The Reception of Husserlian Phenomenology in North America Michela Beatrice Ferri, 2019-06-05 This book presents a historiographical and theoretical analysis of how Husserlian Phenomenology arrived and developed in North America The chapters analyze the different phases of the reception of Edmund Husserl's thought in the USA and Canada. The volume discusses the authors and universities that played a fundamental role in promoting Husserlian Phenomenology and clarifies their connection with American Philosophy, Pragmatism and with Analytic Philosophy. Starting from the analysis of how the first American Scholars of Edmund Husserl's thought opened the door to the reception of his texts, the book explores the first encounters between Pragmatism and Husserlian Phenomenology in American Universities. The study focuses then on those Scholars who fled from Europe to America from 1933 onwards to escape Nazism: Felix Kaufmann, Alfred Schutz, Aron Gurwitsch, Herbert Spiegelberg, Fritz Kaufmann among the most notable and illustrates how their teaching provided the very basis for the spreading of Husserlian Phenomenology in North America. The volume examines then the action of the 20th Century North American Husserl Scholars together with those places, societies, centers and journals specifically created to represent the development of the studies devoted to Husserlian Phenomenology in the U.S. with a focus of the Regional Phenomenological Schools.

Hermeneutic Philosophy of Science, Van Gogh's Eyes, and God B.E. Babich, 2013-06-29. Perceptual essences that can be rendered directly manifest in perception with the help of theoretically structured instruments serving as readable technologies. Scientific knowledge should thus be understood as an extension of unassisted perception. A perceptual fact has an outer horizon which separates it from the ground on which it appears and an inner horizon composed of a multiplicity of possible perceptual profiles organized by an invariant essence. The perceiving subject can bring forth a representative sample of the profiles in question occasionally by making use of certain technological processes which are themselves subject to interpretation in terms of theoretical representations. The theoretical entities described in these representations are not simply detected thanks to an inferential operation but rather they are directly perceived. It follows from this that the correspondence between the manifest image and the scientific image is not done one to one but by a many to one or one to many application between contextually defined perceptual objects within contexts that are mutually incompatible but complementary. This should not however be understood as a form of conventionalism nor as a form of cultural relativism. Pre-comprehension which guides interpretation imposes strict limits to the descriptive categories which can be used and to the manner in which they can be linked to appropriate empirical objects. The author applies his hermeneutic principles to the study of visual perception. In fact, this question is treated in the first part of the book.
