Court of Foxes Brian Lux,2008-07 Court of Foxes Christianna Brand,1969 Court of Foxes Christianna Brand,2013-03-05 Among the society of London the unapproachable Marchesa is causing a sensation with her modesty and planning a devious con in this historical crime novel The Marchesa goes to the theater accompanied only by her maid She dresses in pure white without any jewels or powder to compete with her golden hair and blue eyes In the London society of King George III this modesty is enough to cause a sensation Night after night every bachelor in London sends her flowers hoping to win an audience with this mysterious enigmatic beauty but none have come close to a seat in her box None of them guess that the Marchesa wears no jewels because she cannot afford them None of them know that she is not a Marchesa at all She is Marigold Brown a poor girl from Gloucestershire who is about to mount the greatest con London has ever seen if falling in love doesn't get in her way The Old Court House Alfred George Washington Carter,1880 Reports of the

Wilfred Hudson Osgood,1908 From the foregoing it is evident that silver foxes can be and in fact are being propagated in confinement Like most new enterprises fox raising is a business regarding which opinions vary The favorable facts are that silver foxes are easily and securely kept in simple wire inclosures that suitable food for them is cheap and easily obtainable that they are not subject to serious diseases and that their disposition and quality of their fur can be improved by selective breeding Opposed to these are the unfavorable facts that they are by nature suspicious nervous and not inclined to repose confidence in man and that largely for these reasons they do not breed regularly and successfully except when cared for by experienced persons more or less gifted in handling them The number of persons now engaged in the business is relatively small and the work is still experimental yet many of the initial difficulties already have been overcome Numerous minor failures seem explainable in large measure and are offset by several conspicuous successes It is therefore probable that under proper management fox raising will be developed into a profitable industry and it is perhaps not too much to expect that a domestic breed of foxes will be produced Only time can show how far such expectations will be realized but present indications must be regarded as very encouraging Farmers' Bulletin ,1909 Harmful and Beneficial Mammals of the Arid Interior Austin Bradstreet Fletcher, Bernard Hazelius Rawl, Clarence Elias Quinn, David Arthur Brodie, David Ernest Lantz, Gifford Pinchot, Henry Prentiss Armsby, J. M. Westgate, Lawrence Green Dodge, Lore Alford Rogers, Marion Dorset, Myer Edward Jaffa, Richard West Hickman, Vernon Bailey, Walter David Hunter, Wilfred Hudson Osgood, William Allen Orton, William Fairchild Hubbard, William Henry Scherffius, William Renwick Beattie, Duncan Stuart, H. (Henry C.) Woosley, C. A. Mahan, George Mason Whitaker, 1909 The domestication of deer and elk offers an interesting field for experiment as well as remunerative returns for the investment of capital The wapiti and the Virginia deer can be raised successfully and cheaply under many different conditions of food and climate The production of venison and the rearing of both species for stocking parks may be made profitable industries in the United States Instead of hampering breeders by restrictions as at present state laws should be so modified as to encourage the raising of deer elk and other animals as a source of profit to the individual and to the state Safeguards against the destruction and sale of wild deer in place of domesticated deer are not difficult to enforce For this purpose a system of licensing private parks and of tagging deer or carcasses sold or shipped so that they may be easily identified is recommended It is believed that with favorable legislation much otherwise waste land in the United States may be utilized for the production of venison so as to yield profitable returns and also that this excellent and nutritious meat instead of being denied to 99 per cent of the population of the country may become as common and as cheap in our markets as mutton Building Up a Run-down Cotton Plantation David Arthur Brodie, 1909 New England Reporter ,1887 Consumer Protection in the 21st Century: A Global Perspective William Vukowich, 2021-10-25 This comprehensive work covers the consumer protection laws and policies of governing bodies around the world By presenting materials from edited laws directives courts cases administrative regulations and commission studies the author explores the different approaches to the regulation of advertising sales practices credit and product safety and quality The methods by which consumer protection laws are enforced at the public and private level are also examined Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint Wider Horizons Sir James Eberle, 2007
