gender has become one of competing needs Debates on gender have swung from a concern for the progress of girls and women to a moral panic about the lack of engagement of boys in education The formulation of policy that swings from concerns and initiatives to support the educational progress of girls and women to a crisis about the engagement of boys and young men in education is ultimately to the detriment of both genders to the educational system and to society as a whole There is an urgent need for us to consider alternative approaches to the issue of gender and education In utopian writing education has been constructed as one of the means of bringing about the good society but importantly within feminist utopian writing and thinking what we understand as education is itself being transformed In feminist utopian thinking side by side with a critique of formal educational institutions there is an attempt to think more holistically about the relationship between the educative process and the achievement of girls and women's self-determination both individually and collectively to bring about a realignment of gender relationships in the sociopolitical order This book draws from the debates about gender in the visions of alternative sociopolitical orders found in feminist utopian thinking to explore the issue of gender and education This book will be of special relevance to those interested in feminism gender studies educational futures and utopian thinking

Postmodern Utopias and Feminist Fictions Jennifer A. Wagner-Lawlor, 2013-07-31 Covering a range of texts from prominent feminist writers this book examines notions of utopia in twenty-first century speculative literature Feminist Utopias Frances Bartkowski, 1991-01-01 The utopias envisioned by Edward Bellamy and other novelists late in the nineteenth century were generally blueprints of government As satellites of men women were expected to share in the general improvement of society The resurgence of the feminist movement since the late 1960s has produced a very different kind of utopian literature Frances Bartkowski explores a body of work that is striking and vital because it reflects the hopes fears and desires of women who have glimpsed the possibilities of a bright new world freed from stifling patriarchal structures Feminist Utopias is a comparative study of the utopian fiction of nine women writers in the United States France and Canada Except for Charlotte Perkins Gilman's Herland 1915 the prototype for feminist literary utopias all of the works were published between 1969 and 1986 Bartkowski discusses Monique Wittig's Les Guérillères Joanna Russ's The Female Man Marge Piercy's Woman on the Edge of Time Suzy McKee Charnas's Motherlines Christine Rochefort's Archaos ou le jardin tincelant E M Broner's A Weave of Women Louky Bersianik's The Eugelionne and two dystopian novels Charnas's Walk to the End of the World and Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale Feminism, Utopia, and Narrative Libby Falk

Social Work Chris Horsell, 2025-02-03 This book highlights the importance of employing imaginative sensibilities to thinking and action in social work and social policy practice Exploring the question of how ideas about utopia and utopian method can be used in social work practice and policy practice to address social inequalities it shows that central to this critique is the argument that contemporary social policy responses and subsequent social work interventions to a range of policy problems e.g homelessness poverty family violence need to acknowledge the failure of dominant neoliberal discourses in addressing these issues The COVID 19 pandemic has highlighted and in many ways exacerbated existing inequalities and the post pandemic future provides opportunities to put utopian ideas into action Showing how utopian thinking can challenge fundamental assumptions regarding welfare dependency and unitary identities in policy settings this book will be of interest to all scholars students and professionals working in social work and social policy

Feminism's Queer Temporalities
 Sam McBean, 2015-07-16 Despite feminism's uneven movements it has been predominantly understood through metaphors of generations or waves Feminism's Queer Temporalities builds on critiques of the limitations of this linear model to explore alternative ways of imagining feminism's timing It finds in feminism's literary and cultural archive narratives of temporality that might now be diagnosed as queer where queer designates modes of being historical that exceed the linear and the generational Few theorists have looked to popular feminist figures literature and culture to theorize feminism's timing Through methodologically creative readings McBean explores non generational anti linear and asynchronous time in the figure of Antigone Marge Piercy's Woman on the Edge of Time the film Ladies and Gentlemen The Fabulous Stains Valerie Solanas and SCUM Manifesto and Alison Bechdel's Fun Home The first to substantially bring together the ways in which time has come to matter in both feminist and queer disciplines this book will appeal to students and scholars of feminist queer and gender studies cultural studies and literary studies

Feminist Utopian Novels of the 1970s Tatiana Teslenko, 2003-08-19. This book presents an exploration of the reinvented utopia that provided second wave feminists of the 1970s with a conceptual space to articulate the politics of change. Tatiana Teslenko argues that utopian fiction of this decade offered a means of validating the personal as well as the political and of criticizing a patriarchal social order. Teslenko reveals feminists attempt through fiction to envision a new political order.

It is about how this literature of both imagined perfection and disaster creates new worlds and critiques gender roles, traditions and values. Essays range in subject matter from Charlotte Perkins Gilman, P. D. James, Joanna Russ and Marge Piercy to Ursula Le Guin, Fay Weldon and Toni Morrison. Two of the three sections focus on Doris Lessing and Margaret Atwood. Examining especially the twentieth century including second wave feminism, writers from Tunisia, Turkey, Italy, Korea, the US and England give both an historical and a global perspective. Utopian and dystopian elements are explored in the Nobel Prize winning Doris Lessing's Memoirs of a Survivor, the little known Mara and Dann and The Cleft, and new perspectives are offered on Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale.
