Courtyard Housing:

Courtyard Housing Brian Edwards, 2006 This book demonstrates through discussions on sustainability and regional identity and via a series of case studies that the courtyard housing form has a future as well as a past Courtyard Houses Günter Pfeifer, Per Brauneck, 2007-10-05 This volume deals with the various types of the courtyard house which utilizes the courtyard as an intimate outdoor living space A presentation of the courtyard as a building block of the city is followed by coverage of the complete spectrum of types cluster network carpet terraces etc Courtyard Housing and Cultural Sustainability Donia Zhang, 2016-05-13 Cultural sustainability is a very important aspect of the overall sustainability framework and is regarded as the fourth pillar alongside the other three environmental economic and social sustainability However the concept is neither fully explored nor widely accepted or recognized This book elicits the interplay of nature culture architecture and theorizes the concept of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It identifies four key themes in Chinese philosophy Harmony with Heaven Harmony with Earth Harmony with Humans and Harmony with Self along with Greek philosopher Aristotle's physics form space matter and time it sets them as criteria to evaluate the renewed and new courtyard housing projects constructed in China since the 1990s Using an innovative architectural and social science approach this book examines the political economic social and spatial factors that affect cultural sustainability Supported by a multiplicity of data including field surveys interviews with residents architects and planners time diaries drawings photos planning documents observation notes and real estate brochures the book proposes new courtyard garden house design strategies that promote healthy communities and human care for one another a concept that is universally applicable The volume is a first opportunity to take a holistic view to encompass eastern and western tangible and intangible cultures in the theorization of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It is a comprehensive contribution to architectural theory Courtyard Housing for Health and Happiness Donia Zhang, 2016-03-09 Health and happiness are fundamental to human quality of life The United Nations World Happiness Report 2012 reflects a new worldwide call for governments to include happiness as a criterion to their policies The Healthy Cities or Happy Cities movement has been endorsed by the WHO since 1986 and a Healthy House or Happy Home is a critical constituent of a healthy city or a happy city Nevertheless the concept has not been fully explored Existing literature on the healthy house has often focused on the technical economic environmental or biochemical aspects while current scholarship on the happy home commonly centers on interior decoration Few studies have addressed the importance of social and cultural factors that affect the health and happiness of the occupants Identifying four key themes in Chinese philosophy to promote health and happiness at home this book links architecture with Chinese philosophy social sciences and the humanities and in doing so argues that Architectural Multiculturalism is a vital ideology to guide housing design in North America Using both qualitative and quantitative evidence gathered from ethnic Chinese and non Chinese living in the USA and Canada the study proposes that the Courtyard is a central component to promote social and cultural health and happiness of residents It further details courtyard garden house design strategies that combine a sense of privacy with a feeling of community as represented in courtyard housing The schemes may have universal implications

Courtyard Housing in Los Angeles Stefanos Polyzoides, Roger Sherwood, James Tice, 1992 Essays drawings plans and over 200 black and white photographs document the courtyard housing in Los Angeles The style expressed in both grand and humble dwellings was at its height in the 1920 s and 1930 s but is still around to provide privacy and greenspace in the dense urban area Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Courtyard Housing in the UK Ai Tee Goh, 2011-11-16 The Garden City Movement has been a trigger for the design development of the courtyard house for the working class single family in Northern Europe in the late 1920s This house form was experimented with in the United Kingdom since the late 1950s The manuscript presents a comprehensive database for designers planners and policy makers of the courtyard housing schemes designed and or developed in the United Kingdom from 1950s to the present day The results from the post occupancy evaluation studies of three recently completed courtyard house schemes in the United Kingdom were also discussed It also establishes that in the United Kingdom the long narrow with the internal court configuration performed thermally better than L I Z and T shaped courtyard house Additional the empirical evidence from the housing mobility study seem to suggest that design housing and environment constitutes one of the most important variable influencing individuals housing mobility in the England and Wales To sum up the study suggests that courtyard house type when it is well designed is well suited for creating a contemporary family house in an urban area in the United Kingdom

Courtyard Housing and Cultural Sustainability Donia Zhang, 2016-05-13 Cultural sustainability is a very important aspect of the overall sustainability framework and is regarded as the fourth pillar alongside the other three environmental economic and social sustainability However the concept is neither fully explored nor widely accepted or recognized This book elicits the interplay of nature culture architecture and theorizes the concept of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It identifies four key themes in Chinese philosophy Harmony with Heaven Harmony with Earth Harmony with Humans and Harmony with Self along with Greek philosopher Aristotle s physics form space matter and time it sets them as criteria to evaluate the renewed and new courtyard housing projects constructed in China since the 1990s Using an innovative architectural and social science approach this book examines the political economic social and spatial factors that affect cultural sustainability Supported by a multiplicity of data including field surveys interviews with residents architects and planners time diaries drawings photos planning documents observation notes and real estate brochures the book proposes new courtyard garden house design strategies that promote healthy communities and human care for one another a concept that is universally applicable The volume is a first opportunity to take a holistic view to encompass eastern and western tangible and intangible cultures in the theorization of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It is a comprehensive
