Continent Ocean Interactions Within East Asian Marginal Seas Hc 2004:

Continent-Ocean Interactions Within East Asian Marginal Seas Peter Clift, 2004-01-09 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 149 The study of the complex interactions between continents and oceans has become a leading area for 21st century earth science In this volume continent ocean interactions in tectonics arc continent collision sedimentology and climatic evolution within the East Asian Marginal Seas take precedence Links between oceanic and continental climate the sedimentology of coastal and shelf areas and the links between deformation of continental and oceanic lithosphere are also discussed As an introduction to the science presented throughout the volume Wang discusses many of the possible interactions between the tectonic evolution of Asia and both regional and global climate He speculates that uplift of central Asia in the Pliocene may have triggered the formation of many of the major rivers that drain north through Siberia into the Arctic Ocean He also argues that it is the delivery of this fresh water that allows the formation of sea ice in that area and triggered the start of Northern Hemispheric glaciation This may be one of the most dramatic ways in which Asia has shaped the Earth's climate and represents an alternative to the other competing models that have previously emphasized the role of oceanic gateway closure in Central America Moreover his proposal for major uplift of at least part of Tibet and Mongolia as late as the Pliocene based on the history of drainage evolution in Siberia supports recent data from the southern Tarim Basin and from the Qilian Shan and Qaidam and Jiuxi Basins in northeast Tibet that indicate surface uplift at that time Constraining the timing and patterns of Tibetan surface uplift is crucial to testing competing models for strain accommodation in Asia following India Asia collision

The SE Asian Gateway Robert Hall, Michael Andrew Cottam, Moyra Elizabeth Jane Wilson, 2011 Collision between Australia and SE Asia began in the Early Miocene and reduced the former wide ocean between them to a complex passage which connects the Pacific and Indian Oceans Today the Indonesian Throughflow passes through this gateway and plays an important role in global thermohaline flow The surrounding region contains the maximum global diversity for many marine and terrestrial organisms Reconstruction of this geologically complex region is essential for understanding its role in oceanic and atmospheric circulation climate impacts and the origin of its biodiversity The papers in this volume discuss the Palaeozoic to Cenozoic geological background to Australia and SE Asia collision They provide the background for accounts of the modern Indonesian Throughflow and oceanographic changes since the Neogene and consider aspects of the region's climate history

Tectonics of the Southeastern Tibetan Plateau and Its Adjacent Foreland B. C. Burchfiel, Zhiliang Chen, 2012-01-01 This volume provides a summary of the geology of Eastern and Southeastern Tibet and its foreland It covers an area of approximately 1.5 million square kilometers in 15 chapters on tectonic units that the authors recognize during 25 years of both field and laboratory study Each chapter discusses the authors understanding of the geology and offers interpretations of special geological relations both local and regional as well as currently unresolved problems of which there are many in this vast and poorly known region Chapter 16 summarizes and interprets the preceding chapters The volume is accompanied by CDs containing four plates two tectonostratigraphic maps a map of unconformities and a plate of cross sections in both Illustrator and ArcGIS formats This is a unique map presentation and one that the authors suggest as a model for all geological maps Provided by publisher Geology of the China Seas Pinxian Wang, Qianyu Li, Chun-Feng Li, 2014-06-07 Geology of the China Seas represents the first English language synthesis of the available research into the geology of the South and East China Seas Among the marginal basins worldwide these areas have been the focus of extensive research activities in the last three decades and are now among the global hot spots in hydrocarbon explorations and scientific investigations The region is experiencing rapid economic development with the offshore petroleum industry providing approximately one third of the domestic hydrocarbon production for mainland China Gas hydrates have been successfully recovered from the China Seas for the first time Over the years many volumes on the geology of the China Seas have been published in Chinese Although an increasing number of papers in English have appeared recently the majority deal with local or regional paleo environment and sedimentology and are scattered in different journals This book brings together this rich data in one resource particularly that generated by Chinese marine geologists and petroleum geologists and provides the very first synthesis of the geology off China The first systematic summary of the geology of the China Seas Includes comprehensive coverage of the South China Sea and the East China Sea including the Yellow Sea and Bohai Gulf Reviews hundreds of Chinese publications on marine and petroleum geology not currently accessible to the international community

The Tide-Dominated Han River Delta, Korea Don Cummings, Robert Dalrymple, Kyungsik Choi, Jaehwa Jin, 2015-09-25 The Tide Dominated Han River Delta provides a thorough analysis of a river delta in which tidal currents have reworked the river borne sediment generating characteristic geomorphological and sedimentological signatures in the process Such tide dominated deltas are common in the modern ocean forming the substrate upon which entire populations are built Furthermore ancient examples contain enormous volumes of hydrocarbon Despite this tide dominated deltas remain less well understood than their wave and river dominated counterparts largely because processes within them are inherently more complex and fewer modern examples have been investigated in detail This multi year study by a team of experts in coastal geoscience represents the most complete documentation of a tide dominated delta to date Results help advance and are applicable to a broad range of fields within sedimentary geology including clastic sedimentology seismic and sequence stratigraphy and coastal geomorphology in addition to petroleum geology and reservoir engineering Offers new access to results of a multi year hydrocarbon reservoir analogue study not available elsewhere Features 75 full color figures and illustrations to emphasize critical aspects of the delta s sedimentology geomorphology and stratigraphy Provides basic data that better define what tide dominated deltas are how these complex systems behave over time and why this is so Aids petroleum geologists and reservoir engineers in predicting the distribution of baffles and barriers in tide dominated sediment

Recent observational studies show that the EAMS is energetic and has multi eddy structure. For example the SCS synoptic eddy structure was identified in May 1995 using the airborne expendable bathythermograph AXBT data (Chu et al 1998a) the eddy spatiotemporal scales in the YES were identified using the Navy's Master Oceanographic Observational Data Set MOODS during 1929-1991 (Chu et al 1997a, b) and the seasonal JES multi eddy structure from a composite analysis on the U.S. National Centers for Environmental Prediction NCEP monthly SST fields during 1981-1994 (Chu et al 1998b).

Oceanography of Asian Marginal Seas K. Takano, 1991-06-06 This volume contains 31 papers on physical and geological oceanography, marine engineering and meteorology in the Japan Sea and the East China Sea. Almost all these papers were presented at the Fifth JECSS Japan and East China Seas Study Workshop held in Korea in 1989. Results of multinational cooperative studies carried out since the initiation of JECSS in 1981 are presented. Authors are from China, Japan, Korea, UK, USA and USSR. A wide range of subjects are covered from the viewpoint of various disciplines. The status of recent research on Asian marginal seas is outlined and points at issue are defined. An important aspect is the coverage of results from the USSR and China which are not normally easily accessible to scientists in other countries despite the importance of this research to the international scientific community. Various subjects from estuaries to the problems related to the whole north Pacific are covered in this book and it is recommended to scientists in coastal oceanography, environmental oceanography, mesoscale synoptic scale oceanography and large scale oceanography.
