The Courtship Novel, 1740-1820 Katherine Sobba Green, 2021-10-21 The period from her first London assembly to her wedding day was the narrow span of autonomy for a middle class Englishwoman in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries For many women as Katherine Sobba Green shows the new ideal of companionate marriage involved such thoroughgoing revisions in self perception that a new literary form was needed to represent their altered roles That the choice among suitors ideally depended on love and should not be decided on any other grounds was a principal theme among a group of heroine centered novels published between 1740 and 1820 During these decades some two dozen writers most of them women published such courtship novels Specifically aiming them at young women readers these novelists took as their common purpose the disruption of established ideas about how dutiful daughters and prudent young women should comport themselves during courtship Reading a wide range of primary texts Green argues that the courtship novel was a feminized genre written about by and for women She challenges contemporary readers to appreciate the subtleties of early feminism in novels by Eliza Haywood Mary Collyer Charlotte Lennox Samuel Richardson Frances Brooke Fanny Burney Mary Wollstonecraft Jane West Mary Brunton Maria Edgeworth and Jane Austen to recognize that these courtship novelists held in common a desire to reimagine the subject positions through which women understood themselves

With remarks on the condition of Women, etc* Esq. Theophilus MOORE,1814 American Comic Poetry Jeff Morgan,2015-10-29 Comic poetry is serious stuff combining incongruity satire and psychological effects to provide us a brief victory over reason which could help us save ourselves if not the world This book champions the literary movement of comic poetry in the U S providing an historical context and exploring the work of such writers as Denise Duhamel Campbell McGrath Billy Collins Thomas Lux and Tony Hoagland Their techniques reveal how they make us laugh while addressing important social concerns The Weaver's Craft Adrienne D. Hood,2011-01-01 Cloth was one of the most important commodities in the early modern world and colonial North Americans had to develop creative strategies to acquire it Although early European settlers came from societies in which hand textile production was central to the economy local conditions in North America interacted with traditional craft structures to create new patterns of production and consumption The Weaver s Craft examines the development of cloth manufacture in early Pennsylvania from its roots in seventeenth century Europe to the beginning of industrialization Adrienne D Hood s focus on Pennsylvania and the long sweep of history yields a new understanding of the complexities of early American fabric production and the regional variations that led to distinct experiences of industrialization Drawing on an extensive array of primary sources combined with a quantitative approach the author argues that in contrast to New England rural Pennsylvania women spun the yarn that a small group of trained male artisans wove into cloth on a commercial basis throughout the eighteenth century Their production was considerably augmented by consumers purchasing cheap cloth from Europe and Asia making them active participants in a global marketplace Hood's painstaking research and numerous illustrations of textile equipment swatch books and consumer goods will be of interest to both scholars and craftspeople

Eighteenth-Century Women Writers and the Gentleman's Liberation Movement Megan A. Woodworth, 2016-04-29 In the late eighteenth century English novel the question of feminism has usually been explored with respect to how women writers treat their heroines and how they engage with contemporary political debates particularly those relating to the French Revolution Megan Woodworth argues that women writers' ideas about their own liberty are also present in their treatment of male characters In positing a Gentleman's Liberation Movement she suggests that Frances Burney Charlotte Smith Jane West Maria Edgeworth and Jane Austen all used their creative powers to liberate men from the very institutions and ideas about power society and gender that promote the subjection of women Their writing juxtaposes the role of women in the private spheres with men's engagement in political structures and successive wars for independence the American Revolution the French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars The failures associated with fighting these wars and the ideological debates surrounding them made plain at least to these women writers that in denying the universality of these natural freedoms their liberating effects would be severely compromised Thus to win the same rights for which men fought women writers sought to remake men as individuals freed from the tyranny of their patriarchal inheritance

Pathways of Memory and Power Thomas Alan Abercrombie, 1998 Pathways of Memory and Power crosses the disciplinary boundary where anthropology and history meet exploring the cultural frontier of the colonial and postcolonial Andes Thomas A Abercrombie uses his fieldwork in the Aymara community of Santa Barbara de Culta Bolivia as a starting point for his ambitious examination of the relations between European forms of historical consciousness and indigenous Andean ways of understanding the past Writing in an inviting first person narrative style Abercrombie confronts the ethics of fieldwork by comparing ethnographic experience to the power laden contexts that produce historical sources Making clear the early and deep intermingling of practices and world views among Spaniards and Andeans Christians and non Christians Abercrombie critiques both the romanticist tendency to regard Andean culture as still separate from and resistant to European influences and the melodramatic view that all indigenous practices have been obliterated by colonial and national elites He challenges prejudices that from colonial days to the present have seen Andean historical knowledge only in mythic narratives or narratives of personal experience Bringing an ethnographer's approach to historiography he shows how complex Andean rituals that hybridize European and indigenous traditions such as libation dedications and llama sacrifices held on saints day festivals are in fact potent evidence of social memory in the community
