Continuing Learning In The Professions:

Continuing Learning in the Professions Cyril O. Houle, 1980-04-09      Continuing Professional Development In The Lifelong Learning Sector Scales, Peter, Pickering, Jo, Senior, Lynn, 2011-01-01 The book sets the context for CPD and

Continuing Your Professional Development in Lifelong Learning Angela Steward, 2010-06-01 New qualifications for those teaching and training in the FE sector became effective in September 2007 The reform of initial teacher training and the professionalisation of the workforce in the sector require a commitment to engage in continuing professional development The rationale for the book is contained in the argument that improvement of quality in teaching and learning in the sector is not achieved exclusively through short term external professional development and training activities Moreover it requires ongoing workplace learning which is long term in focus and practice orientated and work based In order to improve future practice it needs to be embedded in critical reflection and evaluation of workloads The purpose of the book is to introduce the notion that there is an opportunity for every teacher to develop their role through their workloads e.g. workloads are a vehicle for professional development Ways to achieve this are identified by exploring the practice of experienced and successful teachers The author then goes on to offer guidelines for promoting constructive practice which is using the outcomes of reflection in the workplace to achieve role development      Contexts, Practices and Challenges: Critical Insights from Continuing Professional Education Maureen Coady, 2016-10-03 Lifelong learning has become essential not only for professionals but also for those they serve Continuing professional education CPE an umbrella term used to describe the continuum of formal nonformal and informal learning opportunities that enable practicing professionals to continue to learn and to maintain professional competence across their careers is the focus of this collection The volume explores analyzes questions and critiques CPE trends and issues across a variety of contexts and it highlights new thinking and developments to assist providers and practitioners to re envision their roles and set new directions in the field of CPE This collection is inspired by the early seminal works of Cyril Houle who advocated that educational researchers and providers of CPE should listen to the experience of professionals as a basis for supporting their professional learning This is the 151st volume of the Jossey Bass series New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education Noted for its depth of coverage it explores issues of common interest to instructors administrators counselors and policymakers in a broad range of education settings such as colleges and universities extension programs businesses libraries and museums      Authentic Professional Learning Ann Webster-Wright, 2010-08-05 There is considerable and growing interest in professionals learning across their working lives The growth in this interest is likely premised upon the increasing percentage of those who are being employed under the designation as professionals or para professional workers in advanced industrial economies Part of being designated in this way is a requirement to be able to work autonomously and in a relatively self regulated manner Of course many other kinds of employment also demand such behaviours However there is particular attention being given to the ongoing development of workers who are seen to make crucial decisions and take actions about health legal and nancial matters Part of this attention derives from expectations within the community that those who are granted relative autonomy and are often paid handsomely should be current and informed in their decisi making Then like all other workers professionals are required to maintain their competence in the face of changing requirements for work Consequently a volume that seeks to inform how best this ongoing learning can be understood supported and assisted is most timely and welcomed This volume seeks to elaborate professional learning through a consideration of the concept of authentic professional learning What is proposed here is that in contrast to programmatic approaches towards professional development the process of continuing professional learning is a personal complex and diverse process that does not lend itself to easy prescription or the realisation of others intents

Accountability in clinical training implies a strong relationship between the training outcomes touted by a training program and the performance of its graduates The training program and its faculty must be able to ensure that students have the competencies necessary for entering the profession and can offer competent services In addition responsibility for the quality and value of training must be assumed by the profession Pressure for accountability is becoming increasingly apparent as the public learns about fraud waste and abuse in publicly funded programs Fishman Neigher 1982 Federally supported clinical training programs have had to defend their training practices against threats of funding loss without the hard data needed to support their practices Funding seems to have been forthcoming mostly because of our ability to demonstrate the need for clinical counseling and school psychol ogists

Graduates seeking professional careers in such applied fields demand considerable trust from their clientele and the public at large when they establish themselves offer and advertise their services make claims on public monies and profess to do good and no harm Neither their clientele nor the public are in the position to evaluate the services of the profession or the claims made for these American Psychological Association APA 1982 p
