Contemporary Research In Population Geography:

Contemporary Research in Population Geography John Stillwell, Henk J. Scholten, 2012-12-06 Significant changes have occurred in the structural composition and geographical distribution of the populations of North West European countries during the 1970s and 1980s. Whilst the subject matter of this volume reflects many of the important themes of research activity that have preoccupied British and Dutch spatial demographers and population geographers over the last decade, the structure of the book aims to facilitate comparison of those selected themes between the United Kingdom and the Netherlands. The book has gradually taken shape over the period of time since the conference in Oxford in 1986 when the contents were first presented. We are very grateful for the assistance that we have received during the production process from Marjie Salisbury, Tim Hadwin and John Dixon at the School of Geography, University of Leeds; from Annemieke Perquin at the National Physical Planning Agency in The Hague; and from Evert Meijer, Elmy Heuvelmans and Berry van Houten at GEODAN in Amsterdam. We also wish to acknowledge the contributions to the field of population geography that have been made in recent years by John Coward who died so tragically in the Kegworth air disaster earlier this year. Handbook of Contemporary Chinese Social Sciences Ping Hao, 2025-10-09 This Handbook presents thorough literature reviews and detailed analyses on the development of China's social sciences research since the reform and opening up in 1978. The handbook is comprised of 4 sections: politics and law, sociology and economics, demography and education, journalism studies and library science. Written and edited by leading scholars from Peking University, each volume critiques the research findings and provides guidance for future investigations of the respective field. Given its scope, the handbook will offer international academics an in-depth and up-to-date understanding of the development of Chinese scholars' research on Chinese social sciences over the past forty years. Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L.

Gaile, Cort J. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers' current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography. As such, it is both a state-of-the-discipline assessment and a topical reference. It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters, each on a specific specialty. The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers (AAG). Based on a process of review and revision, the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers. While it focuses on work since 1990, it additionally includes related prior work and work by non-American geographers. The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s. This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White. Exploring Contemporary Migration Paul Boyle, Keith Halfacree, Vaughan Robinson, 2014-06-11 Exploring Contemporary Migration provides the first comprehensive introduction to the various aspects of population migration in both the developed and the developing worlds. Some of the most important quantitative and qualitative methods used for the description and analysis of migration are presented in a clearly structured and accessible way The various theoretical approaches used to explain the complex patterns of migration are also summarised These patterns are then explored through the use of specific migration related themes employment stage in the life course quality of life societal engineering violence and persecution and the role of culture Exploring Contemporary Migration is written in a user friendly accessible style appealing to undergraduate students of population geography and social science students taking a population module This text will also be valuable reading to those researchers and academics concerned with gaining a broad understanding of the dynamics and patterns of contemporary population

Land Use Simulation for Europe John Stillwell, Henk J. Scholten, 2001-12-31 Land use change is driven by a variety of forces including spatial policies formulated at supra national national regional and local levels The main focus of this book is to contextualise explain and illustrate a new methodology for simulating land use change in different parts of Europe It considers some of the more important causal factors and identifies state of the art approaches to modelling human and environmental systems and for evaluating and visualising alternative scenarios The last part of the volume presents material from two case studies one from The Netherlands and one from Portugal of the implementation of a new simulation model called EuroScanner Audience This work will be of interest to researchers and practitioners whose work involves geography simulation and modelling environmental planning spatial decision making the methodology of social sciences and economics Towards Sustainable Building N. Maiellaro, 2013-03-14 This volume contains the extended versions of selected papers presented at the first Mediterranean Conference Sharing Knowledge on Sustainable Building held at the Polytechnic of Bari in December 1999 supported by the National Research Council of Italy The publication of this book was made possible through the efforts of the contributing Authors Other people have provided invaluable support for the conference and for the preparation of this volume in particular I wish to thank Antonella Lerario for providing support in the final editing of the text and images 1 As reported in Boonstra and Rovers 200 I people spend a great deal of time inside buildings therefore decisions about design construction use maintenance renovation demolition reuse and recycling of buildings have a huge impact on the sustainable development of our society Technical aspects however should be supported by adequate policies developed with appropriate tools and driven by meaningful challenges For people involved in sustainable buildings the conceptual frameworks studies and experiences collected in this volume organized into three parts Policies Tools and Challenges will help to advance knowledge allowing them to adopt and more efficiently implement such innovations sooner Rule and Order Dutch

Planning Doctrine in the Twentieth Century A. Faludi,A.J. van der Valk,2013-04-17 This book is about an art in which the Netherlands excels strategic planning Foreign observers will need little convincing of the merits of Dutch planning They will want to know whether routine explanations small country industrious disciplined people hardened by the perennial fight against the sea hold any water and they will want to know where to look for the bag of tricks of Dutch planners Dutch readers need to be convinced first that planning in the Netherlands is indeed effective before contemplating how this has come about Our message for both is that to the extent that Dutch planners do live in what others are inclined to see as a planners paradise it is a paradise carefully constructed and maintained by the planners themselves This smacks of Bernard Shaw describing a profession as a conspiracy against laity However all knowledge and all technologies are socially constructed meaning that they are the products of people or groups pursuing often conflicting aims and coming to arrangements about what is to pass as true and good So this takes away the odium of Dutch planners having their own agenda Positioning ourselves We are in the business of interpreting Dutch planning and at the same time committed to improving it This makes us part of the situation which we describe This situation is characterized by the existence of two divergent traditions urban design and the social science discipline called planologie Presenting and Representing Environments Graham Humphrys,Michael Williams,2006-01-27 The presentation and representation of the environment occurs throughout academia and across all news media The strict protocols of science often clash with environmental information available from sources that dwell on subjective aesthetic emotional and personal sensitivities This book challenge the reader as student teacher researcher or policy maker to reflect critically on the ways that environments are studied interpreted presented and represented in education and public policy Emerging Nodes in the Global Economy: Frankfurt and Tel Aviv Compared D. Felsenstein,E.W. Schamp,A. Shachar,2013-03-14 Cities form one of the principal arenas in which globalization processes are manifest Much of the interest in the urban outcomes of globalization is focused on a limited number of iconic global or world cities Most places however will never attain that status They are more likely to play limited and specialized roles in a world economy increasingly dominated by flows Emerging Nodes in a Global Network looks at the temporal and volatile ways in which two such cities Frankfurt and Tel Aviv engage the global economy The central thesis of the book contends that the current round of globalization is characterized by places selectively functioning as nodes within global networks Drawing on a combination of qualitative and quantitative empirical studies of leading sectors in Frankfurt and Tel Aviv financial and business services high technology air transportation tourism and cultural industries the process of network formation is systematically analyzed and the role of national and regional policy is highlighted Audience This book will be of major interest to academics researchers practitioners and policy makers in the areas of urban and economic geography public policy and economic development It also provides valuable material for government officials and regional and national agencies involved in metropolitan planning and development Implicate Relations Juval Portugali, 2013-03-09 In his beautiful book Invisible Cities Italo Calvino writes about the two cities of Valdrada the one which lies on the shores of a lake and the other which is reflected in the lake and contains not only the exterior of Valdrada on the shores but also its interior and probably its inhabitants Valdrada's inhabitants know writes Calvino that each of their actions is at once that action and its mirror image and this awareness prevents them from succumbing for a single moment to chance and forgetfulness Such mirror image relations are characteristic of the Israeli Palestinian relations and the awareness of this property is to my mind one of the most dominant experiences in being an Israeli As an Israeli I can testify that Palestinianism is a permanent resident in the personal and collective consciousness of Israelis and I have good grounds to suppose that Zionism plays a similar role in the personal and collective consciousness of Palestinians The Israeli Palestinian conflict is thus not only political but also very personal and the account I present below is no exception It is my personal and in this respect Israeli perspective of the conflict between Israelis and Palestinians with no pretension to a value free and objective science

Solid Waste Management and Recycling I. S. A. Baud, Johan Post, Christine Furedy, 2004-02-29 This book is for practising professionals and academics working in urban planning and international development international project staff trainers urban development researchers and teaching staff in universities and polytechnics Solid Waste Management and Recycling is unique in that it utilizes an integrated solid waste management perspective in its analysis provides embedded case study data deals with both formal and informal actors and institutional arrangements in solid waste management and recycling has chapters written by experts from the countries concerned Kenya and India can be used in graduate level courses in urban development urban management and planning and technical engineering courses for students project staff and technical students Geographies of Ageing Amanda Davies, Amity James, 2016-04-15 Population ageing is projected to affect all countries across the world in coming decades The current rate of population ageing is unprecedented in human history with population projections indicating that this will be an enduring trend Moreover population ageing is spatially pervasive affecting every man woman and child This has considerable implications for policy responding to the economic social and healthcare outcomes of population ageing The potential economic implications have been likened to those of the 2008 global financial crisis This book examines the patterns and causes of uneven population ageing It identifies those countries and localities most likely to experience population ageing and the reasons for this. Attention is also given to the role that youth migration, labour force migration, retirement migration and ageing in place have in influencing the spatial concentrations of older people. The book brings together a range of diverse international case studies to illustrate the importance of understanding the causes of population ageing. Case studies include a review of ageing in Florida's USA labour force, an investigation into the housing arrangements for the elderly in Northern Ireland and an assessment of the environmental stewardship activities of Grey Nomads on Western Australia's remote north coast.

Contemporary Studies in Environment and Tourism Recep Efe, Munir Ozturk, 2017-05-11 The tourism industry is striving hard to create attractive worlds for its customers. Both as a necessity and as a challenge, this field is overwhelmed by the imagination economy but raises several questions about tourists providing opportunities to move deeper into the understanding of complexities involved in relationships among tourists, tourism sites and their historical structure and environmental sustainability. As a result of this, a serious academic interest in tourism has developed over recent decades as a complex aspect of investigation into humans and their environment. This volume brings together case studies from different parts of the world focusing on tourism and its interactions with the environment. It provides a general outline of theoretical issues and their practicality in different industrialising countries from both the East and the West. The book will appeal to researchers involved in tourism studies and environmental interactions as well as academicians and tourism agencies.

Fieldwork in Geography: Reflections, Perspectives and Actions Rod Gerber, Goh Kim Chuan, 2013-03-14 Geographers regard fieldwork as a vital instrument for understanding our world through direct experience for gathering basic data about this world and as a fundamental method for enacting geographical education. The range of international geography and educational experts who contributed to this volume has demonstrated that the concept of fieldwork has a considerable history in the field of geography. They have demonstrated that the theoretical aspects of fieldwork have been interpreted differently in regions around the world but the importance of fieldwork remains strong globally. A fresh look at the pedagogic implications for fieldwork in formal education offers ideas both for promoting it in geographical education and for maintaining its place in the geography curriculum.

Audience Forward-looking geographers and educators now recognise that alternative strategies, especially those involving the use of information technology, should be developed to reaffirm the centrality of fieldwork in geographical and wider education.

Geography: Discipline, Profession and Subject since 1870 Gary S. Dunbar, 2013-03-14 Gary S. Dunbar Professional i Zay shun professional i ZAY shun! I do not think I like that word. I am quite certain I do not like that word! said A. F. Martin of Oxford University in 1980 when I mentioned to him that I was making a study of the professionalization of geography in Europe and North America from about 1870 to 1930. I should not have been surprised by his reply because Mr Martin, a highly regarded lecturer, tutor and university man, was in some ways a typical example of his generation of British geographers in that he did not have an advanced degree and his publication record was meagre. Except for a single remarkable essay Martin 1951 he was not well known in the field of geography at least not outside the United Kingdom Was he then a professional geographer Yes indeed because he was a full time scholar in a distinguished university even though he lacked the sort of credentials that have been demanded of subsequent generations of scholars at Oxford and elsewhere I certainly do not mean to denigrate Martin or his ilk I am simply using this anecdote to launch a book on the emergence of modern geography

Geospatial Technology and the Role of Location in Science Henk J. Scholten, Rob Velde, Niels van Manen, 2009-07-06 Globalisation has not led to the death of geography Intensified relations between communities in different parts of the world have only highlighted the need for understanding and managing phenomena on a variety of geographic scales From global warming to credit crunch and from epidemics to terrorism causes and solutions are sought on local regional national as well as inter continental levels With the advent of Geospatial Technology scholars policymakers and entrepreneurs have valuable tools in hand to proceed This book offers the first systematic account of the science behind this mental and technological revolution Tracing the adoption and dissemination of Geospatial Technology in a range of disciplines it examines the impact this technology has had and is likely to have on the explanation of spatial behaviour phenomena and processes At the same time stressing innovative usage it explores scientific contributions to technology advancement

The Geopolitics of Australia's Regional Relations D. Rumley, 2001-06-30 The origins of this book go back 30 years to the stimulation and interest generated by the political geography seminars led by John House at the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne I was very fortunate to graduate among its extremely capable sporty and enthusiastic class of 68 from where several academic geographers emerged Equally fortunately some of them and their predecessors had already blazed a trail to undertake graduate studies in Canada At the University of British Columbia I was supervised at different times by Julian Minghi and Victor Prescott both of whom are not only extremely capable academics but are also very fine people I owe an enormous debt to John Julian and Victor and to the British and Canadian taxpayers who provided financial support for my University studies In 1974 I began an academic career at the University of Western Australia where I have been ever since save for a two year period from 1991-3 as Professor of Australian Studies in the Department of International Relations at the University of Tokyo Viewing Australia and the Asia Pacific region from this different perspective within an extremely supportive Japanese environment had a profound impact I am especially grateful for the support provided by so many Japanese academic colleagues and friends beginning as early as 1976 Three individuals deserve special mention for their help guidance and enduring friendship George Ohshima Hiroshi Tanabe and Akihiro Kinda

Geographical Education in a Changing World John Lidstone, Michael Williams, 2006-07-19 This book results from the work of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union Part 1 focuses on the distinctive traditions of school geography Part 2 reviews the state of school geography on a broad continental basis including national case studies by local experts The final chapters extrapolate from the present and point to likely future developments in the subject again with examples drawn from various countries Population Geography: Progress & Prospect (Routledge Revivals) Michael Pacione, 2013-10-14 First published in 1986 this book presents a comprehensive overview of the contemporary state of knowledge in the field of population geography It discusses the contemporary state of the art and surveys new research developments and new thinking in the major branches of the subject It thereby provides an introductory guide to contemporary trends and forms a reference point for future development in the subject
