Contesting Forestry In West Africa:

Contesting Forestry in West Africa Reginald Cline-Cole, Clare Madge, 2017-11-30 This title was first published in 2000 This study looks at the contestation of forestry in West Africa taking into account historical considerations cultural negotiations and environmental issues

Dynamics of Forest Ecosystems in Central Africa During the Holocene: Past - Present - Future J. Runge, 2014-04-21 Bringing together experts from several disciplines this volume collects the best papers presented at the international workshop on Environmental and Cultural Change in West and Central Africa held in Cameroon March 2006 Problems of Holocene and Late Pleistocene modifications of the rain forest savanna fringe and their possible influence on cultural innovations are discussed This is an important resource for those concerned with tropical forests and related development problems of third world countries It is an excellent source of information for new original manuscripts on the topic of Late Pleistocene and Holocene landscape evolution in the lower latitudes of Africa

West African Worlds Reginald Cline-Cole, Elsbeth Robson, 2016-02-17 West African Worlds provides a critical assessment of social economic and political change in Africa's most populous and arguably most externally focused region With an emphasis on globalisation and modernisation case studies and commentary are integrated throughout to highlight the concerns and issues of the region Enriched by an impressive mix of West African voices this text combines theory and application with policy and practice to address socio economic change the pursuit of livelihoods and development within West Africa

Green Development Bill Adams, 2008-07-30 The third edition retains the clear and powerful argument of previous editions but has been updated to reflect advances in ideas and changes in international policy Greater attention has been given to political ecology environmental risk and the environmental impacts of development

Development as Theory and Practice David Simon, Anders Narman, 2014-09-25 The first book in the DARG series Development as Theory and Practice provides the only student textbook which addresses broad contemporary perspectives and debates on development and development cooperation It introduces the notions of development and what it means from different perspectives i.e. from the point of view of academics in the wake of the New World Order regional specialists detached from the field Third World students of development and development practitioners The second part of the book focuses on development aid and examines the changing relationship between donors and recipients and the effects of these relationships on the wider communities in these countries and current re-evaluations of aid in principle and practice Development as Theory and Practice is an ideal course text for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate courses in development aid as part of degree programmes in Development Studies Geography Politics Sociology and Anthropology It will also be of interest to researchers and development practitioners and professionals

West African Chimpanzees Rebecca Kormos, 2003 Wild chimpanzees are only found in tropical Africa where their populations have declined by more than 66% in the last 30 years This Action Plan focuses on one of the four chimpanzee subspecies the western chimpanzee which is one of the two subspecies most threatened with extinction This publication presents a plan for action that represents a consensus among all parties concerned with the conservation of chimpanzees History of Ashanti by Otumfuo, Nana Osei Agyeman Prempeh II Tom C McCaskie,2022-12-31 A history of Asante from the late 17th century to the 1930s authorized and produced by the 12th Asantehene Osei Agyeman Prempeh II Perhaps the single longest historical work produced by a ruler of any sub Saharan African society this is an indigenous account of the three hundred year history of a still vigorous African polity

Reclaiming Nature James K. Boyce,Sunita Narain,Elizabeth A. Stanton,2007 In Reclaiming Nature leading environmental thinkers from across the globe explore the relationship between human activities and the natural This is a bold and comprehensive text of major interest to both students of the environment and professionals involved in policy making

Food and Foodways in African Narratives Jonathan Highfield,2017-04-07 Food is a defining feature in every culture Despite its very basic purpose of sustaining life it directly impacts the community culture and heritage in every region around the globe in countless seen and unseen ways including the literature and narratives of each region Across the African continent food and foodways which refer to the ways that humans consume produce and experience food were influenced by slavery and forced labor colonization foreign aid and the anxieties prompted by these encounters all of which can be traced through the ways food is seen in narratives by African and colonial storytellers The African continent is home to thousands of cultures but nearly every one has experienced alteration of its foodways because of slavery transcontinental trade and colonization Food and Foodways in African Narratives Community Culture and Heritage takes a careful look at these alterations as seen through African narratives throughout various cultures and spanning centuries Ecology and Power in the Age of Empire Corey Ross,2017 Ecology and Power in the Age of Empire provides the first wide ranging environmental history of the heyday of European imperialism from the late nineteenth century to the end of the colonial era It focuses on the ecological dimensions of the explosive growth of tropical commodity production global trade and modern resource management strategies that still visibly shape our world today and how they were related to broader social cultural and political developments in Europe s colonies Covering the overseas empires of all the major European powers Corey Ross argues that tropical environments were not merely a stage on which conquest and subjugation took place but were an essential part of the colonial project profoundly shaping the imperial enterprise even as they were shaped by it The story he tells is not only about the complexities of human experience but also about people s relationship with the ecosystems in which they were themselves embedded the soil water plants and animals that were likewise a part of Europe s empire Although it shows that imperial conquest rarely represented the signal ecological trauma that some accounts suggest it nonetheless demonstrates that modern imperialism marked a decisive and largely negative milestone for the natural environment By relating the expansion of modern empire global trade and mass consumption to the momentous ecological shifts that they entailed this book provides a historical perspective on the vital nexus of social political and environmental issues that we face in the twenty first century world Sustainability Challenges in Sub-Saharan Africa I Alexandros Gasparatos, Abubakari Ahmed, Merle Naidoo, Alice Karanja, Kensuke Fukushi, Osamu Saito, Kazuhiko Takeuchi, 2020-09-04 The aim of this 2 volume book is to highlight how Sustainability Science approaches can help solve some of the pervasive challenges that Africa faces The volumes collect a number of local case studies throughout Africa that adopt transdisciplinary and problem oriented research approaches using methodologies from the natural and the social sciences These are put into perspective with chapters that introduce key sustainability challenges such using a regional focus Through this multi scale and inter transdisciplinary approach the proposed volume will provide an authoritative source that will pack in a single volume a large amount of information on how Sustainability Science approaches sustainability challenges in African contexts While there have been general books about sustainability science none has had a strong African focus As a result the 2 volume set fills a major gap in the Sustainability Science scholarship This volume sets the stage for the series Part I introduces key sustainability challenges in Africa Parts II III highlights specific case studies related to these challenges from West and Central Africa Forests in Landscapes Stewart Maginnis, Jeffrey A Sayer, 2013-06-17 At last a really useful book telling us how all the rhetoric about ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management is being translated into practical solutions on the ground CLAUDE MARTIN WWF INTERNATIONAL For too long foresters have seen forests as logs waiting to be turned into something useful This book demonstrates that forests in fact have multiple values and managing them as ecosystems will bring more benefits to a greater cross section of the public JEFFREY A MCNEELY CHIEF SCIENTIST IUCN This book demonstrates that ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management are neither alternative methods of forest management nor are they simply complicated ways of saying the same thing They are both emerging concepts for more integrated and holistic ways of managing forests within larger landscapes in ways that optimize benefits to all stakeholders ACHIM STEINER AND IAN JOHNSON FROM THE FOREWORD Recent innovations in Sustainable Forest Management and Ecosystem Approaches are resulting in forests increasingly being managed as part of the broader social ecological systems in which they exist Forests in Landscapes reviews changes that have occurred in forest management in recent decades Case studies from Europe Canada the United States Russia Australia the Congo and Central America provide a wealth of international examples of innovative practices Cross cutting chapters examine the political ecology and economics of forest management and review the information needs and the use and misuse of criteria and indicators to achieve broad societal goals for forests A concluding chapter draws out the key lessons of changes in forest management in recent decades and sets out some thoughts for the future This book is a must read for practitioners researchers and policy makers concerned with forests and land use It contains lessons for all those concerned with forests as sources of people s livelihoods and as part of rural landscapes Published with IUCN and PROFOR Urban Growth and Land Degradation in Developing Cities Roy Maconachie, 2016-02-11 The peri urban interface in poor countries is frequently an area of great dynamism and a focus of competition for basic resources In Nigeria peri urban livelihood strategies have become an increasingly important survival mechanism in the context of rapid urban growth This book uses an innovative combination of methodologies from both the natural and social sciences to examine recent developments in and around the city of Kano in northern Nigeria and in doing so provides insights into the sustainability of these livelihood strategies Identifying some of the most significant forces that are currently shaping the process of peri urban change it argues that despite the adoption of creative and ingenious strategies by many farmers urban growth is having a considerable effect on the livelihood resilience of individuals households and communities The findings presented in this book have much wider relevance and are transferable to other burgeoning Third World cities where increased pressures on urban hinterlands have intensified contests amongst various actors made access to resources much more difficult and made traditional smallholder mechanisms of adaptation and resilience increasingly challenging

Critical Political Ecology Timothy Forsyth, 2004-11-23 Critical Political Ecology brings political debate to the science of ecology As political controversies multiply over the science underlying environmental debates there is an increasing need to understand the relationship between environmental science and politics In this timely and wide ranging volume Tim Forsyth uses an innovative approach to apply political analysis to ecology and demonstrates how more politicised approaches to science can be used in environmental decision making Critical Political Ecology examines how social and political factors frame environmental science and how science in turn shapes politics how new thinking in philosophy and sociology of science can provide fresh insights into the biophysical causes and impacts of environmental problems how policy and decision makers can acknowledge the political influences on science and achieve more effective public participation and governance

Producing Nature and Poverty in Africa Vigdis Broch-Due, Richard A. Schroeder, 2000 Drawing on case studies from eight different countries the contributors to this provocative collection of essays demonstrate quite clearly that environmental programmes often have direct and far reaching consequences for the distribution of wealth and poverty and that they constitute one of the major forms of foreign and state intervention in contemporary African affairs

Colonial Seeds in African Soil Paul Munro, 2020-02-03 Empire forestry the broadly shared forest management practice that emerged in the West in the nineteenth century may have originated in Europe but it would eventually reshape the landscapes of colonies around the world Melding the approaches of environmental history and political ecology Colonial Seeds in African Soil unravels the complex ways this dynamic played out in twentieth century colonial Sierra Leone While giving careful attention to topics such as forest reservation and exploitation the volume moves beyond conservation practices and discourses attending to the overlapping social economic and political contexts that have shaped approaches to forest management over time

African Frontiers John Idriss Lahai, Tanya Lyons, 2016-03-23 Through a multidisciplinary approach African Frontiers counters the superficial Eurocentric and gender insensitive dominant discursive representation of Africa within the discourse of war and conflict management and security and peace nation building The chapters historicize and theorize the realities in postcolonial African states and the ramifications on the continents future Situating the study within the context of the prevailing cultural and geo political realities in the postcolonial African states the chapters illustrate the complex ways in which events and processes are experienced at the local level and how these local realities in turn impact and shape the patterns of political and military engagement in Africa and beyond Organized along three major themes Insurgency governance and peacebuilding expert researchers from around the world contribute chapters on Rebel and insurgent formations such as the RUF the LRA and Boko Haram state governance and corruption terrorism and counter terrorism security and peacebuilding focussing on the tensions and challenges facing post conflict societies such as Sierra Leone Rwanda and the newest nation state on the continent South Sudan This highly significant and topical study problematizes the impact of wars on African nations as well as the epistemological framing of the local realities and fallouts of armed conflict on post colonial states

KANO A.I. Tanko,2014-01-29 The study of African language pedagogy and use in the Diaspora was initiated in the 1960s as African countries attained independence from colonial powers In the continent the enthusiasm for the use of indigenous languages and scholarship has remained relatively moderate as scholars are conflicted in their loyalty to imperial languages The attitude towards the use of African languages by African leaders has also hampered scholars efforts to create and sustain the needed visibility for African languages around the world Needless to say the study of African languages is not only critical to the study of language theories but also important in changing Africa s overwhelming reliance on European languages to communicate with each other The reliance has not only affected the politics of the continent but also its economic wellbeing An analysis of the enormous developmental challenges facing the African continent will reveal that many of the economic social political and cultural challenges have major language components It can actually be said that the challenges of development in Africa are either outright language challenges or are language based More significantly at the social level in many parts of the continent African languages are now perceived as inadequate means of communication Language Pedagogy and Language Use in Africa discusses the importance of teaching and using of African languages in the African continent and beyond and provides illustrations of both their direct and indirect use a result of historical and contemporary contacts language planning policies and pedagogical concerns The book contributes to the on going discussion on the pedagogy promotion and use of African languages both on the continent and in the Diaspora
