Contesting The Master Narrative:

Contesting the Master Narrative Jeffrey Cox, Shelton Stromquist, 1998 Social historians today are calling into question the persuasiveness of the master narratives that have dominated our stories about the past. Motivated now by personal and professional commitments to solving problems by telling stories not by epistemological and ontological certitude, social historians are constructing alternative narratives relevant to an expanded, more inclusive audience. The essays in this thoughtful volume reflect an explicit self-consciousness about historians' choices of narrative strategies, a new skepticism of the rhetorical strategies embedded in all scholarly arguments, and a recognition that every historian has a point of view. Critically examining past master narratives in light of emerging alternatives, these essayists ask us to reevaluate the stories we tell, the narrative traditions within which they are situated, and the audiences they are designed to persuade. The first essays explore the gendered character of social history rhetoric by exposing alternative feminist traditions of social scientific and social historical writing. The second section focuses on alternative narrative traditions of historical writing in non-European contexts, specifically India, Japan, and China. And the third group spotlights the rhetorical uses of synthesis in the writings of social historians. The essays feature the range of narrative possibilities available to historians who have become self-critical about the pervasive use of unexamined master narratives; they show how limited that tradition can be compared with the diverse alternatives derived from, for example, gendered traditions of Latin American travel writers of the nineteenth century, Victorian women's historical writing, or the lively subaltern tradition in Indian social history. Together they argue not for the abandonment of historical materialism or the elimination of all master narratives, but for the reinvigoration of social history through the use of new and more persuasive arguments based on alternative narratives.

Women Voicing Resistance Suzanne McKenzie-Mohr, Michelle N. LaFrance, 2014-03-26 Feminist scholars have demonstrated how dominant discourses and master narratives frequently reflect patriarchal influence, thereby distorting and depoliticizing women's storying of their own lives. In this groundbreaking volume, a number of internationally recognized researchers working across a range of disciplines provide a detailed examination of women's attempts to counter-story their lives when prevailing discourses are unhelpful or indeed harmful. As such, it is an exploration of women's agency and resistance which highlights the challenges and complexities of such discursive work. The chapters explore women's resistance across a wide range of experiences, including intimate partner violence, casual sex, depression, premenstrual change, disordered eating, lesbian identity, women's work in male-dominated spaces, rape, and child birth. Each chapter combines theoretical analyses with illuminating first-hand accounts and elaborates practical implications that provide directions for individual and social change. Providing an incisive and comprehensive exploration of discourse, oppression, and resistance that cuts across domains of women's everyday lives, Women Voicing Resistance will be of great interest to students, scholars, and practitioners in the fields of psychology, gender studies, women's studies, sociology, and social work.

Contesting the Subject William H.

Epstein, 1991 Stanley Fish opens the collection with a persuasive argument for the role of intention and biography Michael McKeon Gordon Turnbull and Jerome Christensen are concerned with the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century English cultural discourse that gave rise to the nearly simultaneous emergence of literary biography Romantic sensibility and reflexive human consciousness The essays by Alison Booth Cheryl Walker and Sharon O'Brien reveal that the recognition or lack thereof the biographical subject has received and remains both a problem and an opportunity for women writers and readers The essays by Valerie Ross Rob Wilson Steven Weiland and William Epstein pursue the question of difference and cultural reification in the theory and practice of a specifically American biography and biographical criticism The Oxford Handbook of Kenyan Politics Nic Cheeseman, Karuti Kanyinga, Gabrielle Lynch, 2020 The Oxford Handbook of Kenyan Politics provides a comprehensive and comparative overview of the Kenyan political system as well as an insightful account of Kenyan history from 1930 to the present day Considering Counter Narratives Michael G. W. Bamberg, Molly Andrews, 2004-01-01 Counter narratives only make sense in relation to something else that which they are countering The very name identifies it as a positional category in tension with another category But what is dominant and what is resistant are not of course static questions but rather are forever shifting placements The discussion of counter narratives is ultimately a consideration of multiple layers of positioning The fluidity of these relational categories is what lies at the center of the chapters and commentaries collected in this book The book comprises six target chapters by leading scholars in the field Twenty two commentators discuss these chapters from a number of diverse vantage points followed by responses from the six original authors A final chapter by the editor of the book series concludes the book Damaged Identities, Narrative Repair Hilde Lindemann, 2001 The nature of identity especially of groups such as Gypsies mothers nurses and transsexuals is explored by comparing the stories these groups express of themselves against the narratives written about them Feminist Academic Press Hilde Lindemann Nelson focuses on the stories of groups of people including Gypsies mothers nurses and transsexuals whose identities have been defined by those with the power to speak for them and to constrain the scope of their actions By placing their stories side by side with narratives about the groups in question Nelson arrives at some important insights regarding the nature of identity She regards personal identity as consisting not only of how people view themselves but also of how others view them These perceptions combine to shape the person's field of action If a dominant group constructs the identities of certain people through socially shared narratives that mark them as morally subnormal those who bear the damaged identity cannot exercise their moral agency freely Nelson identifies two kinds of damage inflicted on identities by abusive group relations one kind deprives individuals of important social goods and the other deprives them of self respect To intervene in the production of either kind of damage Nelson develops the counterstory a strategy of resistance that allows the identity to be narratively repaired and so restores the person to full membership in the social and moral community By attending to the power dynamics that constrict agency Damaged Identities Narrative Repair

Transcending Mission Michael W. Stroope, 2017-02-28 Is the language of mission clearly evident across the broad reaches of time Or has the modern missionary enterprise distorted our view of the past Michael Stroope investigates how the modern church has come to understand speak of and engage in the global expansion of Christianity offering a hopeful way forward in this pressing conversation

Contesting the Nation David Ludden, 1996-04 Animated by a sense of urgency that was heightened by the massive violence following the destruction of the Babri mosque in Ayodhya on December 6 1992 Contesting the Nation explores Hindu majoritarian politics over the last century and its dramatic reformulation during the decline of the Congress Party in the 1980s

The Church in a Secular Age Silje Kvamme Bjørndal, 2018-09-20 How can the church navigate the challenges of our secular age In The Church in a Secular Age Norwegian and Pentecostal scholar Silje Kvamme Bjørndal takes on three dynamic thinkers each in their own way in search for insights to this question Philosopher Charles Taylor offers the backdrop for the conversation as Bjørndal carefully sifts out some of his most central tenets for understanding our secular age Bjørndal then turns to the theologian and ethicist Stanley Hauerwas and critically engages his notion of the church as a community set apart from our secular age By bringing several of Hauerwas's interlocutors into the conversation Bjørndal manages to bring out both the acute relevance and the shortcomings of his ecclesiology Thus she finds that another turn is needed in order to offer a concrete as well as creative contribution to this ecclesiological conversation Considering the undeveloped pneumatological undercurrent in Hauerwas's work it proves fruitful to engage the leading Pentecostal scholar Amos Yong and his foundational pneumatology This engagement results in a shift of agency from the community to the Spirit And keeping up the dialogue with Taylor's secular age Bjørndal demonstrates how the Spirit's agency is crucial for the church as it attempts to navigate the particular challenges and opportunities of a secular age

What is Africanness? Contesting nativism in race, culture and sexualities Charles Ngwena, 2018-01-01 What is Africanness Contesting nativism in race culture and sexualities by Charles Ngwena 2018 ISBN 978 1 920538 82 8 Pages 306 Print version Available Electronic version Free PDF available About the publication What is Africanness Contesting nativism in culture race and sexualities by Charles Ngwena Professor of Law at the Centre for Human Rights Faculty of Law University of Pretoria is a peer reviewed monograph aiming to contribute to the ongoing scholarly conversation in and beyond South Africa about who is African and what is African It aims to implicate a reductive sameness in the naming of Africans nativism by showing its teleology and effects and offers an alternative understanding of how Africans can be named or can name themselves The book develops an epistemology for constructing the hermeneutics of Africanness today long after the primal colonial moment and its debasing racialising ideology It interrogates the making of Africa in colonial discourses and the making of an African race and African culture's and sexuality lies in ways that are not just historically conscious but also have a heuristic capacity to contest nativism from the outside as well as from within The arguments in this book go beyond problematising African identity by addressing an existential gap in theory for explicating African social identity The book develops an interpretive method a hermeneutics for locating and deciphering African identifications in ways that are historically conscious and conjunctural The hermeneutics look to the present and the future in addition to the past so that African identifications are not nailed to a mast but remain invested with mobility and the capacity to mutate radically and make new and unexpected beginnings

Comments Charles Ngwenya s timely and original book is a wonderful read rich in theory and insight and an essential companion for those interested in exploring the multiplicity of histories cultures and subjectivities that constitute the diversity of Africanness and African identities Professor Cathi Albertyn School of Law University of the Witwatersrand Editor South African Journal on Human Rights This is a brilliant exploration of liberating and affirming ways to speak of African identities and sexualities reminding us there can be creative beauty where pain and dispossession have resided Rudo Chigudu Centre for Human Rights University of Pretoria This is a masterpiece Not only does the author capture the discourse and debates on Africanness he aptly examines them before offering his views on decentring the race of Africanness with the important recognition of Africa as land of diverse identifications Prof Serges Djoyou Kamga Thabo Mbeki African Leadership Institute UNISA

 AFRICANNESS BIBLIOGRAPHY INDEX Life Story Research in Sport Kitrina Douglas,David Carless,2014-12-17 What is life really like for the elite athlete How does the experience of being a professional sports person differ from the popular perceptions of fans journalists or academics Why might elite sports people experience mental health difficulties away from the public gaze In the first book length study of its kind Kitrina Douglas and David Carless present the life stories of real elite athletes alongside careful analysis and interpretation of those stories in order to better understand the experience of living in sport Drawing on psychology sociology counselling psychotherapy and narrative theory and on narrative research in sports as diverse as golf track and field athletics judo and hockey they explore the ways in which the culture of sport interacts with the mental health development identity and life trajectories of elite and professional sports people in highly pressurised and sometimes unhealthy environments By casting light on a previously under researched aspect of sport the book makes a call for strategies to be put in place to minimise difficulties or distress for athletes for support to be tailored across the different life phases and highlights the potential benefits in terms of athlete well being and improved performance The book also considers how these important issues relate to broader cultural and social factors and therefore represents important reading for any student or professional with an interest in sport psychology coaching sport sociology youth sport counselling or exercise and mental health
