media formats affect current theoretical understanding of ethics By interrogating traditional ethical theory we can better understand the challenges to ethical decision making in an age of rapidly evolving media Each chapter focuses on a specific case within the broader conceptual fabric of ethical theory The case studies ground the discussion of ethics in practical applications while at the same time addressing moral dilemmas that have plagued us for generations The specific applications will undoubtedly continue to unfold but the ethical questions will endure Trends in Architecture and Design Hare KILIÇASLAN,Güneş MUTLU AVINÇ,2025-07-11 Issues in Contemporary Oil Paint Aviva Burnstock,Matthijs de Keijzer,Jay Krueger,Tom Learner,Alberto de Tagle,Gunnar Heydenreich,Klaas Jan van den Berg,2014-11-10 This volume represents 27 peer reviewed papers presented at the ICOP 2013 symposium which will help conservators and curators recognise problems and interpret visual changes on paintings which in turn give a more solid basis for decisions on the treatment of these paintings The subject matter ranges from developments of paint technology working methods of individual artists through characterisation of paints and paint surfaces paint degradation vs long time stability to observations of issues in collections cleaning and other treatment issues as well as new conservation approaches Measuring the Effectiveness of Real Estate Regulation Ronit Levine-Schnur,2020-03-19 This book discusses the fundamental issues regarding the effect of real estate regulation on housing urban development and considerations of justice and efficiency Bringing together the contributions of prominent scholars representing diverse methodologies and academic disciplines this book offers new perspectives on core topics such as the effectiveness of land use regulation in terms of housing availability enhanced equality and sustainable development and different modes of regulation and their mutual influences The book s eleven chapters are divided into five parts which address different aspects of real estate regulation combining theoretical analysis with a close observation of diverse case studies from North America and Europe to China the Middle East and developing economies Part I offers cutting edge analysis on how to measure model and understand the impact of zoning and other modes of real estate regulation from economic and normative theoretical viewpoints Part II complements Part I by providing historical observations and empirical knowledge on the actual contribution of zoning and historical conservation regulation to cities shape Part III considers the outcomes of business and industrial land development policies Part IV studies urban land development regulation and allows to compare between two relevant case studies one from Germany and the other from Poland Finally Part V concerns standardization in the real estate market by analyzing the justification and outcomes of such attempts particularly in the mortgages market Providing an interface between theory and practice the book will appeal to a broad audience consisting of scholars policy makers practitioners and students interested in an interdisciplinary overlook on real estate regulation Managing the Magic of Old Places Jeremy Wells,2025-10-14 From 1849 to the early 1980s the development of US historic preservation policy was shaped by fewer than one hundred elite White men from Europe and America This orthodox preservation doctrine has too long silenced the vibrant experiential relationships between everyday people and their heritage Managing the Magic of Old Places Crafting Public Policies for People Centered Historic Preservation offers a radical rethinking of how historic preservation is approached in the United States Author Jeremy C Wells argues for a revolutionary shift in federal preservation policy one that embraces community based participatory practice and draws from environmental psychology to tap into the intangible emotional connections people have with old places Wells highlights the experiential values that laypeople often ascribe to historic environments which are frequently dismissed by expert driven policies He contends that if historic preservation policy continues to ignore these aspects the field will lose relevance as the gap between professionals and the public widens Drawing from interdisciplinary research in the social sciences particularly phenomenology and environmental psychology Wells s vision of public preservation policy centers the lived experiences of communities reinvigorating the field and ensuring that the preservation of historic places resonates with a wider more inclusive audience Wells positions his work within the growing field of critical heritage studies yet his focus on the psychological and emotional aspects of preservation distinguishes it as a unique contribution By placing the needs and experiences of the public at the heart of preservation efforts Wells critiques the historical foundations of US preservation policy while offering a bold agenda for reform The Routledge Companion to the Philosophy of Architectural Reconstruction Zoltán Somhegyi, Lisa Giombini, 2024-05-30 This companion investigates the philosophical and theoretical foundations determining the conditions of possibility and the limits that make the conservation readaptation and transformation of past buildings legitimate operations As increasing ecological and economic challenges question opportunities for new construction the process of restoring transforming and readapting buildings for new or continued use is becoming an essential part of architectural practice At the same time the role of building conservation is changing from mere material preservation to being part of a broader strategy for social regeneration eco awareness and inclusive urban planning Chapters of this volume explore the complex set of considerations that inform decisions to merely preserve accurately restore or variously reuse a building They also look at the broader philosophical concerns such as ethical and aesthetic values combined with ideas of heritage history and collective identity Case studies on reconstruction after war gentrification the restoration of ancient edifices reconstruction following the effects of climate change and the use of technology solutions among many others make this a timely and urgent volume Adopting a broad transcultural perspective with contributions from five continents the volume combines theoretical approaches with more practical case study based investigations and will be of great interest to upper level students and academics working in the fields of architecture conservation urban design aesthetics and heritage management Stones and Lives Helen Frowe, Derek Matravers, 2024-06-18 The fate of heritage in war has attracted considerable attention in recent years due in no small part to ISIS s campaign of destruction across the Middle East and in 2012 the International Criminal Court s first prosecution of heritage destruction as a war crime Regular armed forces have been criticised for both failing to protect and damaging heritage sites In response heritage organisations urge the better implementation of existing international laws on heritage protection in war This book argues that any such law or policy will require combatants to choose between safeguarding heritage and safeguarding other goods including human life It thus challenges the view repeatedly expressed by heritage professionals that the choice between protecting heritage and protecting lives is a false dichotomy Existing international law not only implies such choices but also more worryingly gives no indication of how they should be resolved Drawing on contemporary work on the ethics of war this book develops an account of the permissible protection of heritage in war It argues that heritage is not morally special rather heritage is one of many goods that contribute to individuals lives going well and that we routinely trade off against each other By drawing on these more familiar dilemmas we can make progress on how to balance the protection of heritage against risks to human life Amongst other things the book considers the different ways in which heritage might contribute to individual flourishing the role of consent in justifying the imposition of risk on combatants and civilians the permissibility of forcefully defending heritage and what if anything could compensate for the loss of heritage in war

Classical Music Futures Neil Thomas Smith, Peter Peters, Karoly Molina, 2024-01-30 This volume brings together contributions from a wide range of international academics and practitioners It traces innovations within classical music practice showing how these offer divergent visions for its future The interdisciplinary contributions to the volume highlight the way contrasting ideas of the future can effect change in the present A rich balance of theoretical and practical discussion brings authority to this collection which lays the foundations for timely responses to challenges ranging from the concept of the musical work and the colonial values within Western musical culture to unsustainable models of orchestral touring The authors highlight how labour to meet the demands of particular futures for classical music might impact its creation and consumption presenting case studies to capture the mediating roles of technology and community engagement This book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of musicology and the sociology of music as well as a general audience of practitioners freelance musicians music administrators and educators
