Bowker Company, 1982 Modern European and Chinese Contract Law Junwei Fu, 2011-01-01 This comparative study of European and Chinese contract law opens a clear and practical way to identify and understand the differences between the two legal regimes The author offers a detailed doctrinal comparison of the two systems of contract focusing on the following fundamental elements the importance of socio economic valuation in Chinese contract law the role of judicial interpretation pre contractual liability penalties for bad faith disclosure versus concealment validity mistake fraud threats unfair bargaining power adaptation and termination effect of registration and approval rules mandatory rules good faith and fair dealing the public interest and direct application of constitutional law to contracts The book s special power lies in its extraordinarily thorough comparison of doctrines underlying specific provisions of such instruments as the Contract Law of the People s Republic of China CLC the General Principles of the Civil Law of the People s Republic of China GPCL the Principles of European Contract Law PECL and the Draft Common Frame of Reference DCFR as well as analysis of judicial cases Contract Law Minimalism Jonathan Morgan, 2013-11-07 Commercial contract law is in every sense optional given the choice between legal systems and law and arbitration Its doctrines are in fact virtually all default rules Contract Law Minimalism advances the thesis that commercial parties prefer a minimalist law that sets out to enforce what they have decided but does nothing else The limited capacity of the legal process is the key to this minimalist stance This book considers evidence that such minimalism is indeed what commercial parties choose to govern their transactions It critically engages with alternative schools of thought that call for active regulation of contracts to promote either economic efficiency or the trust and co operation necessary for relational contracting The book also necessarily argues against the view that private law should be understood non instrumentally whether through promissory morality corrective justice taxonomic rationality or otherwise It sketches a restatement of English contract law in line with the thesis Legal Education in the Digital Age Edward L. Rubin, 2012-04-16 This collection of essays by legal scholars explores the digital revolution that has transformed legal education It discusses the way digital materials will be created and how they will change concepts of authorship as well as methods of production and distribution The book also explores the impact of digital materials on law school classrooms and law libraries and the potential transformation of the curriculum that these materials are likely to produce Resolving Disputes in the Asia-Pacific Region Shahla F. Ali, 2010-10-18 Resolving Disputes in the Asia Pacific Region presents empirical research about the attitudes and perceptions of the arbitration community in China Hong Kong Korea Japan Singapore and Malaysia as well as North America and Europe The book covers both international commercial arbitration and alternative techniques such as mediation providing an empirical analysis of how both types of dispute resolution are conducted in the East Asian context The book examines the history and cultural context surrounding preferred methods of dispute resolution in the East Asian region and sheds light on the various approaches to international arbitration across these diverse regions Theologians and Contract Law Wim Decock,2013

In Theologians and Contract Law Wim Decock offers an account of the moral roots of modern contract law He explains why theologians in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries built a systematic contract law around the principles of freedom and fairness The Law of Obligations Reinhard Zimmermann,1996 This book is widely regarded as one of the most remarkable achievements in Roman Law and Comparative Law scholarship this century a fact attested to by the universal acclaim with which it has been received throughout Europe America and beyond As a work of Roman Law scholarship it fuses the vast volume of 20th century scholarship on the Roman law of obligations into a clear and very readable and in many ways original account of the law As a work of comparative law it traces the transformation of the Roman law of obligations over the centuries into what is now modern German English and South African law presenting the reader with a contrast between these legal systems which is unique both in its scope and its depth As a whole the book is written with a deep understanding of human nature and of many social economic and other forces that determine the face of the law Law Books in Print:
