The Moral Challenge of Alzheimer Disease Stephen G. Post, 2002-11-04 Society today writes Stephen Post is hypercognitive it places inordinate emphasis on people's powers of rational thinking and memory Thus Alzheimer disease and other dementias which over an extended period incrementally rob patients of exactly those functions raise many dilemmas How are we to view and value persons deprived of what some consider the most important human capacities In the second edition of The Moral Challenge of Alzheimer Disease Post updates his highly praised account of the major ethical issues relating to dementia care With chapters organized to follow the progression from mild to severe and then terminal stages of dementia Post discusses topics including the experience of dementia family caregiving genetic testing for Alzheimer disease quality of life and assisted suicide and euthanasia New to this edition are sections dealing with end of life issues especially artificial nutrition and hydration the emerging cognitive enhancing drugs distributive justice spirituality and hospice as well as a critique of rationalistic definitions of personhood The last chapter is a new summary of practical solutions useful to family members and professionals Employers, Agencies and Immigration Anna Triandafyllidou, Sabrina Marchetti, 2017-03-02 Exploring the performance by immigrants of domestic and care work in European households this book places the employer centre stage examining the role of the employer and his or her agents in securing the balance between work family and welfare needs as well as investigating both who the employers are and the nature of their relationships with migrant workers With attention to the dynamics of inequality as class ethnicity and gender become intertwined in a location that is at once home and workplace this volume is organised into sections that deal with the subjectivities of employers and their relationships with their employees in the home the re organisation of welfare and care arrangements at state level and the wider area of migrant domestic and care work with the transformation of the au pair scheme Bringing together the latest empirical work from across Europe Employers Agencies and Immigration will appeal to social scientists with interests in migration ethnic and class relations immigrant labour and domestic work and the sociology of the family In the Course of a Lifetime Michele Dillon, Paul Wink, 2007-03-20 Dillon and Wink bring their combination of sociological and psychological perspectives to this landmark study making possible a fascinating series of individual portraits and a fresh new window on how life and faith have changed over the last century Nancy T Ammerman author of Pillars of Faith American Congregations and their Partners Building Traditions Building Communities The rich findings in this landmark volume challenge many assumptions about religion and the life course while documenting the multiple ways both direct and subtle that faith relates to personality social attitudes community involvement psychological well being and health This is social science at its best empirically rigorous and theoretically sophisticated for sure but also deeply humane in its ability to convey so clearly the individual voices of the research participants as they struggle to make sense of their lives in a rapidly changing world Dan P McAdams author of The Redemptive Self Stories Americans Live By Social Integration in the Second Half of Life Karl Pillemer, Phyllis Moen, Elaine Wethington, Nina Glasgow, 2003-05-01 Social scientists use the term social integration to refer to individuals connections with others in their environments The concept and its consequences have been the subject of considerable study Many researchers have asserted that meaningful and enduring ties to other persons serve as a buffer against stress and thereby promote physical and mental health The results are especially pronounced for older persons Social Integration in the Second Half of Life presents integrative reviews of theory and research on this topic The editors and contributors all currently or previously affiliated with the Cornell Gerontology Research Institute also present new empirical findings of research done at their center The first section of the book discusses basic theory and principles of social integration in later life and its implications for health The second largest section examines specific issues retirement driving family support housing neighbors The third section addresses interventions to promote social integration transportation volunteering and peer support for dementia caregivers Throughout the authors focus on the diverging influences of social integration and its converse social isolation in later life Families in Society McKie, Linda, Cunningham-Burley, Sarah, 2005-09-21 The enduring and multi faceted significance of families in society and their value as a focus for the exploration of social change have ensured that families remain a prominent focus of academic enquiry This book proposes a new conceptual framework that both challenges and attempts to reconcile traditional and contemporary approaches

Eisenhandler, 2003 Based on Eisenhandler s qualitative research study of men and women sixty years and older this volume provides a sociological narrative of religious belief that has been sustained and sometimes changed over the course of life Through extensive interviews Eisenhandler explores older adults personal engagement with religion the role of socialization in retaining faith in late life and the extent to which older adults participate in religious behavior and find religious beliefs relevant to their present life Questions at the core of Eisenhandler s research include Do older adults today f Spirituality and Aging Robert C. Atchley, 2009-03 Separating spirituality from religion something few books on this topic do Spirituality and Aging offers a plan for incorporating spirituality into gerontological scholarship research education and practice Resilience Process and Its Personal and Social Bases Chau Kiu Cheung, 2024-10-30 This book is to elucidate personal and social bases for personal resilience thus addressing the issue concerning the predominance of social factors in shaping resilience Essentially the book starts with a clarification of resilience as a phenomenon rather than a trait The clarification also identifies the personal bases in terms of the resilience process which specifies belief about resilience as a precursor to learning about resilience action for resilience and resilience successively To justify the personal and social bases the book expounds the analytical functionalist framework to specify voluntaristic and deterministic mechanisms to perform the four requisite functions of goal attainment adaptation integration and latency Equipped with the conceptual and theoretical grounds the book proceeds to scrutinize the effects of personal and social factors on resilience and its process The personal factors include personal background characteristics personality functional disability and various beliefs whereas the social factors include experiences of caring peace violence and social exclusion in society kindness sociability and aid from other people and social capital The scrutiny engages five databases about 6 948 Chinese people in Hong Kong and neighboring Chinese cities composed of the public service users older adults students and people with visual impairment Overall the book presents ample theoretical and empirical substances to clarify the genesis of resilience

What Matters for Health and Happiness Among the Older Adults in Asia Nai Peng Tey, Halimah Awang, Shekhar Chauhan, 2024-03-11

People want to live a healthy and happy later life A large body of literature shows the close association between health status and happiness and between health and active engagement in work exercise and social and religious activities However the causation between the two can run both ways and it is difficult to determine the causal effect with cross sectional data Various authors have shown the significant influence of socioeconomic factors and human needs on older people s health status and happiness A better understanding of the factors affecting healthy and happy aging is essential for policymaking to improve the well being of older people The availability of data from HRS family studies in several Asian countries CHARLS in China LASI in India JSTAR in Japan KLoSA in Korea IFLS in Indonesia HART in Thailand MARS in Malaysia and Longitudinal Study of Ageing and Health in Viet Nam see Gateway to Global Aging Data provides an excellent opportunity for researchers to examine factors affecting health and happiness among older adults within and across Asian countries This research topic aims to gather papers that investigate the socioeconomic attitudinal and behavioural factors affecting the health status and happiness life satisfaction of older adults in Asia The dependent variables may include physical health mental health disability ADL IADL cognitive functioning self rated health health expenditure feeling of happiness and life satisfaction The independent variables may be age gender marital status place of residence educational level active engagement work exercise social and religious activities family and social relationship and support outlook in life smoking drinking and access to and utilization of healthcare services etc Manuscripts can be based on individual countries or cross country analysis preferably using the panel data to establish the causal effects of the independent variables on the dependent variables
