Contested Ground Collective Action And The Urban Neighborhood

Nicholas K. Blomley

Contested Ground Collective Action And The Urban Neighborhood:

Contested Ground John Emmeus Davis, John Edward Davis, 1991 Drawing critically and selectively from Marxian theories of conflict and neo Weberian theories of housing classes John Emmeus Davis argues that the political life of residential communities can be explained largely in terms of the competing interests that groups possess by virtue of different and distinctive ways of relating to their community s domestic property land and buildings that are used for shelter

Contested Ground John Emmius Davis, 2018-08-06 One of the most striking characteristics of urban protest and social conflict in the United States Britain and other nations of the West over the last three decades is the frequency with which these political events have been organized not where people work but where they live The residential communities in which people have their homes raise their children and relate to each other more as neighbors than as co workers have become veritable seedbeds of collective action Contested Ground provides a new approach to understanding how and why such community based action occurs Drawing critically and selectively from Marxian theories of conflict and neo Weberian theories of housing classes John Emmeus Davis argues that the political life of residential communities can be explained largely in terms of the competing interests that groups possess by virtue of different and distinctive ways of relating to their community s domestic property land and buildings that are used for shelter In Part I of his book he proposes domestic property interests as the cornerstone of a theoretical framework for exploring the appearance and disappearance the development and decline and the cooperation and conflict of the organized groups of the homeplace In Part II he tests the plausibility of this framework against the social and political realities of an inner city neighborhood known as the West End in Cincinnati Ohio A neighborhood shaped by successive waves of private investment and disinvestment city neglect and city planning urban renewal and gentrification the domestic property of the West End has been the contested ground from which many community organizations have grown Using archival records oral histories and organizational documents Davis unfolds the story of the rise and fall of these grassroots groups Davis s concluding chapters evaluate the theoretical and practical implications of his approach He believes that his analysis may complement neo Marxian theories of urban development and capitalist reproduction and also provide new insight into ways in which planners activists and policy makers can influence the internal politics of the urban neighborhood

Multi-owned Housing Jennifer Dixon, Professor Ann Dupuis, Professor Sarah Blandy, 2012-11-28 This internationally edited collection addresses the issues raised by multi owned residential developments now established as a major type of housing throughout the world in the form of apartment blocks row housing gated developments and master planned communities The chapters draw on the empirical research of leading academics in the fields of planning sociology law and urban property tourism and environmental studies and consider the practical problems of owning and managing this type of housing The roles and relationships of power between developers managing agents and residents are examined as well as challenges such as environmental sustainability and state regulation of multi owned residential developments The book provides the first comparative study of such issues offering lessons from experiences in the UK the US Australia New Zealand Israel Hong Kong Singapore and China The Urban Growth Machine Association of American Geographers. Meeting,1999-08-12 Two decades after Harvey Molotch s city as a growth machine this book offers a unique critical assessment of his thesis Business Improvement Districts and the Contradictions of Placemaking Susanna F. Schaller,2019-07-15 The livable city the creative city and more recently the pop up city have become pervasive monikers that identify a new type of urbanism that has sprung up globally produced and managed by the business improvement district and known colloquially by its acronym BID With this case study Susanna F Schaller draws on more than fifteen years of research to present a direct focused engagement with both the planning history that has shaped Washington D C s segregated landscape and the intricacies of everyday life politics and planning practice as they relate to BIDs Schaller offers a critical unpacking of the BID ethos which draws on the language of economic liberalism individual choice civic engagement localism and grassroots development to portray itself as color blind democratic and equitable Schaller reveals the contradictions embedded in the BID model For the last thirty years BID advocates have engaged in effective and persuasive storytelling as a result many policy makers and planners perpetuate the BID narrative without examining the institution and the inequities it has wrought as BID urbanism has oiled the urban gentrification machine Schaller sheds light on these oversights thus fostering a critical discussion of BIDs and their collective influence on future urban landscapes A Right to Housing Rachel G. Bratt,Michael E. Stone,Chester W. Hartman,2006 An examination of America s housing crisis by the leading progressive housing activists in the country The Government Next Door Luigi Tomba,2014-08-21 Chinese residential communities are places of intense governing and an arena of active political engagement between state and society In The Government Next Door Luigi Tomba investigates how the goals of a government consolidated in a distant authority materialize in citizens everyday lives Chinese neighborhoods reveal much about the changing nature of governing practices in the country Government action is driven by the need to preserve social and political stability but such priorities must adapt to the progressive privatization of urban residential space and an increasingly complex set of societal forces Tomba s vivid ethnographic accounts of neighborhood life and politics in Beijing Shenyang and Chengdu depict how such local translation of government priorities takes place Tomba reveals how different clusters of residential space are governed more or less intensely depending on the residents social status how disgruntled communities with high unemployment are still managed with the pastoral strategies typical of the socialist tradition while high income neighbors are allowed greater autonomy in exchange for a greater concern for social order Conflicts are contained by the gated structures of the neighborhoods to prevent systemic challenges to the government and middle class lifestyles have become exemplars of a new responsible form of citizenship At times of conflict and in daily interactions the penetration of the state discourse about social stability becomes clear A Place Called Home Kim R. Manturuk,Mark R.

Lindblad, Roberto G. Quercia, 2017 A Place Called Home explains that homeownership is associated with many positive and surprising non financial outcomes and also how and why this is so The book ultimately argues that homeownership is an important social tool that can improve the lives of low and moderate income people Making the Invisible Visible Leonie Sandercock, 1998-02-08 While the official history of planning as a defined profession celebrates the state and its traditions of city building and regional development this collection of essays reveals a flip side This scrutiny of the class race gender ethnic or other biased agendas previously hidden in planning histories points to the need for new planning paradigms for our multicultural cities of the future Photos Introduction to Community Development Jerry W. Robinson, Gary Paul Green, 2011 Introduction to Community Development provides students of community and economic development with a theoretical and practical introduction to the field of community development Bringing together leading scholars in the field of community development the book follows the curriculum needs in offering a progression from theory to practice beginning with a theoretical overview an historical overview and the various approaches to community development Fighting Sprawl and City Hall Michael F. Logan, 1995-09 The line is drawn in cities of the American West on one side chambers of commerce developers and civic boosters advocating economic growth on the other environmentalists and concerned citizens who want to limit what they see as urban sprawl While this conflict is usually considered to have its origins in the rise of environmental activism during the late 1960s opposition to urban growth in the Southwest began as early as the economic boom that followed World War II Evidence of this resistance abounds but it has been largely ignored by both western and urban historians Fighting Sprawl and City Hall now sets the record straight tracing the roots of antigrowth activism in two southwestern cities Tucson and Albuquerque where urbanization proceeded in the face of constant protest Logan tells how each of these cities witnessed multifaceted opposition to post war urbanization and a rise in political activism during the 1950s For each city he describes the efforts by civic boosters and local government to promote development showing how these booster government alliances differed in effectiveness tells how middle class Anglos first voiced opposition to annexations and zoning reforms through standard forms of political protest such as referendums and petitions then documents the shift to ethnic resistance as Hispanics opposed urban renewal plans that targeted barrios Environmentalism he reveals was a relative latecomer to the political arena and became a focal point for otherwise disparate forms of resistance Logan s study enables readers to understand not only these similarities in urban activism but also important differences for example Tucson provides the stronger example of resistance based on valuation of the physical environment while Albuquerque better demonstrates anti annexation politics For each locale it offers a testament to grass roots activism that will be of interest to historians as well as to citizens of its subject cities The Relational Fabric of Community Kenneth C. Bessant, 2018-04-10 Theoretical and philosophical work on community has yielded multifold definitions and analytical frameworks Kenneth C Bessant reflects on the inherent complexity and diversity of this deeply intersubjective aspect of lived social experience He explores the relational underpinnings of early and more contemporary approaches to the study of community with a particular emphasis on their core assumptions concepts and tenets Each of these perspectives offers a relatively distinct interpretation of community while also revealing the intrinsically relational fabric of its perpetual emergence dynamism and transformation The being with of relational social existence is the fundamental basis upon which all conceptions of community are built and this is the epicenter around which the book revolves Community is born of exists within and brings forth social relations It is a living expression of relational willing thinking and acting American Sacred Space David Chidester,Edward T. Linenthal,1995-11-22 In a series of pioneering studies this book examines the creation and the conflict behind the creation of sacred space in America The essays in this volume visit places in America where economic political and social forces clash over the sacred and the profane from wilderness areas in the American West to the Mall in Washington D C and they investigate visions of America as sacred space at home and abroad Here are the beginnings of a new American religious history told as the story of the contested spaces it has inhabited The contributors are David Chidester Matthew Glass Edward T Linenthal Colleen McDannell Robert S Michaelson Rowland A Sherrill and Bron Taylor

Reconstructing Public Housing Matthew Thompson,2020 Reconstructing Public Housing tells the story of Liverpool s cooperative revolution in municipal housing development in the 1970s how this laid the foundations for the first ever architectural or urban regeneration project to win the artworld s coveted Turner Prize and what this says about how we might renew public housing collectively Creative Strategies for Conflict Management & Community Building Christian Ndubueze Anyanwu,2009-11 This book in applying the asset mapping theory of Kretzmann and McKnight 1993 developed a positive communication strategy for minimizing conflicts and building a more Collaborative Communities in Organizations and Churches with much emphasis on inclusivity consensus and commitment to common vision and ideals While critically reviewing the traditional conflict theories in their approaches to conflict management the book uses the new lens provided by the asset mapping theory to recommend for a paradigm shift in the way people look at organizations and conflicts A new emphasis therefore is on the positive elements in organizations the assets that lie within individuals and groups as the key to minimizing conflict in organizations Besides unlike the traditional conflict theories which sees conflict as a problem this new lens sees conflict within organizations as functional and opportunities for growth The book equally identifies some of the significant factors that cause ethnic conflicts within organizations such as Prejudices among Ethnic Groups Differences of Ethnic Groups Power Struggle among Ethnic Groups Discrimination and Injustice against Groups Lack of Participatory Communication and Lack of Participatory Leadership Finally in reviewing the relevant literatures on Community Building the book underlines the various variables that make Community Building possible Such variables include Discovering and Mobilizing the Assets of Individuals and Groups within Organizations Building Relationships among Individuals and Groups within Organizations Building a more Participatory Leadership within Organizations Building a more Participatory Communication within Organizations Creating more Awareness on the necessity of Collaborative Initiatives as well as Promoting the Common Cultural Values and Ideals that holds Individuals and Groups together within Organization

Selling the Lower East Side Christopher Mele, 2000 The Lower East Side of Manhattan is rich in stories of poor immigrants who flocked there in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries of beatniks hippies and artists who peopled it mid century and of the real estate developers and politicians who have always shaped what is now termed the East Village Today the musical Rent plays on Broadway to a mostly white and suburban audience MTV exploits the neighborhood's newly trendy squalor in a film promotion and on the Internet a cyber soap opera and travel related Web pages lure members of the middle class to enjoy a commodified and sanitized version of the neighborhood In this sweeping account Christopher Mele analyzes the political and cultural forces that have influenced the development of this distinctive community He describes late nineteenth century notions of the Lower East Side as a place of entrenched poverty ethnic plurality political activism and low culture that elicited feelings of revulsion and fear among the city's elite and middle classes The resulting and ongoing struggle between government and residents over affordable and decent housing has in turn affected real estate practices and urban development policies Selling the Lower East Side recounts the resistance tactics used by community residents as well as the impulse on the part of some to perpetuate the image of the neighborhood as dangerous romantic and bohemian clinging to the marginality that has been central to the identity of the East Village and subverting attempts to portray it as new and improved Ironically this very image of urban grittiness has been appropriated by a cultural marketplace hungry for new fodder Mele explores the ways that developers media executives and others have coopted the area's characteristics analyzing the East Village as a style provider where what is being marketed is difference The result is a visionary look at how political and economic actions transform neighborhoods and at what happens when a neighborhood is what is being consumed

Sorting Out the New South City Tom Hanchett, 2017-10-06 One of the largest and fastest growing cities in the South Charlotte North Carolina came of age in the New South decades of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries transforming itself from a rural courthouse village to the trading and financial hub of America's premier textile manufacturing region In this book Thomas Hanchett traces the city's spatial evolution over the course of a century exploring the interplay of national trends and local forces that shaped Charlotte and by extension other New South urban centers Hanchett argues that racial and economic segregation are not age old givens but products of a decades long process Well after the Civil War Charlotte's whites and blacks workers and business owners all lived intermingled in a salt and pepper pattern The rise of large manufacturing enterprises in the 1880s and 1890s brought social and political upheaval however and the city began to sort out into a checkerboard of distinct neighborhoods segregated by both race and class When urban renewal and other federal funds became available in the mid twentieth century local leaders used the money to complete the sorting out process creating a sector pattern in which wealthy whites increasingly lived on one side of town and blacks on the other
