Contract Ethics Evolutionary Biology And The Moral Sentiments:

Contract Ethics Howard Kahane,1995 Recent theorists have suggested that human altruism toward non family members evolved because of the tremendous benefits of reciprocity Developing further the notion that evolutionary theory can help to explain moral sentiments Howard Kahane proposes that a sense of fair play is essential to ethics and argues that moral obligation too narrowly construed prevents us from living rationally He brings his account of fair play to bear on the ethics of various domains of social life including friendship taxes civil rights and nation states Freedom of Religion and the Secular State Russell Blackford,2012-01-17 Exploring the relationship between religion and the state Focusing on the intersection of religion law and politics in contemporary liberal democracies Blackford considers the concept of the secular state revising and updating enlightenment views for the present day Freedom of Religion and the Secular State offers a comprehensive analysis with a global focus of the subject of religious freedom from a legal as well as historical and philosophical viewpoint It makes an original contribution to current debates about freedom of religion and addresses a whole range of hot button issues that involve the relationship between religion and the state including the teaching of evolution in schools what to do about the burqa and so on Humanity Enhanced Russell Blackford,2014 An argument that modern liberal democracies should tolerate human enhancement technologies answering key objections by critics of these practices Emerging biotechnologies that manipulate human genetic material have drawn a chorus of objections from politicians pundits and scholars In Humanity Enhanced Russell Blackford eschews the heated rhetoric that surrounds genetic enhancement technologies to examine them in the context of liberal thought discussing the public policy issues they raise from legal and political perspectives Some see the possibility of genetic choice as challenging the values of liberal democracy Blackford argues that the challenge is not as commonly supposed the urgent need for a strict regulatory action Rather the challenge is that fear of these technologies has created an atmosphere in which liberal tolerance itself is threatened Focusing on reproductive cloning pre implantation genetic diagnosis of embryos and genetic engineering Blackford takes on objections to enhancement technologies raised by Jürgen Habermas and others based on such concerns as individual autonomy and distributive justice He argues that some enhancements would be genuinely beneficial and that it would be justified in some circumstances even to exert pressure on parents to undertake genetic modification of embryos Blackford argues against draconian suppression of human enhancement although he acknowledges that some specific and limited regulation may be required in the future More generally he argues liberal democracies would demonstrate liberal values by tolerating and accepting the emerging technologies of genetic choice Evolutionary Ethics Matthew H. Nitecki,Doris V. Nitecki,1993-07-16 This volume analyzes the biological and philosophical disagreements in evolutionary ethics and points out difficulties with the interpretations The book is divided into four sections The first is an historical introduction to the origin of evolutionary ethics showing how different evolutionary ethics was a hundred years ago and how distant Huxley is from most
