Kusky, Mingguo Zhai, Wenjiao Xiao, 2010 This volume honours the career of Brian F Windley who has been hugely influential in helping to achieve our current understanding of the evolution of the continental crust and who has inspired many students and scientists to pursue studies on the evolution of the continents Brian has studied processes of continental formation and evolution on most continents and of all ages and has educated and inspired two generations of geologists to undertake careers in studies of continental evolution The volume is organized into six sections including oceanic and island arc systems and continental growth tectonics of accretionary orogens and continental growth and stabilization of continental

Kleinspehn,Chris Paola,2012-12-06 In the extensive field of earth sciences with its many subdisciplines the transfer of knowledge is primarily established via personal communication during meetings by reading journal articles or by consulting books Because more information is available than can be assimilated it is necessary for the individual to search selectively Books take more time from the inception of an idea until publication than any of the other means of communication mentioned As a consequence their function is somewhat different Many good books are a compilation of up to date knowledge and serve as reference or instruction manuals Some books are a collection of previously published papers dealing with a certain topic while others may basically provide large sets of data or examples The Frontiers in Sedimentary Geology series was established both for students and practicing earth scientists who wish to either stay abreast of the most recent ideas or developments or to become familiar with an important topic in the field of sedimentary geology The series attempts to deal with subjects that are in the forefront of both scientific and economic interest The treatment of a subject in an individual volume should be a combination of topical regional and interdisciplinary approaches Although these three terms can be defined separately in reality they should flow into each other A topical treatment should relate to a major category of sedimentary geology Himalaya: Dynamics of a Giant, Geodynamic Setting of the Himalayan Range Rodolphe Cattin, Jean-Luc Epard, 2023-07-21 The Himalaya is well known as the largest and highest mountain belt on Earth Advances in geoscience over the past few decades have revealed a complex picture of the dynamics of this giant opening up questions about the initial stages of Himalayan building lateral variations in its structures variations in tectonic forcing tectonic climate coupling and assessments of the natural hazards affecting this area In this three volume book we present the current knowledge on the building and present day behavior of the Himalayan range The objective is not to be exhaustive but to provide some key elements used by researchers to unravel the many processes acting in the Himalayan dynamics Mountain environments are at the forefront of climate change with glacier retreat landslides flash floods and water availability Understanding the delicate balance that controls the dynamics of the Himalayan giant is now more than ever a major challenge for the scientific community Laurentia-Gondwana Connections Before Pangea Víctor A. Ramos, J. Duncan Keppie, 1999-01-01 Explores the tectonics interaction among the exotic terranes between Laurentia and Southwest Gondwana The authors reveal data that sheds light on pre Pangea connections between Laurentia and Southwest Gondwana These data concern the presence of Olenellus and associated fauna in the Precordillera of central Western South America the common early Paleozoic paleomagnetic data the presence of a large early Paleozoic carbonate platform distinct from the Southwest Gondwanan clastic platforms associated with glacial deposits and the exotic nature of the Grenville basement of this platform House documents ,1889
