Fashioning Feminism in Cuba and Beyond Brigida M.

Pastor, 2003 Though open public discussion of the oppression of women was precluded by the nature of Hispanic societies during the nineteenth century some Hispanic women among them the Cuban writer Gertrudis Gmez de Avellaneda subtly sought to promote ideas of emancipation Focusing upon her autobiographical letters and a selection of her novels and drawing on contemporary psychoanalytical feminist theory this book traces the evolution of Avellaneda's feminism showing how she developed a series of narrative techniques and stylistic resources to explore male and female self representation and subvert the existing textual tradition Fashioning Feminism in Cuba and Beyond establishes Avellaneda at the forefront of both Cuban and Hispanic nineteenth century literature and feminist thought

Spanish American Women's Use of the Word Stacey Schlau, 2022-10-18 Women's participation both formal and informal in the creation of what we now call Spanish America is reflected in its literary legacy Stacey Schlau examines what women from a wide spectrum of classes and races have to say about the societies in which they lived and their place in them Schlau has written the first book to study a historical selection of Spanish American women's writings with an emphasis on social and political themes Through their words she offers an alternative vision of the development of narrative genres critical fictional and testimonial from colonial times to the present The authors considered here represent the chronological yet nonlinear development of women's narrative They include Teresa Romero Zapata accused before the Inquisition of being a false visionary Inés Suárez nun and writer of spiritual autobiography Gertrudis Gmez de Avellaneda author of an indigenist historical romance Magda Portal whose biography of Flora Tristán furthered her own political agenda Dora Alonso who wrote revolutionary children's books Domitila Barrios de Chungara political leader and organizer Elvira Orphé whose novel unpacks the psychology of the torturer and several others who address social and political struggles that continue to the present day Although the writers treated here may seem to have little in common all sought to maneuver through institutions and systems and insert themselves into public life by using the written word often through the appropriation and modification of mainstream genres In examining how these authors stretched the boundaries of genre to create a multiplicity of hybrid forms Schlau reveals points of convergence in the narrative tradition of challenging established political and social structures Outlining the shape of this literary tradition she introduces us to a host of neglected voices as well as examining better known ones who demonstrate that for women simply writing can be a political act

Transatlantic Translations Julio Ortega,2006

Transatlantic Translations refigures Latin American narratives outside of the current paradigm of victimization and resistance Julio Ortega is more concerned to examine how what was different is constructed in terms of what was already known and to explore what he terms the radical principle of the new intermixing Tracing Latin American representations from the early modern era to our own in the work of Shakespeare Inca Garcilaso de la Vega Guaman Poma de Ayala Juan Rulfo and Gabriel Garcia Marquez among others Ortega reveals that language was not solely a way for colonizers to indoctrinate and civilize but also a means that enabled Latin Americans to argue and negotiate their versions and appropriations and eventually to tell their own history The coordinated essays in Transatlantic Translations enable the Old World and the New to meet and debate together in a new language

Childhood and the Nation in Latin American Literature Richard L. Browning, 2001 This truly interdisciplinary work utilizes literature as a primary resource in examining the concept of childhood and how it is exploited and explored in nineteenth and twentieth century Latin America Little has been published on the history of childhood or children in Latin America Whether equating the child's potentiality with that of the nation or drawing an analogy between parent-child and state-citizen relationships whether using the child as representative of marginalized sectors of society or equating the status and role of the author in society with those of the child in the end such literary treatments of childhood result in a dehumanization of the child performed in the name of constructing a national identity
