Second International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood,P. Hallinger,2012-12-06 The first International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Leithwood et al was published in 1996 and quickly became something of a best seller for reference works within education Such success we suggest was at least partly due to the unprecedented global waves of concern for improving schools launched in the mid 1980 s combined with a widespread belief in leadership as the single most powerful contribution to such improvement The roots of this belief can be found in evidence produced by the early effective schools research although there is a romance with leadership as an explanation for success in many non school enterprises as well During the two year period during which this current handbook was being written activity in the realms of school leadership school improvement and leadership development gained further momentum The English government created its new National College of School Leadership and several Asian nations announced new initiatives in leadership selection preparation and development Education Research and Policy Jennifer Ozga,Terri Seddon,Thomas S. Popkewitz,2006 The 2006 edition of one of the most respected annual publication in education focusing on research and its effects on educational policy around the globe A Global Perspective of Social Justice Leadership for School Principals Pamela S. Angelle,2017-05-01 Within education there have been some notable attempts to frame social justice in ways that can help to explain and understand the practices of those working in schools especially school leaders The research contained in this book seeks to enhance our understanding of school leaders actions as they work to promote socially just practices and or outcomes in a range of different national contexts The unique nature of this research is that studies took place in numerous schools across the globe in a variety of contexts yet utilized the same research protocols This has allowed the researchers to draw conclusions at an international level about social justice decision making the supports and barriers brought on school leaders by national policy and mandates and the essential nature of context in the work of social justice leadership The audience will include scholars on a global scale given that cases in the book include authors and principals from around the world The book can also serve as a text for leadership preparation courses as well as courses in social justice research design and qualitative research methodologies Courses in human relations and communication can use the content as examples of the negotiations and challenges of teamwork in international settings A primary audience for the book is system school level leaders in contexts and communities throughout the world for understanding comparative leadership and social justice decision making Current principals will find the cases useful as reflexive tools for their own work Educational leaders educational reformers and policy makers will benefit from this book as they seek to understand the impact of their work and its influence on promoting equity in schools across the globe World Yearbook of Education 2006 Jenny Ozga, Terri Seddon, Thomas S. Popkewitz, 2013-01-11 This volume considers the ways in which educational research is being shaped by policy across the globe Policy effects on research are increasingly influential as policies in and beyond education drive the formation of a knowledge based economy by supporting increased international competitiveness through more effective evidence based interventions in schooling education and training systems What consequences does this increased steering have for research in education How do transnational agencies make their influence felt on educational research How do national systems and traditions of educational research and relations with policy respond to these new pressures What effects does it have on the quality of research and on the freedom of researchers to pursue their own agendas The 2006 volume of the World Yearbook of Education explores these issues focusing on three key themes globalising policy and research in education steering education research in national contexts global local politics of education research The 2006 volume has a truly global reach incorporating transnational policy perspectives from the OECD and the European Commission alongside national cases from across the world in contrasting contexts that include North and South America Canada France Singapore China Russia and New Zealand The range of contributions reflect how pervasive these developments are how much is new in this situation and to what extent evidence based policy pressures on research in education build on past relationships between education and policy This book considers the impact of the steering processes on the work and identities of individual researchers and considers how research can be organised to play a more active role in the politics of the knowledge economy and learning society World Yearbook of Education 2005 David Coulby, Evie Zambeta, 2005-01-14 This volume deals with two major and apparently opposing forces within education and society globalization and nationalism Globalization is often considered in economic terms of continued growth of international trade and a concentration of wealth in corporate hands yet it also encompasses technological political and cultural change The World Yearbook of Education 2005 explores the role of the education sector in our globalized knowledge economy and considers the political implications of this in terms of monopolarity and the cultural consequences of homogenization and Americanization The other strand of this study nationalism remains a persistent force within education and society in all parts of the world and this volume examines the extent to which it can fuel conflict at all levels through prejudice and intolerance Concentrating on the epistemological consequences of nationalism leading international thinkers examine the extent to which it is reflected in the curricula of schools and universities around the world Finally the complex relationship between globalization and nationalism is explored and contributors explore the part that educational institutions and practices play in forming both agendas A wide range of perspectives are employed including post colonial discourse classical economics and sociological theory Nationalism and globalization are both ongoing processes and this volume makes a case for the central role of education in both through its potential to influence change and to act as benevolent force in shaping a global community The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in Education Policy and Politics Bob Lingard, Jenny Ozga, 2007-01-24 This Reader brings together selected papers from leading scholars to address the most significant recent development in educational policy and politics the impact of globalisation The papers discuss document and analyse evidence of globalisation s effects on the new direction of education policies and practices and in the production of globalised agendas for the redesign of state provision and the governance of education The Reader is organised in two parts The first part provides a selection of articles that interrogate globalisation and its effects from a variety of analytical perspectives and explore what kind of politics are possible in the framing context of globalisation The second part documents and discusses different types of engagement with politics and policy in a variety of settings and sectors including numerous European and Pacific Rim policy contexts This important collection underlines the need to approach globalisation education policy and politics from numerous perspectives and offers analytical empirical and theoretical resources for the reframing of contemporary education politics Students of educational policy and politics will find this Reader an invaluable resource for understanding theorising and researching in these academic fields Ruraling Education Research Philip Roberts, Melyssa Fuqua, 2021-05-15 This edited volume brings together a collection of chapters from leading scholars in rural education with the purpose of linking knowledge from the rural education field to the wider discipline of education studies Through addressing significant issues in the rural education field the book gives insights from rural education that have general relevance for the wider disciplines of education and provides up to date scholarship in research in rural contexts This book aims to be a definitive and comprehensive edition of contemporary rural education scholarship that works as a guide for those new to researching in and for rural contexts as well as actively expand the other sub fields of education from a rural perspective It examines the connection between rurality and the other domains of educational research exploring what a rural perspective might bring to the broader fields of educational research and how it might evolve them In its unique approach this book brings the concept of rural to the disciplines of education chapters regarding the ethics of research in the rural context speaks to a gap in rural education and provide tools for engaging marginalised communities more generally in educational research Globalizing Education Policy Fazal Rizvi, Bob Lingard, 2009-12-04 Rizvi and Lingard s account of the global politics of education is thoughtful complex and compelling It is the first really comprehensive discussion and analysis of global trends in education policy their effects structural and individual and resistance to them In the enormous body of writing on globalisation this book stands out and will become a basic text in education policy courses around the world Stephen J Ball Karl Mannheim Professor of Sociology of Education Institute of Education University of London UK In what ways have the processes of globalization reshaped the educational policy terrain How might we analyse education policies located within this new terrain which is at once local national regional and global In Globalizing Education Policy the authors explore the key global drivers of policy change in education and suggest that these do not operate in the same way in all nation states They examine the transformative effects of globalization on the discursive terrain within which educational policies are developed and enacted arguing that this terrain is increasingly informed by a range of neo liberal precepts which have fundamentally changed the ways in which we think about educational governance They also suggest that whilst in some countries these precepts are resisted to some extent they have nonetheless become hegemonic and provide an overview of some critical issues in educational policy to which this hegemonic view of globalization has given rise including devolution and decentralization new forms of governance the balance between public and private funding of education access and equity and the education of girls curriculum particularly with respect to the teaching of English language and technology pedagogies and high stakes testing and the global trade in education These issues are explored within the context of major shifts in global processes and ideological discourses currently being experienced and negotiated by all countries The book also provides an approach to education policy analysis in an age of globalization and will be of interest to those studying globalization and education policy across the social sciences

Bad Mouthing Jenny Corbett, 2013-11-05 The power of language is overwhelming and this is shown in the way in which words are used to define portray and explain people and situations With this in mind then it is interesting to note how the language of special needs has always been composed of words and images which foster fear mistrust loathing and hostility idiot imbecile and moron are frequently used as terms of abuse Whilst there has been considerable theorizing on the psychological and sociological aspects of special education as well as a recognition of the influence of policies and politics there has not yet been a concerted attempt to analyze the way in which language is used to create codes and images This general lack of interest may be because semantics seem peripheral to special education the focus has rather been on individual case studies teaching programmes legislation and practice Jenny Corbett however has a particular interest in the language of special needs Over the past few years she has explored the ways in which new discourses have emerged to challenge those of enlightened modernity the political correctness of special needs language in the mid 1990s and the ways in which imagery is changing as proud labels displace the legacy of negativity In this book the author brings together the findings of these explorations as she looks at where the language of special needs has emerged from where it seems to be going at present and what is likely to become of it in the near future In order to more fully understand why some learners are marginalised and given an inferior status says Jenny Corbett it is important to explore the way in which language has been used

Gail E. FitzSimons, 2005-12-15 J R GEN MAASS WOLFGANG SCHL GLMANN THEORY AND PRACTICE OF MATHEMATICS EDUCATION FOR ADULTS Our world is dominated by technological developments The philosopher Heinz H Ismann wrote that Atom Gen and Bit are the three basic principles now see H Ismann 1985 Each of the so called new technologies is based upon mathematics The first computer was built as a part of the Manhattan Project to calculate models of the atomic bomb The human genome project uses computers very often to find out the structure of the genome And computers are mathematical machines materialised mathematics Social organisations companies and not least governments use computers to process information A precondition for this is to formalise the social or economical structure which produces the information This formalisation is a type of mathematisation too The social and economical models of organisations or companies are a part of the process of mathematising the world Last but not least mathematics is a part of everyday life and work People handle money buy things do handywork at home measure areas to paint and so on All together mathematics is not only the basis for technology economy work and everyday life but a part of our culture It seems clear that everyone in our society should know more about this Homo Sapiens Europæus Michael Kuhn, Ronald G. Sultana, 2006 In many ways education mirrors society by reflecting changing and emergent goals and values as well as by contributing to both the reproduction and production of particular life forms In the context of the formative project Europe education is called upon to play an increasingly central role one that is responsive to particular images of the European Union and to its aspirations and goals The widespread conviction is that education and training will re invigorate ailing economies and that in the context of globalization national and regional competitiveness will only prevail if there is a qualitative continued improvement in human capital This volume critically examines such claims considering the ways in which learning is being constructed across Europe and the implications this has for notions of democratic citizenship and education
