CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) through English in Italian Higher Education Francesca Costa, 2016-11-28. This is a research study monograph into an approach known as Content and Language Integrated Learning or CLIL through English in Italian higher education. There is as yet little agreement on terminology, definitions, learning theories or classroom approaches as regards CLIL. A distinction is therefore made between CLIL, ICLHE (Integrating Content and Language in Higher Education), Content based Instruction, L2 medium Instruction and Bilingual Education. The research design comprises both quantitative and qualitative elements. A questionnaire survey of all Italian universities profiled the many courses presently delivered using English as the vehicular language and found some homogeneity in process and subjects but differences linked to private or public funding and to geographical area. A survey of students, n = 134, was designed and administered to obtain their evaluation of a list of techniques used by lecturers to help students understand lectures delivered through English. Respondents recognised and considered as useful most of the categories including the use of repetitions, examples, summaries, definitions, synonyms, questions and emphasising with intonation. The qualitative part involved observing, recording, transcribing and analysing lectures delivered through English by four university science lecturers who were also interviewed. Results confirm the validity of some input presentation strategies and show similarities and differences between student and lecturer perceptions. The data also show discrepancies at times between the strategies considered useful by the lecturers and those actually used in the classes.

Teacher Training for English-Medium Instruction in Higher Education Sánchez-Pérez, Maria del Mar, 2020-02-07. English medium instruction (EMI) has become a pervasive teaching model in recent higher education. The implementation of EMI programs requires changes in university teaching methods since most lecturers need to adapt their contents and the way they teach them to successfully work in foreign language environments. The rapid proliferation of such programs has resulted in concern among teaching staff who have felt pushed towards teaching their subject content through a non-native language with little or no previous training. As a result, many recent studies have highlighted the importance and urgency to train teaching staff in terms of language proficiency and the appropriate teaching methods, techniques and strategies to be applied in EMI lessons. Teacher Training for English Medium Instruction in Higher Education is an academic research publication that provides comprehensive research on effective approaches and experiences in teacher training for EMI at universities both in terms of language skills and teaching methodologies and that analyzes the design and development of comprehensive teacher training programs that successfully engage these EMI programs It has profound implications for the development of the international profile of higher education institutions as it provides information on how to train highly qualified lecturers to successfully teach students from different nationalities Featuring a wide range of topics such as assessment curriculum design and learning styles this book is ideal for pre and in service teachers language specialists content specialists administrators deans higher education faculty researchers practitioners curriculum designers policymakers academicians and students
