Contextual Authority And Aesthetic Truth:

Contextual Authority and Aesthetic Truth James S. Hans, 1992-01-01 This book explores the relationship between authority and context and attempts to establish the ways in which authority is a function of a particular agent or set of agents and the degree to which it is a product of a context rather than an agent The work is not a sociological or psychological study but rather a literary philosophical speculation into the roots of our conceptions of authority It declares all authority to be aesthetic in nature and is based on an analysis of several key texts from various different cultural backgrounds Foucault Weber Nietzsche Confucius and Homer

Contextual Authority and Aesthetic Truth James S. Hans, 1992-07-01 This book explores the relationship between authority and context and attempts to establish the ways in which authority is a function of a particular agent or set of agents and the degree to which it is a product of a context rather than an agent The work is not a sociological or psychological study but rather a literary philosophical speculation into the roots of our conceptions of authority It declares all authority to be aesthetic in nature and is based on an analysis of several key texts from various different cultural backgrounds Foucault Weber Nietzsche Confucius and Homer Resentment and the Feminine in Nietzsche's Politico-Aesthetics Caroline Joan S. Picart, 2010-11-01 Nietzsche's remarks about women and femininity have generated a great deal of debate among philosophers some seeing them as ineradicably misogynist others interpreting them more favorably as ironic and potentially useful for modern feminism In this study Kay Picart uses a genealogical approach to track the way Nietzsche's initial use of feminine mythological figures as symbols for modernity's regenerative powers gradually gives way to an increasingly misogynistic politics resulting in the silencing and emasculation of his earlier configurations of the feminine While other scholars have focused on classifying the degree of offensiveness of Nietzsche's ambivalent and developing misogyny Picart examines what this misogyny means for his political philosophy as a whole Picart successfully shows how Nietzsche's increasingly derogatory treatment of the feminine in his post Zarathustran works is closely tied to his growing resentment over his inability to revive a decadent modernity

Artistic Truth Lambert Zuidervaat, 2004-10-18 It is unfashionable to talk about artistic truth Yet the issues traditionally addressed under that term have not disappeared Indeed questions concerning the role of the artist in society the relationship between art and knowledge and the validity of cultural interpretation have intensified Lambert Zuidervaat challenges intellectual fashions He proposes a new critical hermeneutics of artistic truth that engages with both analytic and continental philosophies and illuminates the contemporary cultural scene People turn to the arts as a way of finding orientation in their lives communities and institutions But philosophers hamstrung by their own theories of truth have been unsuccessful in accounting for this common feature in our lives This book portrays artistic truth as a process of imaginative disclosure in which expectations of authenticity significance and integrity prevail Understood in this way truth becomes central to the aesthetic and social value of the arts

Education, Science and Truth Rasoul Nejadmehr, 2009-03-04 This book argues that the cardinal problem with contemporary education is that it does not have an adequate notion of truth underpinning it Here Nejadmehr formulates a new version of the concept of objectivity based on the inclusion of multiple perspectives including ones from art philosophy and marginalised groups

The Golden Mean James S. Hans,1994-03-08 The Golden Mean reappraises the relationship among the three forms of good that exist in modern Western thought the good of aesthetic beauty and performance the good of right and wrong and the forces of social resentment that shape the public debate about what is appropriate to society's needs The book explores how the good found in aesthetics is linked to the good found in the ethical codes that govern people's lives. These goods interact with the sense of the community expressed in society's envy of those exemplary few who possess the powers of the aesthetic even as they too must subscribe to the same strictures by which ordinary people live. The book also demonstrates how the concept of a middle path, a straight and narrow way or a golden mean, develops to provide a measure by which people can make sense out of these seemingly disparate phenomena. The Golden Mean argues that our current dilemmas both inside and outside the university should prompt us to see more clearly how the aesthetic and the ethical are intrinsically related. We need to reassess their relationship to the future of our ways of thinking and the development of our communities. Engagement and Indifference Henry Sussman, Christopher Devenney, 2001-01-01 Explores the hidden political and ethical dimensions of the work of Samuel Beckett, an author who might otherwise be considered indifferent to such considerations. Complexities of Motion Steven P. Schneider, 1999 This volume gathers new essays on A.R. Ammons's long poems by many of the most influential critics of contemporary American poetry, including Helen Vendler, Marjorie Perloff, and Willard Spiegelman. It will serve for years to come as an important critical text on a vast body of work by one of the most prolific and innovative practitioners of the long poem in post-World War II American poetry. Complexities of Motion then is a collection of new critical articles on the entire range of Ammons's longer poems, beginning with Tape for the Turn of the Year (1965) and culminating with Glare (1997).

Mysteries of Attention James S. Hans, 1993-07-01 The Mysteries of Attention explores the principles of selection through which the nature of human attention is established and delineates the modes, forms, measures, and motifs of attention. It is a literary philosophical discussion of the ways in which our sense of the world is determined by the mechanisms of attention that always remain beyond our comprehension. International Studies in Philosophy, 1974 Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth-Century German Thought Eric S. Nelson, 2017-08-24 Presenting a comprehensive portrayal of the reading of Chinese and Buddhist philosophy in early twentieth-century German thought, Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth-Century German Thought examines the implications of these readings for contemporary issues in comparative and intercultural philosophy. Through a series of case studies from the late 19th century and early 20th century, Eric Nelson focuses on the reception and uses of Confucianism, Daoism, and Buddhism in German philosophy, covering figures as diverse as Buber, Heidegger, and Misch. He argues that the growing intertextuality between traditions cannot be appropriately interpreted through notions of exclusive identities, closed horizons, or unitary traditions. Providing an account of the context, motivations, and hermeneutical strategies of early twentieth-century European thinkers' interpretation of Asian philosophy, Nelson also throws new light on the question of the relation between Heidegger and Asian philosophy. Reflecting the growing interest in the possibility of intercultural and global philosophy, Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth-Century German Thought opens up the possibility of a more inclusive intercultural conception of philosophy.

Journal of Comparative Literature & Aesthetics, 1995 Rethinking Evolution in the Museum Monique Scott, 2007-11-19

Rethinking Evolution in the Museum explores the ways diverse natural history museum audiences imagine their evolutionary heritage. In particular, the book considers how the meanings constructed by audiences of museum exhibitions are a product of dynamic interplay between museum iconography and powerful images museum visitors bring with them to the museum. In doing so, the book illustrates how the preconceived images held by museum audiences about anthropology, Africa, and the museum itself strongly impact the human origins exhibition experience. Although museological theory has come increasingly to recognize that museum audiences make meaning in exhibitions or make their own complex interpretations of museum exhibitions, few scholars have explicitly asked how. Rethinking Evolution in the Museum however provides a rare window into visitor perceptions at four world class museums: the Natural History Museum and Horniman Museum in London, the National Museums of Kenya in Nairobi, and the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Through rigorous and novel mixed methods, quantitative and qualitative, covering nearly 500 museum visitors, this innovative study shows that audiences of human origins exhibitions interpret evolution exhibitions through a profoundly complex convergence of personal, political, intellectual, emotional, and cultural interpretive strategies. This book also reveals that natural history museum visitors often respond to museum exhibitions similarly because they use common cultural tools picked up from globalized popular media circulating outside of the museum. One tool of particular interest is the notion that human evolution has proceeded linearly from a bestial African prehistory to a civilized European present. Despite critical growths in anthropological science, and museum displays, the outdated Victorian progress motif lingers persistently in popular media and the popular imagination. Rethinking Evolution in the Museum sheds light on our relationship with natural history museums and will be crucial to those people interested in understanding the connection between the visitor, the museum, and media culture outside of the museum context.

Re-thinking Ressentiment Jeanne Riou, Mary Gallagher, 2016-05-15

The charge of Ressentiment can in today's world less from traditionally conservative quarters than from the neo-positivist discourses of particular forms of liberalism be used to undermine the argumentative credibility of political opponents, dissidents, and those who call for greater justice. The essays in this volume draw on the broad spectrum of cultural discourse on Ressentiment both in historical and contemporary contexts Starting with its conceptual genesis the essays also show contemporary nuances of Ressentiment as well as its influence on literary and philosophical discourse in the 20th century Pindar's Eyes David Fearn, 2017 Pindar's Eyes is a ground breaking interdisciplinary exploration of the interactions between Greek lyric poetry and visual and material culture in the early fifth century BCE Its aim is to open up analysis of lyric to the wider theme of aesthetic experience in early classical Greece with particular focus on the poetic mechanisms through which Pindar's victory odes use visual and material culture to engage their audiences Complete readings of Nemean 5 Nemean 8 and Pythian 1 reveal the poet's deep interest in the relations between lyric poetry and commemorative and religious sculpture as well as other significant visual phenomena while literary studies of his evocation of cultural attitudes through elaborate use of the lyric first person are combined with art historical treatments of ecphrasis of image and text and of art's framing of ritual experience in ancient Greece This specific aesthetic approach is expanded through fresh treatments of Simonides and Bacchylides own engagements with material culture as well as an account of Pindaric themes in the Aeginetan logoi of Herodotus Histories These come together to offer not just a novel perspective on the relationship between art and text in Pindaric poetry but to give rise to new claims about the nature of classical Greek visuality and ritual subjectivity and to foster a richer understanding of the ways in which classical poetry and art shaped the lives and experiences of their consumers
