Body and Mind Keith Campbell, 1992-01-31 Widely used in philosophy courses this succinct study explores the problem of determining the relation between the body and mind In that philosophy seeks to elucidate man's place and action in nature Campbell asserts that our assessment of the body mind problem affects our perspectives on metaphysics epistemology ethics and the natural sciences After discussing how the body mind problem developed Campbell sets forth four incompatible propositions that serve as the framework for evaluating different philosophical approaches to the problem Among competing perspectives he examines dualism behaviorist theories the causal theory of mind and central state epiphenomenalism This second edition includes a chapter on functionalism and an expanded bibliography

Oxford Studies in Early Modern Philosophy Volume IV Daniel Garber, Steven Nadler, 2008-09-25 Oxford Studies in Early Modern Philosophy is an annual series presenting a selection of the best current work in the history of early modern philosophy It focuses on the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the extraordinary period of intellectual flourishing that begins very roughly with Descartes and his contemporaries and ends with Kant It also publishes papers on thinkers or movements outside of that framework provided they are important in illuminating early modern thought The articles in OSEMP will be of importance to specialists within the discipline but the editors also intend that they should appeal to a larger audience of philosophers intellectual historians and others who are interested in the development of modern thought

Explorations in Ancient and Modern Philosophy: Volume 4 Myles Burnyeat, 2022-03-31 Myles Burnyeat 1939 2019 was a major figure in the study of ancient Greek philosophy during the last decades of the twentieth century and the first of this After teaching positions in London and Cambridge where he became Laurence Professor in 1996 he took up a Senior Research Fellowship at All Souls College Oxford from which he retired in 2006 In 2012 he published two volumes collecting essays dating from before the move to Oxford Two new posthumously published volumes bring together essays from his years at All Souls and his retirement The essays in Volume 4 are addressed principally to scholars engaging first with fundamental issues in Platonic and Aristotelian metaphysics and epistemology and in Aristotle's philosophical psychology Then follow studies tackling problems in interpreting the approaches to physics and cosmology taken by Plato and Aristotle and in assessing the evidence for early Greek exercises in optics

Philosophy of Mind/Philosophie de l'esprit Guttorm Fløistad, 2012-12-06 This publication is a continuation of two earlier series of chronicles Philosophy in the Mid Century Firenze 1958-59 and Contemporary Philosophy Firenze 1968 edited by Raymond Klibansky Like the other series these chronicles provide a survey of important trends in contemporary philosophical discussion from 1966 to 1980 The need for such surveys has I believe increased rather than decreased over the last years The philosophical scene appears for various reasons more complex than ever before The continuing process of specialization in most branches the emergence of new schools of thought particularly in philosophical logic and the philosophy of language the convergence of interest though not necessarily of opinion of different traditions upon certain problems and the increasing attention being paid to the history of philosophy in discussions of contemporary problems are the most important contributory factors Surveys of the present kind are a valuable source of knowledge of this complexity and may as such be an assistance in renewing the understanding of one's own philosophical problems The surveys it is to be hoped may also help to strengthen the Socratic element of modern philosophy the dialogue or Kommunikationsgemeinschaft So far four volumes have been prepared for the new series The present chronicles in the Philosophy of Mind Vol 4 follow upon chronicles in the Philosophy of Language and Philosophical Logic Vol 1 and chronicles in the Philosophy of Science Vol 2 and chronicles in the Philosophy of Action Vol 4

Active Perception in the History of Philosophy José Filipe Silva,Mikko Yrjönsuuri,2014-03-18 The aim of the present work is to show the roots of the conception of perception as an active process tracing the history of its development from Plato to modern philosophy The contributors inquire into what activity is taken to mean in different theories challenging traditional historical accounts of perception that stress the passivity of percipients in coming to know the external world Special attention is paid to the psychological and physiological mechanisms of perception rational and non rational perception and the role of awareness in the perceptual process Perception has often been conceived as a process in which the passive aspects such as the reception of sensory stimuli were stressed and the active ones overlooked However during recent decades research in cognitive science and philosophy of mind has emphasized the activity of the subject in the process of sense perception often associating this activity to the notions of attention and intentionality Although it is recognized that there are ancient roots to the view that perception is fundamentally active the history remains largely unexplored The book is directed to all those interested in contemporary debates in the fields of philosophy of mind and cognitive psychology who would like to become acquainted with the historical background of active perception but for historical reliability the aim is to make no compromises
