Country Life At Home In The English Countryside:

Country Life, 2003 England Erinn Banting, 2004 Explains the history and daily lives of the people of England including school work family activities and everyday life both in the city and the country A Country Life Roy Strong, 2003-03-25 Sir Roy Strong and his wife the designer Julia Trevelyan Oman have lived in the country for nearly thirty years In 1987 he was asked to write an occasional column reflecting this quintessentially English way of life for the prestigious magazine A Country Life This charming book brings these popular pieces together portraying the passing of the seasons in what the author describes as his beloved adopted county of Herefordshire A Country Life is a wide ranging kaleidoscope of memories and observations embracing the countryside gardens cooking and remembrances of things both long gone and only yesterday The author writes lyrically of the arrival of the bright green tarragon shoots in spring of the delights of eating al fresco of making sorbets from blackberry and quince of the russet beech hedges in winter and the sweet nostalgia that comes from unpacking Christmas decorations The keynote of A Country Life is delight a portrait of life in the English countryside which seems as old as time itself English Country Life Prudence Yalden Thomson, 1942 Country Life, 1913 The British Home Front and the First World War Hew Strachan, 2023-03-02 The First World War required the mobilisation of entire societies regardless of age or gender The phrase home front was itself a product of the war with parts of Britain literally a war front coming under enemy attack from the sea and increasingly the air However the home front also conveyed the war's impact on almost every aspect of British life economic social and domestic In the fullest account to date leading historians show how the war blurred the division between what was military and not and how it made many conscious of their national identities for the first time They reveal how its impact changed Britain for ever transforming the monarchy promoting systematic cabinet government and prompting state intervention in a country which prided itself on its liberalism and its support for free trade In many respects we still live with the consequences For Home, Country, and Race Stephen J. Heathorn, 2000-01-01 A demonstration of how a specific ideal of national heritage was consciously nurtured by England's elementary school system at the turn of the century Implicit within this ideal was an ideology that reinforced gender class and race distinctions The Countryside Ideal Michael Bunce, 2005-10-26 Draws together diverse images of landscape to explore the historical processes shaping our continuing attachment to the countryside seen in artistic expression attitudes to nature country life and the development of rural and urban land Nation and Novel Patrick Parrinder, 2008-09-18 What is English about the English novel and how has the idea of the English nation been shaped by the writers of fiction How do the novel's profound differences from poetry and drama affect its representation of national consciousness Nation and Novel sets out to answer these questions by tracing English prose fiction from its late medieval origins through its stories of rogues and criminals family rebellions and suffering heroines to the present day novels of immigration Major novelists from Daniel Defoe to the late twentieth century have drawn on national history and mythology in novels which have pitted Cavalier against Puritan Tory against Whig region against nation and domesticity against empire The novel is deeply concerned with the fate of the nation but almost always at variance with official and ruling class perspectives on English society Patrick Parrinder's groundbreaking new literary history outlines the English novel's distinctive sometimes paradoxical and often subversive view of national character and identity This sophisticated yet accessible assessment of the relationship between fiction and nation will set the agenda for future research and debate

Desire and Domestic Fiction Nancy Armstrong, 1990-02-22 In this strikingly original treatment of the rise of the novel Nancy Armstrong argues that the novels and nonfiction written by and for women in eighteenth and nineteenth century England paved the way for the rise of the modern English middle class Examining the works of such novelists as Samuel Richardson Jane Austen and the Brontës she reveals the ways in which these authors rewrote the domestic practices and sexual relations of the past to create the historical context through which modern institutional power would seem not only natural but also humane and therefore desirable as well as influential The Making of English National Identity Krishan Kumar, 2003-03-13 Why is English national identity so enigmatic and so elusive Why unlike the Scots Welsh Irish and most of continental Europe do the English find it so difficult to say who they are The Making of English National Identity first published in 2003 is a fascinating exploration of Englishness and what it means to be English Drawing on historical sociological and literary theory Krishan Kumar examines the rise of English nationalism and issues of race and ethnicity from earliest times to the present day He argues that the long history of the English as an imperial people has as with other imperial people like the Russians and the Austrians developed a sense of missionary nationalism which in the interests of unity and empire has necessitated the repression of ordinary expressions of nationalism Professor Kumar's lively and provocative approach challenges readers to reconsider their pre-conceptions about national identity and who the English really are

Rewriting the North Chloe Ashbridge, 2023-05-15 This book shows how twenty-first century writing about Northern England imagines alternative democratic futures for the region and the English nation signalling the growing awareness of England as a distinct and variegated political formation In 2016 the Brexit vote intensified ongoing constitutional tensions throughout the UK which have been developing since the devolution of Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland in 1997 At the same time British devolution developed a distinctively cultural registration as a surrogate for parliamentary representation and an attempt to disrupt the status of London as Britain's cultural epicentre Rewriting the North shifts this debate in a new direction examining Northern literary preoccupation with devolution's constitutional implications Through close readings of six contemporary authors Sunjeev Sahota Sarah Hall Anthony Cartwright Adam Thorpe Fiona Mozley and Sarah Moss this book argues that literary engagement with the North emphasises regional devolution's limited constitutional charge calling instead for an urgent abandonment of the British centralised state form

Twilight Histories Camilla Cassidy, 2022-10-24 Twilight Histories explores the relationship between nostalgia and the

Victorian historical novel arguing that both responded to the turbulence brought by accelerating modernisation Nostalgia began as a pathological homesickness its first victims seventeenth century soldiers serving abroad Only gradually did it become the sentimental memory we understand it as today In a striking parallel to nostalgia s origin the historical novel emerged in the tumultuous early years of the nineteenth century at a time when the Napoleonic Wars once again set troops on the move creating a new wave of homesick soldiers In the historical novels of Gaskell Thackeray Dickens Eliot and Hardy nostalgia offered a language in which to describe the experience of living through changing times as a homesickness for history Twilight Histories has been included in Oxford Bibliographies Historical Novel category where it has been reviewed as a n illuminating study of mid Victorian novels of the recent past the period of the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars

Country Life Illustrated ,2009 Landscape Fieldwork Gareth Doherty,2025-05-05 Refocusing on human inhabitants in landscape architecture Landscape architecture is at a crossroads The ability to draw upon interdisciplinary perspectives and generate insights from the combined vantage points of design environmental studies and the social sciences puts it in a prime position to address the most pressing issues of our time such as climate change and social inequality Its current reliance on digital and technological solutions however has increasingly caused landscape architects to lose sight of the ways in which humans actually use spaces And while landscapes are designed all over the world the discipline remains inordinately centered on the Global North Landscape Fieldwork alters that long standing paradigm through real life examples that provide tools for practitioners to engage more deeply with multidimensional diverse landscapes and the communities that create live in and use them The Countryside at War 1914-1918 Caroline Dakers,2013-09-19 When war broke out in 1914 conscription seemed unnecessary there was no shortage of volunteers ready to lay down their lives for their country In this fascinating book illustrated with contemporary drawings and photographs Caroline Dakers explores exactly what their country meant to the men and women who fought died survived She suggests that with a little subliminal help from literature art and propaganda the British volunteer whether factory worker farm hand or public school boy felt that he was fighting for old England village church meadow and carthorse rather than city factory commerce and motor car Drawing on a wide range of unpublished papers and family archives Dr Dakers recreates the world of the countryside at war There are chapters on agriculture literally the home front and life and death in the manor house vicarage school and farm And while all this was being fought for The French countryside was smashed into a quagmire This is the most complete picture yet of the impact of the First World War on rural England a war which if only in the ubiquitous village war memorials still reverberates across the decades Bridging Divides Eve Darian-Smith,1999-10 This study uses the Channel Tunnel between England and France to explore the shifting geographies of nationalism postcolonialism and legal autonomy in the formation of the European Union It looks at regional differences in feelings about Europe and at vocabulary used in discussing the Tunnel English Culture and the Decline of the Industrial Spirit, 1850-1980 Martin J.

Wiener,2004-09-13 Drawing upon a wide array of sources Martin Wiener explores the English ambivalence to modern industrial society Susan Fenimore Cooper Rochelle Johnson,Daniel Patterson,2001 Collected here are detailed and diverse essays some that examine Rural Hours Susan Fenimore Cooper s most famous work and others that help establish Cooper as a major practitioner and theorist of American nature writing and as a socially engaged artist in many other genres These essays discuss Cooper s uses and manipulations of various literary conventions such as the picturesque the literary village sketch and domestic fiction and illuminate her positions on conservation religion and woman s place in society The engaging collection is divided into four sections The first features essays examining Cooper s work in light of her relationship with her famous literary father James Fenimore Cooper and their devotion to and cultivation of each other s careers The second focuses on Cooper s fascination with landscape and its relation to her environmental philosophies Rural Hours is the subject of the third section which presents new readings on its subtly crafted authorial stance its two complementary conceptions of time and its re valuation of rural and scientific ways of knowing The collection concludes with four works whose insights into Cooper s views on gender domesticity and environmental philosophy grow out of comparisons with several contemporary women writers These remarkable essays by both established and emerging scholars of nineteenth century literature present new findings and insights into a writer who is being reintroduced to the fields of eco criticism and American literature Tourism, Landscape, and the Irish Character William Williams,2012-02-24 Picturesque but poor abject yet sublime in its Gothic melancholy the Ireland perceived by British visitors during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries did not fit their ideas of progress propriety and Protestantism The rituals of Irish Catholicism the lamentations of funeral wakes the Irish language they could not comprehend even the landscapes were all strange to tourists from England Wales and Scotland Overlooking the acute despair in England s own industrial cities these travelers opined in their writings that the poverty bog lands and ill thatched houses of rural Ireland indicated moral failures of the Irish character
