My Father's Faith Dr. Jacqueline M. Gaither Respress, 2015-11-17 My Father's Faith tells the personal and inspiring story of the Christian faith in action in the life of Dr. Jacqueline M. Gaither Respress, a lifelong educator. She blends together narratives, poetry, passages from the Scriptures, significant quotations, and her own research to accomplish two entwined goals. In the pages of My Father's Faith, she shows how the strength of her Christian beliefs, passed on to her by her father, in particular, has sustained and strengthened her. Second, she uses her own story to map out a hopeful path for other African American women. She diagnoses the challenges and barriers that minority women face both in youth and adulthood in American culture. She shows how hope that touches the lives of academically challenged students finds a face in teachers who remain focused on helping their students learn. Whether you find personal testimonies of the power of faith to be inspiring or you desire to learn how the educational system can become a support to young minority females, My Father's Faith will meet your expectations. Along the way, you will come to know Dr. Respress and to appreciate the beauty of the faith that she inherited from her own father.

African American Females Eboni M. Zamani-Gallaher, Vernon C. Polite, 2013-07-01 African American Females: Addressing Challenges and Nurturing the Future illustrates that across education, health, and other areas of social life, opportunities are stratified along gender as well as race lines. The unequal distribution of wealth, power, and privilege between men and women intersects with race and class to create multiple levels of disadvantage. This book is one result of a unique forum intended to bring into focus the K-12 and postsecondary schooling issues and challenges affecting African American girls and women. Focusing on the historical antecedents of African American female participation and the contemporary context of access and opportunity for Black girls and women, the contributors to this collection pay particular attention to the interaction of gender with race, ethnicity, class, age, and health, with the central aim of encouraging thoughtful reading, critical thinking, and informed conversations about the necessity of exploring the lives of African American females. Additionally, the book frames important implications for recommended changes in policy and practice regarding a number of critical matters presently affecting African American females in schools and communities across the state of Michigan and nationwide.

African American Slavery and Disability Dea Boster, 2013-03-05 Disability is often mentioned in discussions of slave health, mistreatment, and abuse, but constructs of how able and disabled bodies influenced the institution of slavery have gone largely overlooked. This volume uncovers a history of disability in African American slavery from the primary record, analyzing how concepts of race and disability and power converged in the United States in the first half of the nineteenth century Slaves with physical and mental impairments often faced unique limitations and conditions in their diagnosis treatment and evaluation as property Slaves with disabilities proved a significant challenge to white authority figures torn between the desire to categorize them as different or defective and the practical need to incorporate their disorderly bodies into daily life Being physically unfit could sometimes allow slaves to escape the limitations of bondage and oppression and establish a measure of self control Furthermore ideas about and reactions to disability appearing as social construction legal definition medical phenomenon metaphor or masquerade highlighted deep struggles over bodies in bondage in antebellum America
