Contesting Space Brenda S. A. A. Yeoh, 2003 In the British colonial city of Singapore municipal authorities and Asian communities faced off over numerous issues As the city expanded disputes arose in connection with sanitation housing street names control over pedestrian five foot ways and sacred spaces such as burial grounds Brenda Yeoh's Contesting Space in Colonial Singapore details these conflicts and how they shaped the city The British administration structured the private and public environments of the city with an eye toward shaping human behavior following scientific principles and the lessons of urban planning in other parts of the world For the Asian communities Singapore was the place where they lived according to their own values priorities and resources The two perceptions of the city frequently clashed and the author reads the cityscape of Singapore as the result of this contest between discipline and resistance Drawing on meticulous research and a theoretically sophisticated use of cultural and social geography post colonial historical discourse and social theory the author offers a compelling picture of a critical stage in Singapore's past It is an important contribution to the study of colonial cities and an indispensable resource for understanding the shape of modern Singapore Spaces of Colonialism Stephen Legg, 2008-09-15 Examines the residential policed and infrastructural landscapes of New and Old Delhi under British Rule The first book of its kind to present a comparative history of New and Old Delhi Draws on the governmentality theories and methodologies presented in Michel Foucault's lecture courses Looks at problems of social and racial segregation the policing of the cities and biopolitical needs in urban settings Undertakes a critique of colonial governmentality on the basis of the lived spaces of everyday life Trans-Colonial Urban Space in Palestine Maha Samman, 2013-06-26 Taking a multidisciplinary approach to examine the dynamics of ethno national contestation and colonialism in Israel Palestine this book investigates the approaches for dealing with the colonial and post colonial urban space resituating them within the various theoretical frameworks in colonial urban studies The book uses Henry Lefebvre's three constituents of space perceived conceived and lived to analyse past and present colonial cases interactively with time It mixes the non temporal conceptual framework of analysis of colonialism using literature of previous colonial cases with the inter temporal abstract Lefebvrian concepts of space to produce an inter temporal re reading of them Israeli colonialism in the occupied areas of 1967 its contractions from Sinai and Gaza and the implications on the West Bank are analysed in detail By illustrating the transformations in colonial urban space at different temporal stages a new phase is proposed the trans colonial This provides a conceptual means to avoid the pitfalls of neo colonial and post colonial influences experienced in previous cases and the book goes on to highlight the implications of such a phase on the Palestinians It is an important contribution to studies on Middle East Politics and Urban Geography

Constructing Singapore Public Space Limin Hee, 2016-09-21 This book presents possible alternatives and interpretations to the well established notion in the mostly western discourse on public space The discourse on public space as understood in the democratic rationalist tradition when applied to the Singaporean public space would offer much criticism but would not be adequate in identifying alternative processes that allow for transformative potentials in public space Thus said the objectives of this book are 1 To develop a conceptual frame of reference to construct the discourse on Singapore public space 2 To form a preliminary model of Singapore public space through analyzing case studies 3 To understand the modes methods of production and representation of these public spaces within the rapidly changing urban context 4 To situate these constructions of public space and its possible trajectories within the larger discourse on public space and to examine the viability of such a construction and interpretive model of public space

SDraws on social cultural and postcolonial writings and architectural evidence from various cities around the world to examine existing theories of globalization and also develop new ones The Lives and Deaths of Jubrail Dabdoub Jacob Norris, 2023-01-24 This is the fantastical yet real story of the merchants of Bethlehem the young men who traveled to every corner of the globe in the nineteenth century These men set off on the backs of donkeys with suitcases full of crosses and rosaries to return via steamship with suitcases stuffed with French francs Philippine pesos or Salvadoran colones They returned with news of mysterious lands and strange inventions clocks trains and other devices that both befuddled and bewitched the Bethlehemites With newfound wealth these merchants built shimmering pink mansions that transformed Bethlehem from a rural village into Palestine's wealthiest and most cosmopolitan town At the center of these extraordinary occurrences lived Jubrail Dabdoub The Lives and Deaths of Jubrail Dabdoub tells the story of Jubrail's encounters offering a version of Palestinian history rarely acknowledged From his childhood in rural Bethlehem to later voyages across Europe East Asia and the Americas Jubrail's story culminates in a recorded miracle in 1909 he was brought back from the dead To tell such a tale is to delve into the realms of the fantastic and improbable Through the story of Jubrail's life Jacob Norris explores the porous lines between history and fiction the normal and the paranormal the everyday and the extraordinary Drawing on aspects of magical realism combined with elements of Palestinian folklore Norris recovers the atmosphere of late nineteenth century Bethlehem a mood of excitement disorientation and wonder as the town was thrust into a new era As the book offers an original approach to historical writing it captures a fantastic story of global encounter and exchange

Planting Empire, Cultivating Subjects Lynn Hollen Lees, 2017-12-21 This is an innovative study of how British Colonial rule and society in Malayan towns and plantations transformed immigrants into British subjects Global City Futures

Natalie Oswin, 2019-04-15 Global City Futures offers a queer analysis of urban and national development in Singapore the Southeast Asian city state commonly cast as a leading global city Much discourse on Singapore focuses on its extraordinary socioeconomic development and on the fact that many city and national governors around the world see it as a developmental model But counternarratives complicate this success story pointing out rising income inequalities the lack of a social safety net an unjust migrant labor regime significant restrictions on civil liberties and more With Global City Futures Natalie Oswin contributes to such critical perspectives by centering recent debates over the place of homosexuality in the city state She extends out from these debates to consider the ways in which the race class and gender biases that are already well critiqued in the literature on Singapore and on other cities around the world are tied in key ways to efforts to make the city state into not just a heterosexual space that excludes queer subjects but a heteronormative one that queers many more than LGBT people Oswin thus argues for the importance of taking the politics of sexuality and intimacy much more seriously within both Singapore studies and the wider field of urban studies

Handbook of Religion and the Asian City Peter van der Veer, 2015-05-19 Handbook of Religion and the Asian City highlights the creative and innovative role of urban aspirations in Asian world cities It points out that urban politics and governance are often about religious boundaries and processions in short that public religion is politics The essays show how projects of secularism come up against projects and ambitions of a religious nature a particular form of contestation that takes the city as its public arena Asian cities are sites of speculation not only for those who invest in real estate but also for those who look for housing for employment and for salvation In its potential and actual mobility the sacred creates social space in which they all can meet Handbook of Religion and the Asian City makes the comparative case that one cannot study the historical patterns of urbanization in Asia without paying attention to the role of religion in urban aspirations Provided by publisher

Architecture and Urban Form in Kuala Lumpur Yat Ming Loo, 2016-04-08 Kuala Lumpur the capital city of Malaysia is a former colony of the British Empire which today prides itself in being a multicultural society par excellence However the Islamisation of the urban landscape which is at the core of Malaysia's decolonisation projects has marginalised the Chinese urban spaces which were once at the heart of Kuala Lumpur Engaging with complex colonial and postcolonial aspects of the city from the British colonial era in the 1880s to the modernisation period in the 1990s this book demonstrates how Kuala Lumpur's urban landscape is overwritten by a racial agenda through the promotion of Malaysian Architecture including the world famous mega projects of the Petronas Twin Towers and the new administrative capital of Putrajaya Drawing on a wide range of Chinese community archives interviews and resources the book illustrates how Kuala Lumpur's Chinese spaces have been subjugated This includes original case studies showing how the Chinese re appropriated the Kuala Lumpur old city centre of Chinatown and Chinese cemeteries as a way of contesting state's hegemonic national identity and ideology This book is arguably the first academic book to examine the relationship of Malaysia's large Chinese minority with the politics of architecture and urbanism in Kuala Lumpur It is also one of the few academic books to situate the Chinese diaspora spaces at the centre of the construction of city and nation By including the spatial contestation of those from the margins and their resistance against the state ideology this book proposes a recuperative urban and architectural history seeking to revalidate the marginalised spaces of minority community and re script them into the narrative of the postcolonial nation state

Hidden Hands and Divided Landscapes Anoma Pieris, 2009-02-26 During the nineteenth century the colonial Straits Settlements of Singapore Penang and Melaka were established as free ports of British trade in Southeast Asia and proved attractive to large numbers of regional migrants Following the abolishment of slavery in 1833 the Straits government transported convicts from the East India Company's Indian presidencies to the settlements as a source of inexpensive labor The prison became the primary experimental site for the colonial plural society and convicts were graduated by race and the labor needed for urban construction Hidden Hands and Divided Landscapes investigates how a political system aimed at managing ethnic communities in the larger material context of the colonial urban project was first imagined and tested through the physical segregation of the colonial prison It relates the story of a city Singapore and a contemporary city state whose plural society has its origins in these historical divisions A description of the evolution of the ideal plan for a plural city across the three settlements is followed by a detailed look at Singapore's colonial prison Chapters trace the prison's development and its dissolution across the urban landscape through the penal labor system The author demonstrates the way in which racial politics were inscribed spatially in the division of penal facilities and how the map of the city was reconfigured through convict labor Later chapters describe penal resistance first through intimate stories of penal life and then through a discussion of organized resistance in festival riots Eventually the plural city ideal collapsed into the hegemonic urban form of the citadel where a quite different military vision of the city became evident Hidden Hands and Divided Landscapes is a fascinating and thoroughly original study in urban history and the making of multiethnic society in Singapore It will compel readers to rethink the ways in which colonial urban history postcolonial urbanism and governance have been theorized by scholars and represented by governments
