Fitzmaurice,2009-01-01 Highly recommended as a key contribution to the literature It fulfils its title in being contemporaneous but more than that it also provides a subtle critique of how many international environmental lawyers have approached their subject this book will be an essential read for anyone interested in the subject British Yearbook of International Law This book presents an interesting scholarly read an invaluable reference asset to law students researchers policy makers and non state actors with interest in environmental regulation and governance Priscilla Schwartz Journal of Environmental Law This is a thoughtful and well researched study of current issues in international environmental law Malgosia Fitzmaurice s collection of essays is a welcome addition to the literature in this rapidly developing area of the law it provides perspective on the environmental law issues discussed but always against the background of the broader concepts and principles of general international law James Crawford University of Cambridge UK The central aim of this insightful book is to illuminate how many concepts in international environmental law such as the precautionary principle and sustainable development are taken for granted. These problematic issues are very much still evolving and subject to heated debate between scholars as well as between states. The author explores these controversies viewing them as a positive development within a field that is in a constant state of flux. Areas discussed include the convergence of human rights with environmental issues and the quest for the human right to a clean environment. The book also clearly demonstrates that international environmental law cannot be analysed in isolation since it greatly influences the development of general international law. Taking full account of the most recent decisions of international courts and tribunals as well as the most up to date scholarly analysis, Contemporary Issues in International Environmental Law is a timely and important resource for legal scholars under and post graduates and practitioners alike.

CONTEMPORARY ISSUES IN MULTIDISCIPLINARY SUBJECTS: VOLUME-1 Sruthi. S, Dr. Shalini Jiwan Chahande, Shantaram Baban Bhoje, Prof. R. Anita, Dr. Shalini Chaturvedi, Dr. Satyendra Nath, Dr. Umesh D. Laddha, Bhagyashree M S, S.R.K. Rao,

Contemporary Issues in Politics & International Relations Nesrin Kenar, 2021-12-26. Conflict is a phenomenon as old as human history. Although the actors and reasons have changed, conflicts have occurred in every period of history. In the pre-Cold War era, conflicts in the international system were experienced between states. The conflicts during the Cold War mainly were interstate conflicts arising from the rivalry between the two blocs. In this period, it was expected that the threat to the security of a state would come from outside the borders of the state and from other states. For this reason, all the regulations made by the League of Nations, which was established at the end of the First World War and the United Nations which was established after the Second World War to protect international peace and security included the measures to be taken against the attack or threat of attack by one state against another state. However, the developments that took place right after the end of the Cold War confirmed that the risk of interstate conflict decreased and new security threats emerged in this period. The conflicts that emerged in the post Cold War period were separatist conflicts due to ethnic and religious reasons such as the former Yugoslavia and Georgia or intra border conflicts that occurred for other reasons such as in Syria. Upon the inadequacy of international organizations and international law to intervene in intra border conflicts, the concept of security was redefined and a transformation from the security of the state to the security of the individual took place. New security threats such as environmental security, human security, food security, terrorism, weapons of mass destruction and pandemics have been identified. One of the reasons for the decrease in conflicts between states in the post Cold War period is that states mostly use soft power instead of military force in achieving their foreign policy goals. The structure of the international system is also a dynamic that affects conflicts. After the end of the bipolar system, the transformation of the international system is not yet complete. One of the most critical problems in today's world is the competition and struggle between states to become the future superpower. While the US wants the current status quo to continue, China is trying to change the status quo in its favour. The European Union is to become the dominant power in the international system after its transformation in the post Cold War period.
