Contested Frontiers in Amazonia Marianne Schmink, Charles H. Wood, 1992-06-24 An interdisciplinary analysis of the process of frontier change in one region of the Brazilian Amazon the southern portion of the state of Par Contested Frontiers in Amazonia Marianne Schmink, Charles H. Wood, 1992-01 Representative works are interpreted in light of the two great political movements of the nineteenth century the abolition of slavery and the women s rights movement By reexamining Emerson Poe Melville Douglass Walt Whitman Chopin and Faulkner and others Rowe assesses the degree to which major writers attitudes toward race class and gender contribute to specific political reforms in nineteenth and twentieth century American culture The Brazilian Amazonia in Change II Gerd Kohlhepp, 2025-02-08 In the Brazilian planning region Amaz nia Legal deforestation of rain forests for the extraction of mineral resources cattle breeding soybean farming transport infrastructure and hydropower plants was carried out without regard for the indigenous people and regional socio ecological vulnerability The implementation of damaging mega programmes caused disastrous environmental problems Large scale destruction of biodiversity rising temperatures and instability of precipitation not only pose a threat to the region but also have global impacts on climate change Over the last two decades parts of Amaz nia Legal have evolved from a CO2 sink to a source of CO2 emissions Volkswagen in the Amazon Antoine Acker, 2017-09-21 The first history of the German multinational s resounding failure in its global development project of a cattle ranch in the Brazilian Amazon Governing the Rainforest Eve Z. Bratman, 2019 Sustainable development is among the foremost ideas that guide societal aspirations around the world This text interrogates the concept through a critical lens examining both its history and the trajectory of its manifestations in the Brazilian Amazon Negotiating Territoriality Allan Charles Dawson, Laura Zanolli, Ismael Vaccaro, 2014-07-11 This edited collection disrupts dominant narratives about space states and borders bringing comparative ethnographic and geographic scholarship in conversation with one another to illuminate the varied ways in which space becomes socialized via political economic and cognitive appropriation Societies must first and foremost do more than wrangle over ownership and land rights they must dwell in space Yet historically the interactions between the state s territorial imperative with previous forms of landscape management have unfolded in a variety of ways including top down imposition resistance and negotiation between local and external actors These interactions have resulted in hybrid forms of territoriality and are often fraught with fundamentally different perceptions of landscape This book foregrounds these experiences and draws attention to situations in which different social constructions of space and territory coincide collide or overlap Each ethnographic case in this volume presents forms of territoriality that are contingent upon contested histories politics landscape the presence or absence of local heterogeneity and the involvement of multiple external actors with differing motivations ultimately all resulting in the potential for conflict or collaboration and divergent implications for conceptions of community autochthony and identity Promised Land Madeleine Adriance, 1995-08-23 Examines the relationship between grassroots Catholic Church groups base Christian communities and the mobilization of peasant farmers in the fight for control of Amazon lands

Transformative Sustainable Development Kei Otsuki, 2014-12-05 Recent debates about sustainable development have shifted their focus from fixing environmental problems in a technocratic and economic way to more fundamental changes in social political processes and relations In this context participation is a genuinely transformative approach to sustainable development yet the process by which participation leads to transformation is not sufficiently understood This book considers how the act of participating in sustainable development projects can bring about social transformation that is considered to be fair and just by the participants and non participants in a broader societal context Drawing on ideas from social theory and applied anthropology the book proposes a reflexivity based framework to analyse participation as a type of social action underpinned by primary experience Development projects have a transformative effect when participants are given the opportunity to reflect on their experience share the reflection with others and open new space for collective deliberation and change The book applies this framework to assess community based participatory projects in the Amazon African slums and rural settlements and disaster stricken areas in Japan It also outlines potential institutions of governance to institutionalize the change by referring to current food governance drawing out lessons with international relevance This book will be of interest to students of sustainable development environmental policy and development studies as well as practitioners and policy makers in these fields

The Road to the Land of the Mother of God Stephen G. Perz, Jorge Luis Castillo Hurtado, 2023-05 The Interoceanic Highway is many things to many people an emblematic project during a period focused on integration a dream realized for an isolated region a symbol of the profound fragility of state institutions a key cause of political corruption and a major driver of ecological and cultural devastation This highway links the Andean highlands with the Amazonian lowlands in southern Peru offering an outlet for Brazil's emergent economy While it finally brought an end to the isolation of Madre de Dios and other parts of southern Peru and the western Amazon it was made possible by political corruption revealed in the Lava Jato scandal and it permitted the spread of criminal business activities But the Interoceanic Highway's deeper history must be appreciated in order to fully understand why it was built and the impacts it has generated The Road to the Land of the Mother of God explores more than five hundred years of the history of Peru's Interoceanic Highway showing how the purposes portrayals and importance of roads change fundamentally over time and thus how roads bring significantly more impacts and costs than their advocates and critics generally anticipate By taking a deeper look at infrastructure history Stephen G Perz and Jorge Luis Castillo Hurtado portray infrastructure as an integrative optic for understanding changes in local livelihoods regional development and social conflicts

Time and Complexity in Historical Ecology William L. Balée, Clark L. Erickson, 2006 An important contribution to the emerging field of historical ecology this volume illuminates the ways in which the landscape reflects human history and culture The book combines cutting edge research with new perspectives on the effects of human societies

Collaboration Across Boundaries for Social-Ecological

Systems Science Stephen G. Perz, 2019-03-30 Collaboration across boundaries is widely recognized as a vital requisite for the advancement of innovative science to address problems such as environmental degradation and global change. This book takes collaboration across boundaries seriously by focusing on the many challenges and practices involved in team science when spanning disciplinary, organizational, national, and other divides. The authors draw on a shared framework for managing the challenges of collaboration across boundaries as applied to the science of understanding complex social ecological systems. Teams working across boundaries on diverse social ecological systems in countries around the world report their challenges and share their practices, outcomes, and lessons learned. From these diverse experiences arise many commonalities and also some important differences. These provide the basis for a set of recommendations to any collaborators intending to use science as a tool to better understand social ecological systems and to improve their management and governance.

Deforesting the Earth Michael Williams, 2003 Clearing in the deep past Reaching out Europe and the wider world The global forest Population, Land Use, and Environment National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Center for Economics, Governance, and International Studies, Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change, Panel on New Research on Population and the Environment, 2005-10-15 Population Land Use and Environment Research Directions offers recommendations for future research to improve understanding of how changes in human populations affect the natural environment by means of changes in land use such as deforestation, urban development, and development of coastal zones. It also features a set of state-of-the-art papers by leading researchers that analyze population-land-use-environment relationships in urban and rural settings in developed and underdeveloped countries and that show how remote sensing and other observational methods are being applied to these issues. This book will serve as a resource for researchers, research funders, and students. Land Change Science, Political Ecology, and Sustainability

Christian Brannstrom, Jacqueline M. Vadjunec, 2014-01-23 Recent claims regarding convergence and divergence between land change science and political ecology as approaches to the study of human-environment relationships and sustainability science are examined and analyzed in this innovative volume. Comprised of 11 commissioned chapters as well as introductory and concluding synthesis chapters, it advances the two fields by proposing new conceptual and methodological approaches toward integrating land change science and political ecology. The book also identifies areas of fundamental difference and disagreement between fields. These theoretical contributions will help a generation of young researchers refine their research approaches and will advance a debate among established scholars in geography, land use studies, and sustainability science that has been developing since the early 2000s. At an empirical level, case studies focusing on sustainable development are included from Africa, Central and South America, and Southeast Asia. The specific topics addressed include tropical deforestation, swidden agriculture, mangrove forests, gender, and household issues. Titles, Conflict, and Land

Entangled Edens Candace Slater, 2002 The skill with which Slater combines various levels and modalities of narrative utilizing her personal experience as a colorful unifying thread is truly remarkable Antonio Candido author of Antonio Candido On Literature and Society Howard S Becker editor A very important book that quite gracefully elegantly and persuasively moves beyond the usual myth and history format to put at its center stories about the Amazon and the people who tell them Entangled Edens persuasively argues that the Amazon can only be grasped understood and come to terms with through its myths and stories It addresses a very real failing of modern environmentalism which for all its virtues tends to dehumanize and metaphorically depopulate when it does not villainize populations that do share its concerns or share them in very different ways Instead of forcing us to choose between land and people Slater uses the stories and the people who tell them to rethink human relations with nature and each other Richard White author of The Organic Machine The Remaking of the Columbia River Elegant erudite profoundly serious Entangled Edens is a source of inspiration and knowledge for the reader interested in the Amazon Without the cultural tradition and the life experience of Amazonia's people any analysis of the Amazon risks becoming inconsequential or opportunistic This is one of the powerful messages of this important reflection on the Amazon whose greatest riches are ultimately its people Candace Slater has written a book that will last Milton Hatoum author of The Tree of the Seventh Heaven 1994 and The Brothers 2002

Smallholders, Forest Management and Rural Development in the Amazon Benno Pokorny, 2013-07-24 The ongoing debate concerning the Amazon's crucial role in global climate and biodiversity is entirely dependent upon sustainable development in the region Recognizing that forests are an integral part of the social fabric in the region initiatives such as community forestry small scale tree plantations and agroforestry as well as payments for environmental services have aimed at conserving the natural forest landscape At the same time these attempt to protect and enhance the well being of poor local smallholders including indigenous groups traditional communities and small farmers Against this background this book analyses numerous promising local tree and forest management initiatives taken by smallholders in the Bolivian Brazilian Ecuadorian and Peruvian Amazon to better understand the key success factors The insights gained from more than 100 case studies analyzed by researchers from Latin America and Europe in cooperation with local stakeholders reveal the need for critical reflection on the initiatives targeting poor Amazonian families The book discusses an operational vision of rural development grounded on the effective use of smallholders capacities to contribute to a sustainable and equitable development of the region It provides helpful information and ideas not only for scientists but also for development organisations decision makers and all who are interested in one of the major challenges facing the Amazon to combine equitable development with the conservation of its unique ecosystems

Tropical Forests Thomas K. Rudel, 2005-08-31 In Tropical Forests Rudel analyzes hundreds of local studies from the past twenty years to develop a much needed global perspective on deforestation With separate chapters on individual regions including South and Central America the Caribbean and Africa Rudel s work offers an up to date assessment of the world s tropical forests In the concluding chapter Rudel considers the implications of these trends and describes policy directions for conserving biodiversity and promoting sustainable development in each region Roads and Anthropology Dimitris

Dalakoglou, Penelope Harvey, 2016-04-14 Roads and the powerful sense of mobility that they promise carry us back and forth between the sweeping narratives of globalisation and the specific tangible materialities of particular times and places Indeed despite the fact that roads might by comparison with the sparkling agility of virtual technologies appear to be grounded in twentieth century industrial political economy they could arguably be taken as the paradigmatic material infrastructure of the twenty first century supporting both the information society in the ever increasing circulation of commoditized goods and labour and the extractive economies of developing countries which the production and reproduction of such goods and labour depends Roads and Anthropology is the first collection of road ethnographies edited by two pioneers in the anthropological explorations of infrastructures the essays published in this book aim to pave the way for that rising field of anthropological research This book was published as a special issue of Mobilities Saving a Rainforest and Losing the World Gregory M. Thaler, 2024-02-27 An unflinching investigation of the false promises of land sparing exposing how its illusory successes mask the failures of green capitalism For two decades the concept of land sparing the claim that agricultural intensification can spare land by preventing forest clearing for agricultural expansion has dominated tropical forest conservation Land sparing policies transform landscapes and livelihoods with the promise of reconciling agricultural development with environmental conservation But that land sparing promise is false Based on six years of research on agrarian frontiers in Indonesia Brazil and Bolivia this book traces where and how land sparing becomes policy and charts the social and ecological effects of these political contests Gregory M Thaler explains why land sparing appears successful in some places but not in others and reveals that success as an illusion achieved by displacing deforestation to new frontiers The failure of land sparing exposes a harsh truth behind assurances of green capitalism capitalist development is ecocide
