Country Life 1897 1997 The English Arcadia:

Country Life, 1897-1997 Roy C. Strong, 1996 Published to celebrate the centenary of Country Life magazine this book examines the changing role of the magazine over the years from the Arcadian era before the First World War to the countryside of today Country Life Strong Roy, 1996-10-16 Country Life, 1999 Fraud, Fakery and False

Business Abigail Harrison Moore, 2011-09-08 In 1922 Adolphe Shrager having made his fortune during the First World War approached the London dealer Basil Dighton for advice on purchasing antique furniture Dighton sold him about five hundred items but shortly afterwards Shrager discovered that one of his collector's pieces was judged to be a fake and grossly overpriced and he sued The trial held in early 1923 became a cause celebre but it can be viewed as a case study of a much wider set of social and cultural concerns the fact that Shrager lost both the first trial and the appeal despite demonstrating on numerous occasions that he had a clear case against Dighton raises questions of race prejudice and class where the establishment closed ranks against Shrager the nouveau riche Jew and alleged war profiteer This book the first on the Shrager Dighton case is the result of the author's original archival research John Buchan and the Idea of Modernity Kate Macdonald, Nathan Waddell, 2015-10-06 Considered a quintessentially popular author John Buchan was a writer of fiction journalism philosophy and Scottish history By examining his engagement with empire psychoanalysis and propaganda the contributors to this volume place Buchan at the centre of the debate between popular culture and the modernist elite

Country House Discourse in Early Modern England Kari Boyd McBride, 2017-07-05 McBride provides new perspectives on the roles of the country house discourse she identifies linking it with a number of larger historical shifts during the time period Her interdisciplinary focus allows her to bring together a wide range of material including architecture poetry oil painting economic and social history and proscriptive literature in order to examine their complex interrelationship revealing connections unexplored in more narrowly focused studies Beyond Holy Russia Michael Hughes, 2014-02-19 This biography examines the long life of the traveller and author Stephen Graham Graham walked across large parts of the Tsarist Empire in the years before 1917 describing his adventures in a series of books and articles that helped to shape attitudes towards Russia in Britain and the United States In later years he travelled widely across Europe and North America meeting some of the best known writers of the twentieth century including H G Wells and Ernest Hemingway Graham also wrote numerous novels and biographies that won him a wide readership on both sides of the Atlantic This book traces Graham's career as a world traveller and provides a rich portrait of English Russian and American literary life in the first half of the twentieth century It also examines how many aspects of his life and writing coincide with contemporary concerns including the development of New Age spirituality and the rise of environmental awareness Beyond Holy Russia is based on extensive research in archives of private papers in Britain and the USA and on the many works of Graham himself The author describes with admirable tact and clarity Graham's heterodox and convoluted spiritual quest The result is a fascinating portrait of a man who was for many years a significant literary figure on both sides of the Atlantic

London's 'Big Bang' Moment and its Architectural Conversations Stephen Rosser, 2025-06-30 This book explores the topic of architecture as a component of public discourse focussing on the reception of four high profile developments in the City of London the UK capital's financial district dating from the final years of the twentieth century During this time the City's mode of operation culture and built environment were all transformed as a result of the market deregulation process labelled Big Bang It was also a period which saw the subject of architecture attracting public and media attention becoming a prominent feature of national conversation The book examines the extensive and often contentious discourse generated by the four case study projects It looks at how these projects were viewed and interpreted retrospectively when they had become part of the City's long and rich history Topics explored include building and urban form on the eve of the millennium the place of new development in a setting of unique historic importance the iconic building and celebrity architect and the role of then Prince Charles as an architectural critic Also referenced are many of the broader issues of the day including the Thatcher government policies and the preoccupations concerning London's infrastructure public realm inner city areas and inequalities Furthermore ranging across the discourse is the theme of the relationship between buildings and global finance foreshadowing later controversies concerning London's post millennial towers and their impact on the capital's skyline The book will be of interest to researchers and students of late twentieth century British architecture and urban development

London's history and UK public discourse in the 1980s a decade of profound political economic and social change W. H.

Davies Rory Waterman, 2021-01-15 Though Davies is a well known and unique literary figure of the early twentieth century most famous now for The Autobiography of a Super Tramp and poems such as Leisure which came 14th in the BBC's search to find The Nation's Favourite Poems no other volume of essays or other critical monograph concentrates on his work This book not only provides a reassessment of Davies putting him in his literary and cultural context but also sheds light on the many more central literary figures he encountered and befriended The central aim of the book is to reconsider his major works and his place in the literary and cultural milieu of his period Northern Landscapes Tom E. Faulkner, Helen Berry, Jeremy Gregory, 2010 How distinctive is the landscape of the North East of England How far does its distinctive nature contribute to region's identity These are key questions addressed by this book drawing on hitherto little known detail and many new research findings

Dictionary of Nineteenth-century Journalism in Great Britain and Ireland Laurel Brake, Marysa Demoor, 2009 A large scale reference work covering the journalism industry in 19th Century Britain The Experience of Modernism John R. Gold, 2013-12-16 Making extensive use of information gained from in depth interviews with architects active in the period between 1928 1953 the author provides a sympathetic understanding of the Modern Movement's architectural role in reshaping the fabric and structure of British metropolitan cities in the post war period and traces the links between the experience of British modernists and the wider international modern movement Pleasures and Pastimes in Victorian Britain Pamela Horn, 2011-06-15 Richly illustrated with artwork and contemporary cartoons this is a fascinating and engaging account of a neglected aspect of Victorian life Valuing Historic Environments Lisanne Gibson, John Pendlebury, 2016-02-17 This volume brings together an interdisciplinary team of leading scholars to discuss frameworks of value in relation to the preservation of historic environments Starting from the premise that heritage values are culturally and historically constructed the book examines the effects of pluralist frameworks of value on how preservation is conceived It questions the social and economic consequences of constructions of value and how to balance a responsive democratic conception of heritage with the pressure to deliver on social and economic objectives It also describes the practicalities of managing the uncertainty and fluidity of the widely varying conceptions of heritage English Landed Society in the Great War Edward Bujak, 2020-04-30 The extent to which the Great War impacted upon English landed society is most vividly recalled in the loss of young heirs to ancient estates English Landed Society in the Great War considers the impact of the war on these estates Using the archives of Country Life Edward Bujak examines the landed estate that flourished in England In doing so he explores the extent to which the wartime state penetrated into the heartlands of the landed aristocracy and gentry and the corrosive effects that the progressive and systematic militarization of the countryside had on the authority of the squire The book demonstrates how the commitment of landowners to the defence of an England of home and beauty an image also adopted in wartime propaganda ironically led to its transformation By using the landed estate to examine the transition from Edwardian England to modern Britain English Landed Society in the Great War provides a unique lens through which to consider the First World War and its impact on English society Modernism and Mourning Patricia Rae, 2007 The essays in Modernism and Mourning examine the work of mourning in modernist literature or more precisely its propensity for resisting this work Drawing from recent developments in the theory and cultural history of mourning its contributors explore the various ways in which modernist writers repudiate Freud's famous injunction to mourners to work through their grief endorsing instead a resistant or melancholic mourning that shapes both their themes and their radical experiments with form The emerging picture of the pervasive influence of melancholic mourning in modernist literature casts new light on longstanding critical arguments especially those about the politics of modernism It also makes clear the pertinence of this literature to the present day in which the catastrophic losses of 9/11 of retaliatory war of racially motivated genocide of the AIDS epidemic have made the work of mourning a subject of widespread interest and debate Patricia Rae is Head of the Department of English at Queen's University Village England Trevor Wild, 2020-12-24 The romantic imagery of village England and the prominence that this commands in English cultural identity is well known Yet just how accurate is this notion of the rural idyll in which the organic nature of village life was gradually undermined and destroyed by social and economic factors Trevor Wild's text explores the evolution of village England from the earliest times to the present Drawing upon both contemporary accounts and scholarship he provides an engaging and revealing account of the major transformations affecting the English village Of particular interest is the book's coverage of the more recent past with the whittling away of the great estates the appearance of such institutions as the village hall and the development of alternative systems of power such as the councils

Designs on Democracy Neal Shasore, 2022-08-22 Designs on Democracy examines a pivotal period in the formation of the modern profession of architecture in Britain It shows how architects sought to meet the newly articulated demands of a mass democracy in the wake of the First World War It does so by providing a vivid picture of architectural culture in interwar London the Imperial metropolis drawing on histories of design practice professionalism and representation Most accounts of this period tend to deal exclusively with the emergence of Modernism this study takes a different approach encompassing a much broader perspective on the liberal professional consensus that held sway including architecture's mainstream and its so called avant garde Readers will encounter a number of unexpected narratives episodes and projects from the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley to the rebuilding of Waterloo Bridge from the impact of the Great Slump to the passing of the first Architects Registration Act 1931 from Trystan Edwards's radical housing campaigns to the Londoners League's unorthodox preservationism Pulling in a range of evidence and sources periodicals exhibitions photographs and films alongside architecture it evokes architectural culture by listening carefully to the tenor of its discourse Architecture's public realm is thus analysed through sometimes surprising phrases manners to understand ideals of public propriety vigilance to explore public proprietorship slump to contextualise the emergence of public relations machine craft to understand the forging of public institutions The volume spans the excitable discussions about the reconstruction of the profession for a democratic age after WWI to reconstruction and planning following WWII providing an ambitious revision of how we can understand twentieth century architecture in Britain

Cultural Ideals of Home Deborah Chambers, 2020-03-18 Spanning the nineteenth to twenty first centuries this book investigates how home is imagined staged and experienced in western culture Questions about meanings of home and domestic culture are triggered by dramatic changes in values and ideals about the dwellings we live in and the dwellings we desire or dread Deborah Chambers explores how home is idealised as a middle class haven managed as an investment and signified as a status symbol and expression of personal identity She addresses a range of public state commercial popular and expert discourses about home the heritage industry design exhibitions television social media home mobilities and migration smart technologies and ecological sustainability Drawing on cross disciplinary research including cultural history and cultural geography the book offers a distinctive media and cultural studies approach supported by original historically informed case studies on interior and domestic design exhibitions of model homes TV home interiors media home imaginaries multiscreen homes corporate visions of homes of tomorrow and digital smart homes A comprehensive and engaging study this book is ideal for students and researchers of cultural studies cultural history media and communication studies as well as sociology gender studies cultural geography and design studies

Outlaw Fathers in Victorian and Modern British

Literature Helena Gurfinkel, 2014-03-27 Outlaw Fathers in Victorian and Modern British Literature Queering Patriarchy traces the representations of outlaw fathers or queer patriarchs and their relationships with their queer sons in a particular literary tradition mid to late Victorian and twentieth century British fiction and memoir. Specifically I look at such representations in Anthony Trollope's Doctor Thorne 1858 and The Prime Minister 1875-76 while also drawing on An Autobiography 1883 and The Duke's Children 1880 Samuel Butler's The Way of All Flesh published in 1901 Henry James's The Lesson of the Master 1888 J.R. Ackerley's My Father and Myself written in the 1930s and published in 1968 E.M. Forster's Little Imber 1961 with an occasional detour into The Longest Journey 1907 Howards End 1909 and Maurice published in 1971 and Alan Hollinghurst's The Spell 1998. In the coda I consider the implications of including transgender transnational female to male fathers of color in the ranks of queer patriarchy and discuss two contemporary novels Jackie Kay's Trumpet 1998 Scotland and Patricia Powell's The Pagoda 1998 Jamaica and the United States as well as briefly an episode of the television show The L Word 2008 and the documentary U People 2007. The term queer patriarchy has two components. The first one is a non-traditional, primarily but not exclusively non-heterosexual, pervasively present and culturally important paternal subjectivity. The second one is the bond between such queer paternal figures and their sons, biological and non-biological. This study pays attention primarily to the relationship between psyche, language and ideology but it will join a larger conversation about the changing roles of men in general and fathers in particular which is taking place outside of the field of literary studies.
