Contesting Childhood Michael G. Wyness, 2000 Wyness argues for new more effective conceptions of childhood derived from analysis of recent social policy

Disputing Discipline Franziska Fay, 2021-04-16 Disputing Discipline explores how global and local children s rights activists efforts within the school systems of Zanzibar to eradicate corporal punishment are changing the archipelago s moral and political landscape Through an equal consideration of child and adult perspectives Fay explores what child protection means for Zanzibari children who have to negotiate their lives at the intersections of universalized and local child protection aspirations while growing up to be pious and responsible adults Through a visual and participatory ethnographic approach that foregrounds young people s voices through their poetry photographs and drawings paired with in depth Swahili language analysis Fay shows how children s views and experiences can transform our understanding of child protection This book demonstrates that to improve interventions policy makers and practitioners need to understand child protection beyond a policy sense of the term and respond to the reality of children s lives to avoid unintentionally compromising rather than improving young people s well being

Representing Childhood and Atrocity Victoria Nesfield, Philip Smith, 2022-12-01 Atrocity presents a problem to the writer of children s literature To represent events of such terrible magnitude and impersonal will as the Holocaust the transatlantic slave trade or the Rwandan genocide such that they fit into a three act structure with a comprehensible moral and a happy ending is to do a disservice to the victims Yet to confront children with the fact of widescale violence without resolution is to confront them with realities that may be emotionally disturbing and even damaging Despite these challenges however there exists a considerable body of work for and about children that addresses atrocity To examine the ways in which writers and artists have attempted to address children s experience of atrocity this collection brings together original essays by an international group of scholars working in the fields of child studies children s literature comics studies education English literature and Holocaust genocide and memory studies It covers a broad geographical range and includes works by established authors and emerging voices

Childhood, Youth, and Social Work in Transformation Lynn M. Nybell, Jeffrey J. Shook, Janet L. Hörschelmann, R. Colls, 2009-10-21 Demonstrating the contested and differentiated nature of childhood and youth embodiment this book responds to political and media discourses that stigmatise unruly youthful bodies by combining the critical analysis of imagined and disciplined youthful bodies with a focus on young people's lived and performed embodied subjectivities Children as Caregivers Jean Hunleth, 2017-03-03 In Zambia due to the rise of tuberculosis and the closely connected HIV epidemic a large number of children have experienced the illness or death of at least one parent Children as Caregivers examines how well intentioned practitioners fail to realize that children take on active caregiving roles when their guardians become seriously ill and demonstrates why understanding children's care is crucial for global health policy Using ethnographic methods and listening to the voices of the young as well as adults Jean Hunleth makes the caregiving work of children visible She shows how children actively seek to get closer to ill guardians by providing good care Both children and ill adults define good care as attentiveness of the young to adults physical needs the ability to carry out treatment and medication programs in the home and above all the need to maintain physical closeness and proximity Children understand that losing their guardians will not only be emotionally devastating but that such loss is likely to set them adrift in Zambian society where education and advancement depend on maintaining familial reciprocal relationships View a gallery of images from the book <https://www.flickr.com/photos/childrenascaregivers> Children's Voices from the Past Kristine Moruzi, Nell Musgrove, Carla Pascoe Leahy, 2019-04-23 This book explores a central methodological issue at the heart of studies of the histories of children and childhood It questions how we understand the perspectives of children in the past and not just those of the adults who often defined and constrained the parameters of youthful lives Drawing on a range of different sources including institutional records interviews artwork diaries letters memoirs and objects this interdisciplinary volume uncovers the voices of historical children and discusses the challenges of situating these voices and interpreting juvenile agency and desire Divided into four sections the book considers children's voices in different types of historical records examining children's letters and correspondence as well as multimedia texts such as film advertising and art along with oral histories and institutional archives The Children in Child Health Julie Spray, 2020-03-13 A journey into the lives of children coping in a world compromised by poverty and inequality The Children in Child Health challenges the invisibility of children's perspectives in health policy and argues that paying attention to what children do is critical for understanding the practical and policy implications of these experiences China's Left-Behind Children Xiaojin Chen, 2024-04-12 Paying special attention to the seventy million children left behind by internal migrants in rural China this book investigates the role of parental migration and the left behind status of their children in shaping family dynamics and the children's general wellbeing including school performance delinquency resilience feelings of ambiguous loss and other psychological problems youth and adulthood This handbook will meet the needs of childhood and youth researchers and the academics in the field It recognizes the changing social context of the lives of children and young people while developing theoretical frameworks and discussing about the core substantive issues of Children and Youth Studies
