Continuities In The Language Of Social Research:

Continuities in the Language of Social Research Paul Felix Lazarsfeld, 1972 Continuities in the Language of Social Research Paul Felix Lazarsfeld, Morris Rosenberg, 1972 Language Loyalty, Continuity and Change Rakhmiel Peltz, Harold F. Schiffman, 2006-01-01 This short volume provides a comprehensive and synoptic view of Joshua A Fishman's contributions to international sociolinguistics. The two integrative essays provide readers with the essential understandings of Fishmanian sociolinguistics and his contributions to Yiddish scholarship. An up to date comprehensive bibliography prepared by Gella Schweid Fishman as well as Fishman's own concluding sentiments complement the integrative essays. Change and Continuity in Applied Linguistics British Association for Applied Linguistics. Meeting, 2000 The papers in this volume are a selection from those given at the 1999 BAAL Annual Meeting held at Edinburgh whose theme was Change and Continuity in Applied Linguistics. As well as offering a varied sample of current applied linguistics research they provide a stimulating discussion of a wide range of views on fundamental questions about the nature and development of the discipline. What is applied linguistics? Where has it come from? What are its interests, data and methods? Who is it for? And how is it changing, especially in its views of language learning, society and teaching. New Developments in Categorical Data Analysis for the Social and Behavioral Sciences L. Andries van der Ark, Marcel A. Croon, Klaas Sijtsma, 2005-01-15 Categorical data are quantified as either nominal variables distinguishing different groups for example based on socio-economic status, education and political persuasion or ordinal variables distinguishing levels of interest such as the preferred politician or the preferred type of punishment for committing burglary. This new book is a collection of up to date studies on modern categorical data analysis methods emphasizing their application to relevant and interesting data sets. This volume concentrates on latent class analysis and item response theory. These methods use latent variables to explain the relationships among observed categorical variables. Latent class analysis yields the classification of a group of respondents according to their pattern of scores on the categorical variables. This provides insight into the mechanisms producing the data and allows the estimation of factor structures and regression models conditional on the latent class structure. Item response theory leads to the identification of one or more ordinal or interval scales. In psychological and educational testing these scales are used for individual measurement of abilities and personality traits. The focus of this volume is applied. After a method is explained the potential of the method for analyzing categorical data is illustrated by means of a real data example to show how it can be used effectively for solving a real data problem. These methods are accessible to researchers not trained explicitly in applied statistics. This volume appeals to researchers and advanced students in the social and behavioral sciences including social developmental, organizational, clinical and health psychologists, sociologists, educational and marketing researchers and political scientists. In addition it is of interest to those who collect data on categorical variables and are faced with the problem of how to analyze such variables among themselves or in relation to metric variables.

Pioneers of Sociological Science John H. Goldthorpe, 2021-02-18 In this study of pioneers of the field Goldthorpe explains how present day sociological science developed from the seventeenth century onwards It will appeal to students and scholars of sociology and to anyone engaged in social science research from statisticians to social historians

Japanese Americans and Cultural Continuity Toyotomi Morimoto, 2014-06-23 Although the United States is a nation of immigrants few Americans are familiar with the ethnic community mother tongue schools that nurtured and maintained the immigrants language and culture This book records the history of the schools of Americans of Japanese ancestry focusing on the efforts of the Japanese community in California to maintain their linguistic and cultural heritage The main focus of the book is on the period from the early 20th century to World War II but it also surveys conditions during the war and in the postwar era up to the present The coverage examines the difficulties experienced by the ancestors of the model minority from the San Francisco Japanese school children segregation incident in the early part of this century to private school control laws in the 1920s The book also surveys the lives of Japanese Americans as college students in Japan in the 1930s as well as looks at Japanese communities in Hawaii and Brazil

Continuity under Change in Dayak Societies Cathrin Arenz, Michaela Haug, Stefan Seitz, Oliver Venz, 2017-04-27 This volume provides a balanced picture of change and continuity within Dayak societies from an anthropological perspective by exploring diverse ways in which certain kinds of knowledge performances and practices continue within the context of rapid and profound change The contributions cover a broad variety of topics including political reform decentralisation environmental change and related changes in natural resource management religion and ritual practice the re formation of ethnic identities as well as conflict transformation in Indonesian Borneo

Constructing Narratives of Continuity and Change Hazel Reid, Linden West, 2014-08-27 In this volume academics and researchers across disciplines including education psychology and health studies come together to discuss personal political and professional narratives of struggle resilience and hope Contributors draw from a rich body of auto biographical research to examine the role of narrative and how it can be constructed to compose a life story considering the roles of significant others inspirational educational and fictional characters and those in myth and legend The book discusses how personal narrative often neglected in social and psychological enquiry can be a valuable resource across a range of settings Reference is made to the evolving role of narrative in education and health care medicine and psychotherapy This includes how particular narratives are hardwired into culture in ways that stifle personal and social understanding Rather than providing a how to guide the book illustrates the range and power of narrative including poetry to re awaken senses of self and agency in extremis Each chapter draws on specific research describing the context explaining the methodology and illuminating important findings Discussing implications for research and practice this book will be key reading for postgraduate and doctoral students in auto biographical and narrative studies and across a range of disciplines including education health and social care politics counselling and psychotherapy It will be of interest to academics teaching research methods and those developing biographical and auto biographical narrative research Educational Research: Discourses of Change and Changes of Discourse Paul Smeyers, Marc Depaepe, 2016-05-26 This collection addresses concepts and theories of change contexts and functions of reform discourses and fields of change in educational research It examines a wide variety of issues such as girls education in France educational neuroscience the professionalization in Child Protection and mathematics discourses It pays attention to the pervasiveness of crisis rhetoric in American Education Research to the current university climate and to perspectives for teacher education The volume presents in depth studies that integrate the perspective of history and philosophy of education Educational research has been typically carried out within a discourse of change changing educational practice changing policy or changing the world Sometimes these expectations have been grand as in claims of emancipation sometimes they have been more modest as in research as a support for specific reforms This book explores the answers to such questions as Are these expectations justified How have these discourses of change themselves changed over time What have researchers meant by change and related concepts such as reform improvement innovation progress and the new Does this teleological and hopeful discourse itself reflect a particular historical and national cultural point of view Is it over promising for educational research to claim to solve social problems and are these properly understood as educational problems In doing so it challenges prevailing ideas about the application of philosophy and history of education and demonstrates the relevance of philosophical and historical approaches for the practice and theory of education and for educational research This publication as well as the ones that are mentioned in the preliminary pages of this work were realized by the Research Community FWO Vlaanderen Research Foundation Flanders Belgium Philosophy and History of the Discipline of Education Faces and Spaces of Educational Research Strategies of Social Research Herman W. Smith, 1975 During a visit with her great aunt a young girl learns the story behind her name and learns to feel proud of her biracial heritage Cultural Change & Continuity In Central Asia Shirin Akiner, 2013-10-28 First published in 1991 Central Asia is a vast sprawling territory with no precise boundaries no precise geographic definition There is much detailed closely focused research that remains to be done on every part of Central Asia Sometimes however it is illuminating to stand back and look at the region as a whole seeking similarities as well as contrasts This volume is a collection of papers from a conference on Tradition and Change in Central Asia was held at the School of Oriental and African Studies University of London in April 1987 Language Contact, Continuity and Change in the Genesis of Modern Hebrew Edit Doron, Malka Rappaport Hovav, Yael Reshef, Moshe Taube, 2019-09-18 The emergence of Modern Hebrew as a spoken language constitutes a unique event in modern history a language which for generations only existed in the written mode underwent a process popularly called revival acquiring native speakers and becoming a language spoken for everyday use Despite the attention it has drawn this particular case of language shift which differs from the better documented cases of creoles and mixed languages has not been discussed within the framework of the literature on contact induced change The linguistic properties of the process have not been systematically studied and the status of the emergent language as a discontinuous stage of its historical sources has not been evaluated in the context of other known cases of language shift The present collection presents detailed case studies of the syntactic evolution of Modern Hebrew alongside general theoretical discussion with the aim of bringing the case of Hebrew to the attention of language contact scholars while bringing the insights of the literature on language contact to help shed light on the case of Hebrew

The Continuity of Linguistic Change Matilde

Vida-Castro, Antonio Manuel Ávila-Muñoz, 2024-02-15 The Continuity of Linguistic Change presents a collection of selected papers in honour of Professor Juan Andrés Villena Ponsoda The essays revolve around the study of linguistic variation and the mechanisms and processes associated with linguistic change a field to which Villena Ponsoda has dedicated so many years of research The authors are researchers of renowned international prestige who have made significant contributions in this field The chapters cover a range of related topics and provide modern theoretical and methodological perspectives addressing the structural cognitive historical and social factors that underlie and promote linguistic change in varieties of Dutch German Greek Italian Spanish and Swedish The reader will find contributions that explore topics such as phonology acoustic phonetics and processes deriving from the contact between languages or linguistic varieties specifically levelling koineisation standardisation and the emergence of ethnolects
