Elkhoully, Abdelazim Negm, 2021-05-31 This book reviews the economic potential of various natural resources found in the Egyptian deserts that could help fill the food gap in Egypt e.g. the date palm, olives and domestic animals. Bearing in mind that the entire country is subject to arid or hyperarid climatic conditions, only a small portion (3% of total area) is agriculturally productive in comparison to the dominant deserts. These aspects combined with a growing population (ca. 100 million citizens) and water resources scarcity have produced severe adverse effects on natural resource utilization. This book presents innovative methods for addressing desert soil's key problems: soil erosion, salinity, pollution, decreased fertility, minerals, and weed and pest control. Its goal is to help authorities reclaim the desert and optimally utilize the minerals and the available natural resources to support the sustainability agenda 2030. Besides, it offers researchers guidance on remaining gaps and future research directions. Lastly and importantly, it provides essential information on investment opportunities in desert cultivation such as the fields of food, fodder, and medicinal plants.

Contribution to the Geography of Egypt John Ball, 1952      Geology of North Africa Edward Tawadros, 2011-11-02

A reference volume on the geology of North Africa; this volume deals with Egypt, Libya, Algeria, Tunisia, and Morocco. In great detail, the geology, tectonic elements, the geology of the Pan African Shield, the Phanerozoic geological evolution, and most of the lithostratigraphic units of the five countries are described. Moreover, the petroleum geology and petroleum systems are discussed, as well as the history of geological exploration. With the incentive to provide a reference to the geology of North Africa that can be used both by professionals and students, this review work provides a large amount of data based on more than 2500 references. Written in a clear, straight-forward and structured style and with many schematic maps, it allows the reader to easily search a topic and find further information with help of the extensive bibliography. This volume is intended for senior undergraduate and graduate students, professional geologists, and geophysicists who are working in North Africa and the Middle East. It is ideally suited for any professional who is looking for a quick round-up reference on the geology of North Africa. The Middle East Economies in Times of Transition Ahmed Galal, Ishac Diwan, 2016-04-08

Diwan and Galal look at the structure and prospects of the Middle East economies after the 2011 Uprisings, focusing on issues of economic growth, inequality, the impact of oil, and the unfolding political transitions. On the growth question, the book looks into the extent of structural transformation of the economy, the political economy reasons for the lack of structural change, and the external conditions in the EU and in the GCC that underpin the lack of structural change. On inequality, the book offers new measures of equality of opportunity in human development and in the job market, and it also reviews the complex political economy of subsidy removal Regarding natural resources the volume provides three innovations connecting the notion of oil curse to the global phenomena of asset bubbles evidence that resource curse effects do not rise monotonically with the size of the resource rent but rather according to an inverted U shape and an extension of the concept of rent to the other non oil rents that are also predominant in the region Finally the volume places the political transition in the region in a global perspective using various methods theoretical comparative and empirical and it explores the relationship between democracy in its variety of forms and economic development The Geographical Journal ,1893 Includes the Proceedings of the Royal geographical society formerly pub separately Geography ,1940 The Geology of Egypt R.
